BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Mayor Childs to Ask for New Garbage Bids. Board Refuses to Reconsider Salary Increases.

Monday evening's session of the Board of Aldermen, although largely of a routine nature, had several matters of interest. Vice-president Harman was again in the chair in the absence of President Early. Alderman Forknall was the only other absentee.

Hearings were held on several orders, the first for concrete sidewalks, northwest side of Farlow road, ward 7, northeasterly of Huntington road, under the betterment law, the only one appearing was F. E. Huntress, who opposed the order. This matter was referred to the committee on public works, as were also orders for the laying out and acceptance of Moreland avenue, ward 6, from end of accepted portion northwesterly; for the establishment of a building line on Centre street, wards 1, 6 and 7, from Bellevue street to Grafton street, and from Hyde avenue to Commonwealth avenue, 40 feet from exterior line of street; and taking land for main drain and sewer, in Eliot ave, ward 3, from Watertown street northwesterly.

Messrs. L. D. Towle, A. Dudley Dowd and M. Madden spoke in favor of the proposed Centre street building line, each arguing that such an ordinance would be of great value to the community and the city at large. Henry C. Cushman, an attorney, representing three of the property owners in this section, namely Joan A. Furber, Estelle A. Baker and Annie G. Allen, opposed the measure, stating that such an order if adopted would forever restrict the property question. He argued that many of the residents in the section in question were not in favor of such an ordinance and further that there were many who did not know what it would mean. He believed the order should be written in full and a copy given to each of the abutters. He vigorously opposed the measure on behalf of his clients stating that such an ordinance would greatly damage their property.

Communications were received from Mayor Childs transmitting communication from the Chief of Police and recommending appropriation of $5 for X-Ray examination of officer injured while on duty; transmitting communication from the Street Commissioner and recommending appropriation of $150 for the purchase of one 500-gallon gasoline tank and pump to be installed at the supply yard, 257 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville. They were both referred to the finance committee.

In another communication His Honor submitted a communication from Mr. Henry B. Day of West Newton who offered to give to the city a lot of land at the corner of Highland and Margin streets, West Newton, near the Highland street railroad bridge, to deed the same to the city free of cost. The lot contains 5000 square feet and the understanding being that this corner be widened and the rest of the lot kept an open grass plot. The matter was referred to the public works committee.

In another communication F. Gasbarri of Newton Centre requested an abatement of the betterment assessment of $223.32. This was also referred to the public works committee. A petition bearing 54 signatures of permanent firemen and linemen of the fire department asking for a salary increase of $100 was also received from the Mayor, and it was referred to the finance committee.

The Mayor asked for a salary increase for a clerk in the accounting department from $782.50 to $939, this also was referred to the finance committee.

In another communication Mayor Childs suggested that the Board reconsider the salary list as recommended by him in the annual budget. "The high cost of living," he said, "is seriously felt by all clerks and heads of departments, and the seriousness of the situation is beginning to be realized by heads of municipalities as well as leaders in business and industry." The finance committee also had this communication referred to it, as were also requests from the firemen of the police department, and employees of the street department, asking salary increases.

The Mayor recommended a change in the building code to provide that authorization for the erection of a garage holding one or two cars may be placed in the hands of the building department. This will necessitate an amendment to the present ordinance which requires all applications for garage permits to be secured from the Board of Aldermen. The matter was referred to the committee on claims and rules, as was also a request from Mrs. C. G. Adams for $150 for repairs to her fence on Jefferson street, Newton, which was broken by a crew from the engineering department.

To the finance committee was referred a request from the Mayor for an appropriation of $600 for furnishing the new fire department station at Lower Falls.

Another communication was received from the city forester, W. W. Colton, calling attention to the conditions caused by the so-called "leaf roller," which is doing so much damage to gardens and shrubbery through out the city.

Petitions were granted to the following for the use of private garages:

Carl G. H. Miller	2	1
A. S. Hargredon	3	1
Clifford H. Leighton	5	1
Henry L. Bates	5	1
L. C. Torrence	6	2
L. C. Joseph Santosuosso	6	1
W. H. Bacon	3	1
G. F. Shepard	4	1
C. H. Landers	6	1
I. G. Joyce	6	2
Irving Fielding	6	1

To public works committee were referred petitions of Harry F. Stimpson et al, sewer in Old Colony road, ward 6, from end of present sewer to Quaker road; Dan Adams et al, street sprinkling, Hyde street, ward 5, from Lake avenue to Centre street; and Charles E. Abbott et al, street sprinkling, Hobart road, ward 6, from Commonwealth avenue to Ward street.

The Telephone and Edison companies asked for permission to remove two poles on Elm street, West Newton. A petition was received from Elizabeth Rogers et al, for better street lights in Playstead road, ward 7. Newton Highlands residents asked that they might have permission to remove the fountain on Walnut street near the Newton Highlands square, as "it has ceased to be an ornament and is unsightly and but a bathing place for children and dogs." In the event of removal they ask that the plot be laid out with shrubbery and grass.

Upon the report of the license committee leave to withdraw was granted Jenaro Guido for two pool tables at 108 Oak street, ward 5, and to Enrico Simeni, 10 Mechanic street, ward 5.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK

Private Schools and Boston College Hold Annual Exercises

The several private schools throughout this city, and also Boston College at Chestnut Hill, are holding the annual commencement exercises this week and next.

Newton Theological Institution. Rev. Dr. George E. Horr in the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, preached the baccalaureate sermon, last Sunday morning, to the students of the Newton Theological Institution of which he is president, on the text, "The Just Shall Live by Faith."

"Faith is not optional, but is inevitable," he said. "All that is optional is the object toward which faith is directed. Faith is the root of character. We all long for certainty and safety, but if we could gain them we should find that we had no blessing. The elimination of risk is the elimination of the possibility of virtue. When righteousness becomes certain advantage vanishes. Faith is the condition of fellowship with God and God reveals Himself to those who are loyal to Him. He feels toward such men as we feel toward the friend who believes in us and stands by us when appearances are against us."

"Appearances are often against God. We ask: 'Why does God permit it?' All over the world men are asking that in view of the great war. It is hard to justify faith in God by the interpretations of history. The scale is too small. The highest wisdom is shown by him who says: 'Though He slay me, yet will I trust Him.'"

On Wednesday the Commencement activities at the Seminary were largely devoted to the alumni, many of whom were present for the graduation which occurred Thursday. In the morning there was a memorial service held in the First Baptist Church at Newton Centre, with an address by Dr. William D. MacKenzie, president of the Hartford Theological Seminary. At noon the annual alumni dinner, at which several speakers were heard, was served in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, while in the afternoon the annual business meeting of the alumni was held in Colby Hall, and later the faculty reception and tea took place. At night in the Baptist Church Rev. Joel B. Slocum, D. D., pastor of the Warburton Avenue Church at Yonkers, N. Y., gave the oration before the Society of the Alumni.

On Thursday the graduating exercises were held. Following addresses by members of the graduating class, Pres. Horr distributed diplomas to the members of the class. Pres. and Mrs. Horr received at their home in the afternoon.

Lasell Seminary

Miss Mildred Cary of Norwich, Conn., a senior at Lasell Seminary was crowned Queen of the May by her fellow students last Saturday, at exercises which marked the opening of Commencement. Miss Lorna Merritt of Grand Rapids, a junior, was maid of honor. The queen was crowned by Dorothy Barnes of Pratt, Kansas, president of the senior class. Seniors headed the procession and marched to the throne. Each class knelt before the queen and sang a song composed for the occasion. Then a group of young girls of the village gave a Maypole dance, followed by a drill by 90 students in Red Cross costumes. The concluding number was a fairy pageant in which the girls were dressed to represent flowers. Miss Catherine Rice, president of the sophomores was queen of the fairies. Almost every day marked a new

EIGHTY-EIGHT LEAVE

Large Quota of Drafted Men Go To Fort Slocum

Eighty-eight of Newton's boys met at the Police Station, last Monday, en route for Fort Slocum, N. Y., for service for this country. Just before nine o'clock they formed in line and marched over to Players Hall, where Judge Bacon presided at a meeting held in their interest.

As first speaker, Gen. White of Newton Centre was introduced, and he made several references to the boys of '61, who sat on the platform with him. Most of these who fought in that war were, as statistics well show, nothing but mere lads, like the boys of today, only those of today are going out with far better equipment, for they are armed with health and ambition. Gen. White urged the boys "to keep well in mind these few cardinal principles—that of promptness, of acting at once without any question of Why? Be subordinate and remember to salute promptly. Be on hand, but above all, be clean, not only physically, but morally."

Mayor Childs was the next speaker, and he congratulated the boys who were chosen for the privilege and honor of representing our country, of being of service to their fellow men, and of helping to establish here the principles of liberty, democracy, brotherhood, and righteousness. "Give instead of Get, and give the best that you possess," he said.

"This city is proud to lend these boys to the National Government, and to the President of these United States," he continued. It is proud to make the contribution, and the gratitude, and best wishes, the love and prayers of over 40,000 go with each one. The cause in which they fight is not the cause of men but of the King of Kings.

He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never sound retreat. He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgment seat.

Oh, how my soul to answer Him be jubilant my feet.

Our God is Marching on.

"What He asks is for each one to follow Him and with Him as guide there can be nothing else but success."

Four of the young men failed to appear and six others were not sent for various reasons. The four were: Mitchell LaRock, Buffalo, N. Y.; Frank Fitzpatrick, So. Boston, Mass.; Vincenzo Sammartino, 109 West St., Newton.

Roland W. Blaisdell, 1198 Chestnut St., Upper Falls.

Blaisdell was brought before the Exemption Board Tuesday morning by Inspector O'Halloran; who took him into custody at his home in Waltham. He was listed from Upper Falls but had changed his address. He was sent to Fort Slocum as it was decided his failure to report was unintentional.

All of the others whose names were printed in last week's issue of the Graphic went with the exception of the six mentioned above who were: Charles R. Smith, 175 Brookline St., Newton Highlands.

Adams T. Rice, 106 Sumner St., Newton Centre.

Edwin C. Eaton, 246 Central St., Auburndale.

Henry M. Doherty, 51 Bourne St., Auburndale.

Abraham Ginsburg, 10 Mechanic St., Upper Falls.

Amedeo Antonelli, Lynn, Mass.

Bazell Pizir, Millis, Mass.

Grieco Grasse, 4 Nonantum St., Newton.

Newton will be called upon to send large quotas for the draft army during the five-day period beginning June 24. Thirty-two men will be sent to Camp Devens and 56 to Camp Dix, N. J.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS PRESENT

Newton Company of State Guard Gives Splendid Exhibition Drill for Board of Trade

One of the most interesting meetings under the auspices of the Newton Board of Trade was that held last Tuesday in the State Armory at West Newton. Company A, 11th Infantry, Mass. State Guard, gave an excellent exhibition of drilling before a large gathering of Board of Trade members, the ladies and other guests, chief of whom were Lieut. Governor Calvin Coolidge, Hon. Channing Cox, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Col. Pratt, Lieut. Col. Rollins, and Capt. Pratt, adjutant of the 11th Regiment of the Mass. State Guard.

The evening's program began shortly after 8 o'clock with an inspection of the Company by the honored guests. Capt. Waldron H. Rand, Jr., was in charge and 2nd Lieut. Chas. M. Ford, assisting. Following the inspection an exhibition bayonet drill in charge of 1st Serg. W. I. Cornell showed that should an emergency arise in these parts and the "hostiles" come close enough for a little real use of the bayonet, there would be nothing to it but a decided victory for the boys of Company A.

Sergt. Henry W. Crowell and a squad staged the next event which was clearly the hit of the evening and the applause was continuous. This part of the program was the machine gun drill and although blanks were fired it is safe to assume that great havoc would result to an enemy who, should an emergency arise, be compelled to face this gun and the squad under Sergt. Crowell.

The exhibitions concluded with "Company drill in close order" and formation mount.

A volunteer orchestra under the leadership of Paul Revere Knight furnished music for the event and several of the popular songs were sung between the speeches which followed.

President S. R. Porter of the Board of Trade presided and introduced the speakers. Mr. Porter praised the work of the Company stating it was a great pleasure for the Board of Trade to be present. He wished them all success and offered the aid of the Board in every possible way.

In speaking of Capt. Rand, he said, "he's a fine fellow and every inch a man." Sergt. Crowell was on his feet and led cheers for his captain who said in part—"you don't know how glad we are to have you with us for we want to feel that you are taking an interest in us. Let me thank you on behalf of the Company for your coming for every man will work harder and better for it."

Ex-Alderman J. B. Jamieson told of the Home Service Committee which was organized to help the families of those in the service. He said it was important that no one should suffer because of dependents being in the service and should any one desire financial aid, advice, or legal service, all they need to do is to get in touch with this committee representing the Red Cross.

Col. Pfaff spoke a few words in which he told how the State Guard was rapidly coming into its own and being recognized as an able and efficient organization. He paid great tribute to the local company and said he wished he might have twelve companies like it and he would make the citizens of Massachusetts take notice. He also intimated that it was not out of reason to believe that some form of the war might manifest itself here and that if it did every man in the State Guard would be found at his post cheerfully willing to do his duty.

The Lieutenant Governor was next presented. He spoke of the many times he had been in this city and how on this as well as all other occasions he was impressed with the thoroughness with which things are done and then he pointed to the Machine gun which stood next to him on the platform. He congratulated Capt. Rand and the men of A Company for their splendid appearance stating that this demonstration proves the State Guard to be worth while. He said that the State had expended last year over $400,000 for State Guard equipment, etc. He further stated that "the progress you've made is only one part of the progress made by the Government." There are probably 3-4 million men across the sea today and we read how they are doing their part. We aren't surprised for they're Americans and we'll keep it up until this thing is over. The whole nation is now united as never before and so are the Allies who have great confidence in that great French leader, General Foch. We'll have confidence in America that she'll bring the war to a close—don't care how long it lasts, how much it costs and at what sacrifice that the rights of the people throughout the earth as in America for the past 143 years shall be established everywhere under the sun.

Speaker Cox said he was glad to see that the men of Newton were taking an interest and zeal as was shown in the splendid exhibition to which he was glad to testify. "It's a great thing," he said, "for the men to give of their time for this city and a great tribute to Capt. Rand. I have been amazed that there have been no more outbreaks and disturbances in this country. God forbid that there should be another catastrophe like the Halifax disaster. Where would we be without men like this Company if an emergency should come? When the Kaiser learns that men over here above military age are developing in the arts of war and that all America is awake . . . we will understand that we are not looking for a compromise peace but a peace that spells victory."

The evening closed with the singing of America.

FLAG RAISING

Judge Michael Murray of Boston will be the orator of the day in connection with the Flag Raising which will be held in Newton Centre, Sunday, June 16, in honor of the 130 members of the Sacred Heart Parish of Newton Centre who are serving their country in the Army and Navy.

Senator John W. Weeks and Mayor Childs of Newton will be guests.

The flag raising exercises will be preceded by a parade starting at 2 o'clock under the direction of A. W. Moriarty, chief marshal. All of the various parish societies will be represented and there will be an automobile division in which the mothers of the enlisted men will be given a place of honor in line. According to present estimates more than 1000 persons will march. The Waltham Band will furnish the music.

Mr. Moriarty is being assisted in his work by members of the Catholic Liberty League and no effort will be spared to make the parade and flag raising a memorable event. The service flag and the National colors will be unfurled in front of the Sacred Heart Church. Following this there will be exercises and speaking on the lawn in front of the Parish House.

SPECIAL AID BICYCLE CORPS

The corps will leave the Newton Library at 9:30 Saturday morning for an all-day picnic at the Children's Museum, Jamaica Pond. Each boy is to bring a lunch, and also baseball, bats, etc. All members show up. June 8, 9:30 A.M.—Jack Norton, Captain.

INTERESTING POEM

Do you want a whack at the Kaiser?
If you cannot fight him in France
Take up the sword of the strong man,
Make "Hope" your conquering lance.

Bring cheer to the doubting Thomas
Who fears that we cannot win,
Who growls and grumbles at hardships
Fight kicking—a hideous sin.

Bear smilingly all your trials
Submit to the proper command.
Thus sowing the seed of contentment
Broadcast all over the land.

Let us be soldiers of Fortune
Who trust in God and Good Luck,
And conquer the foe within us
With true American pluck.

With such an army of fighters
Whose hearts are loyal and true,
When we have a whack at the Kaiser
We'll make him feel red, white and blue.

RELIGION AT ITS BEST

Recent Sermon Preached by Rev. Harry Lutz of Channing Church

"With the truth in love grow up."
"Be renewed in the spirit of your mind, and put on the new life which is, after God, created in righteousness and holiness of truth."—Eph. 4: 15, 23, 24.

Religion is an elemental instinct of the human heart, and at the heart of heart is love. Therefore the first and greatest commandment is "Thou shalt love." Pure religion is love. Religion at its best is when it is a conscious experience of love in truth and truth in love. Love and Truth—the first and greatest of these is love, and yet without truth is never at its best, it indeed it can be at all. The two must together. As a conscious experience religion is both Love and Truth in one, and at its best is at the same time Pure Love and Clear Truth; when the object of love—God and Man—appears in the light of truth as one reality of being.

Religion is realizing life by coming into harmonious and happy adjustment to the spiritual order of being. To find and keep a place in the divine order on the greater heights that are possible, there must be the heart aglow with love and the mind clear with truth. The divine spirit and the human spirit are one Holy Spirit with Truth in Love. Religion, then, is this spirit by which we really live and have life more abundantly. It is at its best when it is most purely practiced with good will and most clearly conceived with sincerity, as a conscious experience and as a truthful perception.

Religion is essentially an inner personal experience. And as such, it can not be communicated to any other. Yet, in order to general advancement of world life and the help of one another, there must be some way of its transmission from one to another and from generation to generation. In fact, religion is not transmissible, but the conception of it is communicable; and when it is perceived by others, it awakens again in them. Even so it is perpetuated as an experience in a widening circle of lives and through a succession of generations.

Religions and sects are various conceptions of religion. Through their teachings religion may be stirred to experience in yet other persons. As a matter of fact, most people do approach the religious experience through one or another of the sectarian interpretations. Indeed, as Dr. Dodson in "The Sympathy of Religions" says, "Pure Religion is something that we may eventually come to; neither as individuals nor as peoples do we begin with it. Practically all religious people are parts of a religious community, have their place in a historical religious movement such as Judaism, Christianity or Islam, and are nourished on certain definite spiritual traditions. To refuse to accept and profit by these concrete spiritual movements because they are not identical with absolute religion is like refusing to eat apples, peaches, and pears because they are not simply fruit. He who wishes to enjoy fruit must partake of some particular kind. So the only religion that most people know is that which comes to them in the shape of some great historical movement. In the western world our concern is with Judaism and Christianity."

That does not mean that we shall find religion at its best as either has conceived it. But we are to accept and profit by the best interpretation they offer, as the height from which to look for religion at its best for all mankind. Even the best interpretation found in this historic-traditional heritage is not to be taken as final—as the whole content of the true religion; for that is dogmatism which has all too much already limited theological views and closed the sectarian minds. But we should keep the good will spirit and the open mind toward the universal truth and the eternal real that know no one traditional source or sectarian name; whereby we may come "to perceive the unity of humanity's spiritual life and recognize the religion in and behind all the religions of the world." In order to do that, we need first to distinguish between the different sectarian interpretations and the deepest spiritual experiences—between the particular cult we may have been brought up in and the universal religion of all humanity.

This is not an easy task. Quite the opposite, it is difficult. But, he that would be wafted away to heaven on flowery beds of ease is doomed to disappointment. For the things of life and eternity are achieved with difficulty. We must be willing to endure hardness, who would know them and have them.

The best things are the simplest when we at last come upon them. But we have to look through complexity to find them. We have to examine many particulars, eliminating the essential and finding the essentials, in order to generalize the universal. That is not easy. But the end is worth the effort.

The easy way, of course, is to accept the traditional-historic Jewish-Christian manner of religion in which seems to us its best form, and assume that as the one true religion. Then the Christian sects are doing. There is today more tolerance of one another's opinions and more co-operation than ever before, which is as it should be; but each is still insisting that Christianity is the one real religion. Even Liberalism, while it denies the dogmatic doctrines, still holds on to the traditions with the same implication, that the Jewish-Christian historic movement is the one true religious development. And there is an essential dogmatism even in that, which is proving a cause of weakness. Even Unitarianism, with its declared freedom from doctrinal impericisms, is overmuch inclined to remain in the easy way of popular respectabilities in traditional ecclesiastisms; with the like implication that the one true religion must be called Christian.

What we now need is: to take the hard way, that requires thinking, honesty, good-will, and courage—that seeks the truth and nothing but the truth, the real and nothing but the real, and will stand for it whatever be the cost. That is the high call of our time. It is the way of our salvation. Perhaps we may best take our direction for this way, by facing the situation that presents itself with the practical problem of teaching religion to the children. How shall we begin that?

There are two general ways: The one is to begin with the scriptural narratives and precepts, and the other is to begin with the conception of religion it is desired they shall retain. The other way is to begin by awakening the elemental human impulses of good-will and truthfulness with thoughts of religion at its best in natural simplicity, and then later look for its confirmation in the particular traditional-historic writings and experiences.

The first way is the one that has long been taken, and even now is generally followed. But, like many other things that are taken for granted as right because they have always been done that way, this needs looking into. For it is psychologically a reversal of means and ends. It tends to fix the means as permanent, and the ends so loose. That is, it puts into the child mind at the receptive age first the things it is expected to later outgrow—the legend before the fact, with the more likely result, that the reality, if it be arrived at, is ever after thought of in terms of the legend. It is like teaching astronomy by beginning with the traditional-historic accounts of the origin of the world, but you may arrive at the modern conception, but you have confused the way.

This general age-long habit is not easily given up. It holds on tenaciously. But, to the thoughtful observer, it is plainly failing, and the other way is as plainly the right one: to begin with religion at its best in its most perfect simplicity, as love and truthfulness and higher life—the elemental impulses of good-will to lives, respect for truths, and interest in ideals, with reverence unto God—their unseen reality. These ultimate ends we want to have remain with them, should be made sure first at the receptive age when things are the more likely to get fixed. Then we may use stories from our traditional heritage that will illustrate these primary qualities. And lastly we may bring them to the study of scriptural literature—the mythology, traditions, history and teachings; a knowledge of which is essential to their general intelligence, and of actual value as showing the outgrowth of these religious ideas and manners from the sincere desires and earnest experiences of humanity.

This is not the popular way, nor the easy one. Though it be the way called heresy, and very difficult, the advanced modern religious educators are taking it. And what is more worth the hard endeavor, than the right start and the true aim in our children? That is the way we are trying to do in Channing Sunday school.

Now that is just as true of religious teaching and thought in general. It should put first and foremost Religion at Its Best—the religious idea in highest form and purest insight. Then, when the highest and purest conception of religion is estimated and adopted by what it is in itself for its essential truthfulness and universal worthfulness—then all the phases and stages of human idea, imagination, endeavor and experience have a value for the understanding of its sources in human nature and its universal presence in human spirit as showing the inherent divine creativeness in the evolution of the race and the development of souls toward the Higher Life, and as making real with the facts of this world life the God "of things as they are" (indeed of the truth), with whom we have to do as co-workers in creation of the heavenly life that is to be.

Even the most primitive manners of animism, fetishism, of magic and taboo become important to know about, in confirming and making precisely clear the latest thought and highest idea. For it makes for the sure ground of faith, to understand what the latest and fullest results of scholarly study has brought; that there was unity of the most primitive religious thought and feeling; and through the long ages of deviations and differences, as people have been developing their powers and learning to think clearly, they are now emerging to a new unity on the heights of life; and that at bottom the early unity and the latest are alike—the one inherent religiousness of humanity and the one universal responsiveness of divinity.

To find religion essentially the same, from the lowest orders to the highest, invests it with a new and live interest, deepens the insight into its nature, and enlarges the heart unto its power. For, as Dr. Dodson says, "This discovery of the unity in the diversity of the aspiring life of mankind brings a happy sense of solidarity with the seekers after God in all ages. It is a joy not merely to believe with the poet, but to know with the scholar."

Every human heart is human. That in even savage bosoms. There are longings, yearnings, strivings. For the good they comprehend not. That the feeble hands and helpless, groping blindly in the darkness, Touch God's right hand in the darkness. And are lifted up and strengthened."—Longfellow.

It requires earnest interest and close thinking to arrive at this view of religion in its simplicity and naturalness. It is not easy, nor to the dilatory-minded. There is a common notion that scholarly research and deep thinking makes for obscurity in religion. To the unthinking it may seem so. Yet, in fact, it is just the opposite. Searching knowledge and clear thinking is the only way to the simplicity and naturalness. For thus only are the accessories distinguished from the fundamentals, and the essential unity of religion set free and clear.

Little knowledge and easy-mindedness inclines to accept certain incidental details of religion from the traditional-historic form in which it has come to us; or reject it, if they are not credible. As an old saying is, "A little learning inclines one to atheism; but depth of philosophy brings one round to religion." That is, little thinking leaves one in the complex diversity of traditional-historic sectarian accessories of religion; which he will accept or reject according to the way they happen to strike him, whether to his liking or disliking. Here is the place of credulity or atheism.

But depth of thinking passes on through accessories into fundamental realities; where it finds every human heart is human with longings, yearnings, strivings, and the unseen spiritual, answering with strength for the higher life. It is now no more a matter of opinion, like or dislike, belief or unbelief; but the essential fact of being and becoming. Here is the place of faith only, with no other alternative but the lack of life. For then it appears—religion is of life, and real life is religious. There is then no more question of belief or unbelief about it; but only an alternative of faith unto its high possibilities or neglect unto degeneration.

The minister of religion, if he would be popular, will take the easy way of little thinking. For the general public seems to want religion in terms of easy plausible conventional orthodox that offer the rewards of desired object. They are apparently in minority who want religion only in terms of hard reasonable, truthful, unbiased thinking to the real issue whatever it may be. But they are of the right way to the religion of Truth and Higher Life.

The minister of religion, to be true, will take this way of fearless interest and deep thinking. For he only is able to guide the quest with any certainty to the simplicity of natural universal religion at the heart of eternal being. When, as is sometimes said, the minister preaches "over the heads" of people, there are two things to consider: One is that the minister needs to do more thinking rather than less. The other is, that the people may need to get their heads up higher where they can better do what heads are for—more thinking rather than less.

More hard, clear, sincere, fearless thinking on this line is the very greatest need of our time. For the saving of our souls and the better world from the confused complex of religious accessories and the chaotic cacophony of outward conditions, lies in this way—of thinking, thinking, with whole hearts of sincere interest and whole minds of truthful vigilance, to single out of the uncomprehended obscurity of unessentials the simple natural universal religion of humanity, and look to it at its best in the purest souls of the greatest thought. Happy are we in having such. We feel the throbbing heart of it in sympathy with the pure clear soul of Jesus at the center of our religious heritage—who was at the same time neither Jew nor Christian and both Jew and Christian, and yet more—simply and truly human; who in himself made his word for it—"love"—so divinely real. We think the creative idea of it in reasoning with the master-mind of Plato on the main current of occidental religious movement. We comprehend the beautiful truth of it in looking with the prophet—eye of Emerson on the broadening stream of western world religious freedom.

With these three we come upon religion at its best the world has yet known. We find it not by seeking far, but on looking with their eyes—here! it is at home, within our every heart—the simple natural love in truth to ideal—that waiteth to be quickened and enlightened and perfected, with zeal of good-will, the might of faith, and the inspiration of hope.

And then; an inner-voice of understanding speaks to our souls, and says: the ground whereon thou standest is holy ground and the instincts of thine heart whereunto thou art true will bring the whole world of possibilities round to you. For Lo! God is there! after whom is "created the new life in righteousness and holiness of truth", wherein the shining laws come full circle the grades round into completeness and the ideals form unto living beauty of excellence eternal.

EVENING MEETINGS OF SOLDIERS' AID BECOMING VERY POPULAR

Beginning with June 5th, the Wednesday and Friday afternoon sessions of the Soldiers' Aid and the Thursday evening meetings, from 7.30 to 8.30 o'clock, will be held in the parlors of the Unitarian Church, Washington street, West Newton, in accordance with the usual custom of dividing the year between the two work-rooms. Entrance opposite the Post Office.

Because of the increased demand for surgical dressings, owing to the severe fighting of the Spring Drive, workers are asked to be prompt and regular in their attendance, and new workers will be most cordially welcomed.

On Thursday evenings, the attendance of men also is earnestly requested. Many have already availed themselves of the privilege offered, and are rendering valuable service in packing the cases of dressings, stretching the gauze, and assembling the packets. The evening attendance has grown from a small beginning to over 200 workers, showing the demand for a night session, and all present so thoroughly enjoy the occasion that a murmur of protest usually greets the closing bell and they seem reluctant to leave the tables.

These meetings are free of charge to all.

DEMONSTRATION AT TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL. ALL INVITED!

On Tuesday, June 18th, at 2.30 P. M. in the Lecture Hall of the Technical High School, Dr. Mullen of Amherst Agricultural College will demonstrate the making of cottage cheese from sweet milk, its value in the diet and its varied uses.

The time is coming very shortly when our use of meat will be further curtailed. It behooves us, then, to be prepared and no food can better replace meat than milk products.

The Newtonville District Committee of the Home Demonstration Work, who have arranged this meeting, extend a cordial invitation to everyone in the city who is interested.

Come and learn from Dr. Mullen how and why the extended use of cottage cheese is included in the Food Administration program.

"HOW A PECK OF DANDELIONS HELPED UNCLE SAM"

By Dorothy R. Fernald, Co. A, Grade VIII, Bigelow School

It was a balmy day in May when a little girl of twelve years rushed up on the lawn of a beautiful suburban home. On her arm was a basket and in her hand a long, pointed knife. This was the third lawn which she had visited in this vicinity, and had been ordered away, and she wondered as she saw the few scattered dandelions if she would be allowed to cut them. Just then a door opened, a maid stepped out and requested her not to walk on the lawn. Betty turned and wended her way back to the street. She was disappointed, but as fast as her little feet would carry her, she ran on. The homes were not so beautiful here. The shrubs and flowers were not so well kept, and after spying a few scattered dandelions she ventured in. But to her utter disgust she was driven away from here.

"What shall I do?" she said, as she stamped her little foot. "It takes all the money father can earn at the mill to buy food. There are eight of us at home. Mother is not well and has to do all the sewing and housework. Brother Dick has joined the colors and is over there, and we must do something to help our country and the boys who are doing so much for us."

Betty was not discouraged, she trudged on wearily. Even the empty basket seemed heavy on her arm. After a while she came to some vacant lots and as she tripped merrily in and set her basket down, she gave a great sigh of relief. "I have found the place at last," she said. "Perhaps if the people in those comfortable homes had known what I was working for they would not have ordered me away."

She sang as her little fingers worked nimbly among the roots. Even the violets blooming among the leaves did not tempt her, for she was there to work. She must earn money to buy Irish flannels, and in that way help Uncle Sam.

The sun was setting in the western sky; Betty's basket was packed and overflowing as she started on her homeward journey. As she plodded along she tried to figure out how many dandelions she could cut in one afternoon.

"Oh, Mother," she cried, as she darted into the house. "We can buy Irish flannels now. I can cut a peck of dandelions each afternoon after school. They will pay me twenty cents at the market, or better still, I can sell them at the houses at thirty-five cents." Betty Ashton was the happiest girl in town. Clapping her hands, she cried, "Thirty-five cents in one afternoon and in six I can earn two dollars and ten cents, and in four weeks I can earn eight dollars and forty cents. That will be grand. Mother, we can do something to help our country now."

Betty Ashton decided to sell her greens every third day. So Saturday morning she helped her mother about the house until 10 o'clock. The dishes were to wash and then stockings were to mend, but she wasted not a moment. Her mind was continually on the dandelions. Saturday morning everyone will be preparing for Sunday. Betty flew upstairs and into her best gingham frock, for she must be neat and clean if she were going out to work for Uncle Sam. Brother Jim would go with her to help carry the basket.

The clock was striking twelve. Mrs. Ashton was busy preparing the humble noonday meal when Betty rushed in and threw her money on the table. "Three cheers for our boys in France!" she cried. "We can buy Irish flannels now and help them lick the Kaiser!"

This story won first prize for members of the eighth grade in the Bigelow school, at the recent "Thrifty Story Contest" conducted by Mr. Stevens for Dr. Thayer, head of Federal W. S. S. at Washington.

NORUMBEGA PARK

The tender story of Cinderella strikes an answering note in every heart, rich or poor, young or old. Acted as brilliantly as it is by the Liberty Players at Norumbega Park this week little wonder need be expressed at the thunderous applause that greets them at every performance of "Rich Man Poor Man," which is this week's attraction at that justly famous resort on the beautiful Charles River. Nor does this splendid show, as good as it is, dwarf the other attractions that Norumbega offers. The canoeing has never been better or more popular than right now, and the long celebrated zoo comes in for its full share of attention. The big cool restaurant, with its opportunities for dancing, and the frequent selections from women's orchestra cast a pleasant spell over all the other delights and attractions of the big park. Next week the Liberty Players will present A. H. Woods' Boston and New York success, "Marry's Ankle," which has been called one of the funniest comedies ever presented.

ENTERTAINMENT BY SAINT ALOYSIUS SOCIETY

A varied and well-presented entertainment was given last Tuesday evening in the school hall before a large audience by the members of the Saint Aloysius Society of the School of Our Lady. The program consisted of chorus singing by the society, selections by the society orchestra, readings by John Mahan, William Sweetney, John J. Murphy and Lewis Kerns, cornet solo by James Murnaghan, vocal solos by Paul Ryan and Walter Kerns, and two sketches.

The characters in the first sketch, "Fun in a Schoolroom," were John Mahan as Herr Spitzkopf's teacher; James Murnaghan as Isaac Cohen; Edw. Hanlon as Jimmy Sharp; and Paul Ryan as Willie Goodchild, pupils. The cast of the second sketch, "The Awkward Squad," was made up of Paul Ryan as Lieutenant, Nicholas Murphy, Sergeant, and James Akins, James McClellan, Thomas Ryan, Francis Driscoll, Frank Mulligan, Richard Leonard, John Gentry and John E. Murphy as recruits.

BONNIE BROOK MILK

Is the perfect product of a perfectly equipped model Dairy Farm

In acquiring Bonnie Brook Farm as an addition to the famous Hood System of perfect production and distribution of Milk, we are grateful for the opportunity it affords for the extension of our ability to make a still wider application of our slogan—

"FOR LIFE WITH HEALTH"

No fastidious housewife could be more scrupulous or exacting in the care of her home than we are in maintaining immaculate surroundings for our Certified Milk herds. The sleek, contented animals are TUBERCULIN TESTED every six months. They are watched over, fed, and attended as systematically as nursing mothers would be. Employees, too, are selected with the strictest regard as to health—always clean and neat—medically examined regularly. The pure rich Milk is weighed, cooled and bottled with the utmost thoroughness and rapidity. Every surface it touches is steam sterilized. And it is KEPT COLD until delivered in your home. There is not the slightest chance for contamination.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The annual report of the Library for the year 1917 has just been issued. Among the interesting statements found therein the following are noted:

The circulation of books in the homes during 1917 was 373,794 or over 8 volumes per capita. In the last ten years the circulation has increased 51 percent, although during that time the population of the city has increased but 16 percent. From a report which shows the circulation in the various communities which make up the city, we take the following:—

	1908	Per cent. of 1917 Increase
Newton	95,580	146.147 53
Centerville	38,424	42.036 9
Highlands	28,145	37.799 44
Newtonville	26,215	37.625 43
Upper Falls	9,652	27.150 181
W. Newton	18,179	23.245 28
Auburndale	18,472	22.137 20
Nonantum	8,148	18.978 132
Waban	3,439	10.227 197
Lower Falls	2,237	4.368 87

It is gratifying to note from this table the extraordinary gain in circulation which has been made during the period at Upper Falls and Nonantum, where our foreign born population is largely concentrated. No better evidence could be furnished of the valuable services which the Library is rendering in Americanizing our foreign born in these localities.

The growth of Waban during the ten years is shown by the large increase in circulation which is here recorded:

In the year 1917 the circulation in our schools was over 44,500 volumes. The Art Collection supplied over 29,000 photographs, lantern slides or stereographs for the use in the schools or the homes, or by clubs, associations or lecturers.

Through the Library's automobile a house to house delivery and collection of books is now being made in those outlying districts of the city which are without branch library facilities. This interesting experiment has so far been carried on with marked success.

The Librarian and his Staff have been very active in raising funds for the War Library organization and in collecting books. And in the Food Conservation movement they have rendered valuable assistance.

Appreciation is also due to more than one hundred and fifty citizens of Newton who have so generously given their services in the preparation of the books that have been sent to the soldiers in Camp Libraries and overseas.

A recommendation from Street Commissioner Stuart was read, in which he asked that an appropriation of $10,735 be made to cover the cost of the collection of garbage from June 19 for the balance of the year. Instead of adopting Mr. Stuart's recommendation the board passed resolutions submitted jointly by Aldermen Blake and McCarthy, in which the Mayor is requested to further advertise for bids on several propositions, $1000 was appropriated to carry the work along until the new contract is made.

The resolutions follow:—

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Board, the recommendation of His Honor the Mayor that the sum of $10,735 be appropriated for the collection and disposal of garbage for the balance of the year 1918, from June 18th, is excessive for contract work, and that His Honor the Mayor be requested to submit another recommendation based on new bids for the collection and disposal of garbage, and that said bids be called for in accordance with new specifications and the following conditions:

For collecting and disposal of garbage, etc., under contract for period of one year, two years, and three years.

That bids be secured for the purchase and removal of garbage to be delivered at a certain point in the north side of the city, so-called, also at a certain point in the south side of the city, so-called, and to be carted away by the purchaser immediately.

It is further

Resolved, That His Honor the Mayor be and is hereby requested to submit his recommendation thereon at the earliest practicable date, and on or before the regular meeting of the Board to be held on Monday, June 24, if possible.

Read and adopted.

(Signed) FRANK M. GRANT, Clerk.

NEW COAL PRICES

The Newton Fuel Committee under date of June 5th, 1918, has issued the following communication to all Coal Dealers doing business in the city of Newton:

In view of the increase in freight already in force and the increased cost of discharging and delivery of coal in Newton, the Newton Fuel Committee has recommended and the Massachusetts Fuel Commission has authorized the following temporary price in Newton for the sale of anthracite coal, to take effect June 6th, till further notice to the contrary, superseding prices which have been previously established.

	Anthracite	White Ash	Red Ash	Franklin
Broken Egg
Stove	$10.25	$10.50	$10.90
Chestnut

Additional charge for basketing, 40c per net ton.

Coal in Bags: 25 pounds at yard 15c 50 pounds at yard 25c 100 pounds delivered 60c

For Highland and Jeddo $11 per ton may be charged.

A little later our Committee will give consideration to any further change in price that the conditions may seem to justify. At present our Committee is of the opinion that it is only fair that dealers should have the above advance of 25 cents per ton, effective immediately.

No price is given on bituminous coal in Newton owing to the uncertainty of getting it and the channels of transportation through which it will come. The price therefore must be reasonable from day to day, based upon the cost delivered in Newton.

J. FRANK HALE, Vice-President.

The following statement proves how faithfully the work at the Dispensary was carried on during the week while the mothers brought their babies for inspection. Great credit is due to the members of the club who assisted the leaders in this enterprise. The valuable assistance of Miss Valente and of the Polish interpreter needs special notice. About 800 children came under inspection. Stand-up came from Needham, the mothers realizing the help they might get from the advice of those who served. There were many tearful scenes as the little people rather resented the aid of the attendants, but quiet reigned at intervals, and much satisfaction is felt in the results. Only seven children among the number examined were found undersized. Russians 47, 3 undersized; Italians 48, 1 undersized; Armenians 12, normal (all); Americans 129, 3 undersized.

Class day exercises were held on the campus Tuesday. The class president, Anna M. Latham, made an address of welcome. Marguerite Scholls gave the class oration and Irene Underkuffler read the class will, which contained many amusing bequests. Helen R. Henry read the prophecy and Kathryn E. Carey, the class poem. The oration in connection with the planting of the ivy was delivered by Genevieve Jeandron Tuesday evening, in an out-of-doors theatre, the seniors presented Shakespeare's "As You Like It" before a large audience.

On Wednesday evening the thirteenth annual banquet of the Alumni Association was held, nearly a hundred graduates attending. The dinner was held at the Hotel Somerset and Miss Katherine Livingstone was toastmistress. Among the guests was Mrs. Lancelotti Miliken, formerly Miss Betsey Todd and a former principal of the school. The speakers included Mrs. Lora Churchill Blunt, Miss Mae Latham, Miss Dora Gilbert and Miss Martha D. Fitzgerald.

Allen Military School

The baccalaureate sermon of the Allen Military School at West Newton was preached on Sunday morning by Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church. Wednesday was given over to athletic events with the Junior gymnasium exhibition in the evening. On Thursday there was held the graduation with the Commencement address by ex-mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, followed by the presentation of diplomas by Dr. Thomas Chalmers, principal of the school. At 11 o'clock the military spirit of the school was exemplified with an exhibition of battalion fieldwork brought to a close with final retreat and colors. As this was the first year of the school the graduating class consisted of but three seniors who were Leon N. Plummer of Newton Centre, Percy H. Winch of Manchester, N. H., and Philip C. Chalmers of West Newton.

WEST NEWTON MAN GIVES MEMORIAL

The memorial of John Benjamin, a Massachusetts soldier of the Revolution, and of his son, Benaiah Benjamin, was dedicated June 2nd, in the Washington Memorial Chapel, Valley Forge. Mr. Arthur Emmons Pearson of 367 Otis street, West Newton, was the donor of the handsome and unique memorial, which is a solid silver tablet, supporting the powder horn used by his ancestor, John Benjamin at Valley Forge and all through the war of 1776. The tablet bears the following inscription:

Powder Horn of John Benjamin a Soldier of Massachusetts at Valley Forge and carried by Him during His Service of Seven Years in the Continental Army Given by His Son Benaiah Benjamin to His Grandson Arthur Emmons Pearson and by Him presented to the Valley Forge Museum in 1918. History Nineteen Hundred and Seventeen.

The powder horn is about nine and one quarter inches in length and is affixed to the silver base. The lighter portions of the horn are of a buff color, which with the blue velvet on which all rests, symbolize the Continental colors. After the close of the Revolutionary War, Mr. Benjamin made his residence in that portion of Massachusetts that became the State of Maine, signified by the pine cones and needles appearing on the silver bands around the horn. The detail in the etching indicates him an artilleryman, and the lettering is in the spirit of the tablet in the Washington Memorial Chapel presented by his grand-daughter in his memory.

The memorial is a remarkable work of art, and was made by the Gorham Manufacturing Company.

Dr. Burk spoke most appropriately of the patriotism and generosity of Mr. Pearson and his family, every member of which has a large part in this great national shrine at Valley Forge. Mr. William Henry Pearson gave the President's Pew in honor of George Washington, James Monroe, and Theodore Roosevelt, and in memory of William Pearson and Lucinda Maria Greenleaf his wife. Mr. Arthur Emmons Pearson has given the New Hampshire Bay in the Cloister of the Colonies, and he and his father gave most generously toward the erection of the Massachusetts Bay, which was given by the Massachusetts Society, Sons of the American Revolution. The late Mrs. William Henry Pearson gave the beautiful carved oak Pew Screen in honor of Washington and the Major Generals at Valley Forge, and in memory of Benaiah Benjamin and Elizabeth Noyes his wife. She also gave the handsome bronze tablet in memory of her grandfather John Benjamin. Shortly before her death Mrs. Pearson made a most happy pilgrimage with her family to Valley Forge, when her son made the formal presentation of a valuable letter written by Washington at Cambridge in 1775. In memory of this pilgrimage, her children, Arthur Emmons Pearson and Nello Jane Pearson gave the New Hampshire State Panel in the Roof of the Republic.

The dedication of the New Hampshire Bay will occur on October 19, 1918.

HOLD YOUR LIBERTY BONDS

The American who buys a Liberty Bond and forthwith sells it has performed only half a service for his country. To buy bonds and then sell them immediately tends to make the war burden of the country heavier instead of lighter, as it decreases the market value of the bonds.

Liberty Bonds are the safest and soundest and one of the best investments in the world. To sell them unless imperatively required is not good business, is not good Americanism.

The Committee on Prevention of Social Evil Surrounding Military Camps has requested Mayor Childs to grant leave of absence for six months to Inspector Edward P. O'Halloran of the Newton Police Department. If the request is granted O'Halloran will take charge of the squad at Ayer.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

"So you are in the war," a civilian was heard to say to a young man in khaki.

"Yes," was the reply, "and so are you, and every man, woman and child in the country, only you haven't found it out yet."

The soldier was right. We are all in the war, still many and many a one seems not to have found it out, or Massachusetts would not be in the fourth place among the states in buying War Savings Stamps.

"One Million Pledges from Massachusetts," is the slogan of the June Campaign committee (the State War Savings Committee). Pledges for what? Pledges to buy War Savings Stamps regularly for the remainder of 1918, and help lift Massachusetts to her accustomed place in the front rank.

This June Drive begins on the 7th and closes on the 28th. It is proposed to make a house-to-house canvass throughout the state. One million pledges means a pledge from one person out of every four men, women and children.

To save continuously and to lend continuously is the paramount duty of every patriotic American, be it man, woman or child. This is the greatest service each one can render in helping to win the war.

Remember that it is unpatriotic to have anything which is unnecessary, is the injunction of the committee. Save your money and lend to the government. Buying stamps means lending your money and saving it at the same time. These stamps are not merely for the children to buy now and they merely for those of small or moderate means. They are for rich and poor alike, so says the committee.

The members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild are once more reminded of the fund to be given Miss McGill for her use among the "boys over there," with whom she will work this summer as director of an intercollegiate canteen unit. As Miss McGill is leaving soon, it is desired to complete the fund as soon as possible. Gifts, no matter how small, may be left at the Talbot House or sent to Mrs. A. D. Salinger.

Patriotic Fete

The second annual Fete of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs came off most successfully on Saturday afternoon last on the Clifton Field. As last year it took on the patriotic note beginning with the singing of "America" and the raising of flags from the poles at the centre of the field. Particularly attractive was the flag drill by the children of the Stearns School, which followed appropriately as the second number.

The folk dancing by the Bowen School gave variety to the program, the bright costumes adding a pleasing touch of color to the scene. No program this year would be complete without patriotic songs: the "Garibaldi Hymn," "Marseillaise" and "Rule, Britannia," sung by the combined girls clubs of the West Newton Music School and the Vocational School, were well done and their part in the general singing of the Camp Songs was of great assistance.

The Camp Fire Girls in ceremonial costumes formed the Red Cross upon the field, each arm being headed by Red Cross nurses. This was followed by the Woburn Ceremony, and the motion song, "Mamie Moon."

After a brief intermission came the playground exercises which included a fancy march by the boys of the Mason School, a minuet in costume by children from Thompsonville, and two old English folk dances by the playground directors. The program closed with demonstrations by the Girl Scouts of all Newton. All their numbers were very well carried out, and their marching would be a credit to any troop of men or boys.

The numbers went off promptly without any tedious waiting, due to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. Ernst Hermann, superintendent of the Newton Playgrounds, without whom it would be well-nigh impossible to give the fete. The music was in charge of Mrs. A. L. Walker and Miss Lillian West, while Dr. L. H. Naylor as song leader gave snap to the general singing, which was interspersed through the afternoon.

The program was in charge of the Civic and Social Service committee, Mrs. B. E. Taylor, chairman. Mrs. E. G. Swift, representing the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, was chairman of the refreshments; Mrs. W. L. Vosburgh of the Newtonville Woman's Guild, of the local arrangements; Mrs. White of Newton Centre, of public relations; and Mrs. G. B. Plimpton of Auburndale Review Club, of the ponies, which did valiant service all the afternoon and gave pleasure to an innumerable number of children. Representatives of the other clubs also served upon these committees.

An attractive program book was issued, through whose pages friends of the Federation aided a considerable sum to the proceeds. No definite statement as to financial results can be given at this early date, but it is certain that a very satisfactory sum will be realized for the local philanthropies.

State Federation Annual Meeting

A complete re-organization of the work of the clubs on a war basis was the keynote of the whole annual convention of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, which has just been held at Arlington Street church, Boston, this week. Whether it was that of the central departments of the Federation or of the clubs themselves, everywhere the war element has entered in. Those women who have thought that the clubs should cease their activities and the members devote themselves only to war work—primarily that of the Red Cross—should have attended the sessions of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and obtained a broader perspective.

Patriotic music and singing by the convention was a feature of every session, the "Star-Spangled Banner" having been chosen for the opening.

In a graceful word of greeting, Mrs. W. E. Birdsall, president of the Boston City Federation, the hostess of the day, welcomed the women from all over the state, presenting to the Federation president, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, a little key to the city, which should be a key of service.

Mrs. Gurney accepted the hospitality in the same strong note which one always expects from her, in which she said that the women are as much a part of the army as the men. Their duty is different, but the spirit is not different.

Two guests from distant Federations were present and brought greetings, Mrs. Darling, a former president of the Boston Federation, and Mrs. S. B. Bibb, honorary president of the California Federation, and Mrs. Iowa Federation. A telegram of greeting from the annual convention of the Vermont Federation, then in session at Burlington, was read and a similar message returned to them. New Hampshire was also heard from.

The officers reported at the Tuesday afternoon session, showing much work done and satisfactory results. The treasury is once more in good condition, the seven cents per capita tax giving a sufficient income upon which to work comfortably.

Massachusetts has gained second place in her contributions to the War Victory Fund of the General Federation, having raised $21,939.23. Of our local clubs contributing the Newtonville Woman's Guild was mentioned on the honor roll among those which have contributed the largest sum, and also as having exceeded its quota of one dollar for each member. Waban also exceeded its quota, while the Social Science Club's was reached.

Another feature of interest was, for the first time, been a source of income.

Mrs. George Winslow Perkins, Massachusetts director of the General Federation, told of their duties in that office for the biennial period just closed, no small one being the treasurer of the War Victory Fund.

The reports of the special committees and of the nominating committee closed the afternoon.

In the evening the audience joined in singing camp and other patriotic songs under the leadership of Mr. Grant Drake, after which came the accounts of the recent Biennial at Hot Springs, Arkansas, divided among the delegates. Mrs. George M. Baker, one of the Federation vice-presidents, told of the Journey and the Place; Mrs. J. Harry Poole, corresponding secretary, clearly set forth the important business; Mrs. Irving O. Palmer took the audience into many of the conferences, perhaps singling out particularly those relating to music and pointing out the new importance which is being placed upon its value, both for the boys in camp and overseas, as well as for those who are left at home.

Something of the wisdom of the business, Mrs. George M. Baker, one of the Federation vice-presidents, told of the Journey and the Place; Mrs. J. Harry Poole, corresponding secretary, clearly set forth the important business; Mrs. Irving O. Palmer took the audience into many of the conferences, perhaps singling out particularly those relating to music and pointing out the new importance which is being placed upon its value, both for the boys in camp and overseas, as well as for those who are left at home.

Wednesday morning found the delegates once more in their places; the session opened with the singing of "America, the Beautiful." The four departments, namely, Civic, Legislative and Education departments, through their respective chairmen, submitting their reports. The announcement of the results of the election and the presentation of new officers and the final courtesy resolutions completed the business.

These officers were elected to serve for 1918-1919: President, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney; vice-president—first, Mrs. Arthur A. Hibbard, 2d, Mrs. George Minot Baker, 3d, Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, 4th, Mrs. J. Harry Poole; clerk, Mrs. Frank B. Hawley; assistant clerk, Mrs. Eugene Webber; treasurer, Mrs. Walter G. Newell; corresponding secretary, Miss Agnes L. Dodge.

Directors for three years: Mrs. Walter A. Poore, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Mrs. Frank A. Torrey, Mrs. Chester N. Cole, Mrs. George B. Wallace.

Nominating committee: Mrs. John G. Godding, Mrs. Clarence W. Clark, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, Miss Carolyn V. Tucker, Miss Mary B. Harris.

marized at the spring Presidents' Conference.

The proceedings were resumed at the afternoon session by the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, first vice-president, who is working at Camp Devens, made two requests of the clubwomen, one in the matter of the kind of letters friends send to the boys in camp or overseas, that they may not result in mail days' being "Blue Monday," as it has been characterized by one officer. The other request was for a friendly interest in the wives of soldiers, that they may get started in the new life and that we may avoid some of the things which have happened in the other warring countries.

Another appeal for nurses was brought by Miss Anne H. Strong of Simmons College, that young women may be urged to go into this work as their brothers have gone into the army, not for life, but for the present emergency. The Red Cross is about to start a drive for graduate nurses for their service, and at the same time the nursing committee, a branch of the work of the Woman's Committee, Council of National Defense, of which Miss Strong is a member, is to make a drive for raw recruits to fill the vacancies left by the graduates who enter the Red Cross service.

Highly encouraging was the report of the Endowment Fund committee, although not quite what had been desired. On account of the War Victory drive this Federation fund was allowed to take a back seat for the present. The clubs, however, have contributed this year, $5,564.32, and this sum added to the permanent funds previously held, brings the total to $14,341.54.

The three cultural departments, Art, Literature and Music, reported their activities as not at all separated from war activities and each chairman in turn pointed out the great need of her particular subject at this time. Civil Service Reform, too, had a special message for the time, that of securing efficient service.

Two new organizations have recently joined the State Federation, the Springfield Federation of Women's Clubs and the Massachusetts Maine Daughters, both were represented by their respective presidents.

Resolutions brought in were, one earnestly requesting the senators from Massachusetts to co-operate in passing such legislation as will provide for making the National Child Labor law effective; another, looking to maintaining of industrial standards during the war, that women may receive the same wages as men for equal or similar work; and a third, requesting the clubs to make a study either through their prisms or by study groups, that the women may gain a clear idea of the international policy being promulgated by President Wilson.

Wednesday evening brought the delegates a treat through the courtesy of the hostess organization, in the organ recital by Mr. Benjamin Whelpy and the address by Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe on "England's Message to America." An informal reception followed when the delegates were enabled to meet the officers. The beauty of the church itself and the wealth of flowers were a constant source of inspiration to the delegates.

Thursday morning brought the convention to a close. The Civic, Legislative and Education departments, through their respective chairmen, submitting their reports. The announcement of the results of the election and the presentation of new officers and the final courtesy resolutions completed the business.

These officers were elected to serve for 1918-1919: President, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney; vice-president—first, Mrs. Arthur A. Hibbard, 2d, Mrs. George Minot Baker, 3d, Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, 4th, Mrs. J. Harry Poole; clerk, Mrs. Frank B. Hawley; assistant clerk, Mrs. Eugene Webber; treasurer, Mrs. Walter G. Newell; corresponding secretary, Miss Agnes L. Dodge.

Directors for three years: Mrs. Walter A. Poore, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Mrs. Frank A. Torrey, Mrs. Chester N. Cole, Mrs. George B. Wallace.

COMMUNITY SINGING

The last of the series of meetings for Community Singing was held at the Newton Opera House last Sunday evening. Dr. L. H. Naylor was the leader of the singing, and the Stearns School Chorus under the efficient leadership of Miss Martin sang for the audience a group of three songs, Liberty Bell, My Dear Alsace Lorraine, and Jeanne d'Arc. Mr. Harry Watson rendered a beautiful cornet solo, "One Fleeting Hour."

As speaker of the evening, Hon. Samuel L. Powers of Newton spoke on Service as the keynote of the present day.

THRIFTERS, TAKE NOTICE!

To energize the War Savings Campaign, which is lagging badly in Massachusetts, it is planned to have an intensive drive, June 7 to 28. The purpose and goal of this "drive" is to secure 1,000,000 written pledges to buy $5 stamps regularly during the remainder of 1918. The momentum of this campaign should carry the work through the summer, and lift Massachusetts out of the forthright place among the states, and put her up with the leaders where she belongs. The goal can be attained by organized house-to-house canvassing; every man, woman and child to be solicited to sign a pledge to pay at their own convenience, and stating whether they will buy at their bank, or post-office or from some organization. Uncle Sam's special agents do not sell stamps nor take cash.

The quota from every town requires that 1 in 4 of the inhabitants, men, women and children, sign a pledge. This is to be a women's campaign—aided by the men, and assisted by the older members of the "Thrifty" Army in the Newtons.

The children are asking for pledges to buy Thrift Stamps, the women's committee will ask for pledges for War Savings Stamps. Be ready!

There are to be special banners and a woman's service corps button. Uncle Sam's war program must be carried on by the help of everybody's "mite," i.e., the Thrift Stamp, and by everybody's pledge to buy "Baby Bonds," the $5 stamps, during balance of 1918. Only in this way can Uncle Sam know what he may count upon as extra assets.

Mr. James A. Stafford is chairman of the Newton Men's Committee, and Mrs. S. H. Mitchell of the Women's. The undersigned asks the earnest, self-denying co-operation of the people of Newton Corner, who will take pride in putting their village "over the top." The captains are being organized, volunteer lieutenants wanted. Report to 550 Centre street.

PAGEANT IN WEST NEWTON

On Friday evening, May 31, the pupils of The Misses Allen School of West Newton, entertained the alumnae and friends with a Pageant. The lawn and garden of the old Allen residence on Webster street formed the scene of the Pageant.

The three Graces—Art, Industry and Education—were the first to appear. Then came the march of the nations, led by Joan of Arc and Britannia. After making their obeisance the nations stood on either side of the Graces, the entire group forming a semi-circle—Art, Education and Industry in the centre uniting the countries in friendship. Then followed the characteristic dances of the happy peasantry.

The dancing over, War entered and the Graces withdrew with bowed heads. Fire and Death executed a wild dance among the nations, who crouched in terror to behold War's horrible minions. Just as War, Fire and Death were standing in triumph over the nations, the music changed and Hope with her rainbow entered to banish War and the Furies. The Graces returned, and the nations lifted up their heads at the approach of Peace. Peace led in Liberty, who was hailed as the last and best goddess.

The nations then marched out. The Graces followed them, and last came Liberty with torch and book as symbols of light and law.

The Pageant closed with the flag dance and a patriotic dance, in the presence of Columbia, who entered to "The Star Spangled Banner."

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Coolidge of the French Department has resigned to accept a position in the French Department of the girls' school of Milton Academy.

About ninety have applied for advice in canning and gardening, during the coming summer.

All girls who wish yarn for knitting during vacation must apply to Miss Wynn of the Technical High School before June 15.

Irma Bartholomew has been elected captain of the girls' tennis team. Katherine Sheppard is manager. Two matches have been played, the first being won by Brookline, and Newton winning the second from Concord. Other members of the team are Priscilla Mayo, Elmer Pedley, and Katherine Tolman.

Tuesday the boys' tennis team lost the first game in two years to Brookline, 3 to 2. In the singles Scott won 9-7, 6-2, Vaughn won 4-6, 6-4, 8-6, and Crosby lost 8-6, 6-2. In the doubles Crosby and Leete lost 6-4 3-6, 6-3, and Scott and Vaughn lost 6-1, 6-3.

The game was the fastest and most closely played of the season.

On Tuesday Newton swamped Medford 12 to 7 at Medford. Richmond starred for Newton, making three hits and three runs. Saturday Newton will play the last game of the season with the High School of Commerce.

School will close on June 29, examinations coming the week before.

PUBLIC MEETING

A free public meeting, under the joint auspices of the Newton branches of the Special Aid Society, the Red Cross, and the French Wounded, will be held in the Y.M.C.A. lecture hall on Monday, June 10, at 2:30 P.M., to extend a welcome from Newton Corner to Miss Annie L. Weeks, the city's new Home Demonstration Leader. Miss Weeks is employed by the United States government to lead our city in its conservation work, her appointment having been obtained through the instrumentality of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Food Conservation Committee of the Committee on Public Safety.

Miss Weeks will give a demonstration on "Milk as a Food; its dietetic and patriotic value, and how to use it"—a very timely topic, in view of the present scarcity of meat, and the necessity for substituting a food of equal value in the diet.

It is hoped that the public of Newton will take advantage of this opportunity to meet and hear Miss Weeks, and to give her a royal welcome. It is her earnest wish that all the women of Newton will get the habit of taking their food problems to her for solution. Her office is in room 303, Technical High School, and her telephone N.N. 313.

LASELL JUNIORS WIN

In the annual series of war canoe races on the Charles River the crew representing the junior class won the championship of the year at Lasell Seminary last Monday. The juniors won this coveted feature of commencement by first defeating the sophomores and then the seniors, who had worked their way into the final by defeating a mixed crew. In the final event the juniors won by a length and a quarter. The course which is less than a mile long is laid between Fox Island, Waltham, and Pulsifer's Cove, Auburndale.

Earl Ordway coach of the crews was in charge of the racing and practically the entire student body was on the river in canoes and launches to cheer their favorites. The winning crew included, Captain Elizabeth Moyer, Priscilla Alden, Helene C. Pearce, Marie Englin, Frances O'Brien, Alice L. Chase, Vernetta E. Young, Georgina K. Flattery, and Dorothy Adams.

COPELEY THEATRE—"The Liars" will be remembered as one of the most successful of last season's plays at the Copley Theatre. Its revival next week will therefore be especially welcome. One of the most brilliant of the many plays written by Henry Arthur Jones, "The Liars" has been acted wherever the English language is spoken. It was produced first in London by Charles Wyndham and later in this country John Drew presented it to the American public. The cast of "The Liars" at the Copley will bring forward practically the same players who appeared in it on the first presentation there a year ago. Miss Gladys Morris will return to her role of Lady Jessica Nepean, and the cast will include Beatrice Miller, Jessamine Newcombe, Viola Roach, Florence Leclercq, Lionel Glenister, Leonard Craske, Cameron Matthews, B. N. Lewin, Fred W. Permain, Nicholas Joy, and H. Conway Wingfield.

RED CROSS-SPECIAL AID

The Advisory Board of the Newtonville Branch of the Red Cross-Special Aid met on Tuesday, June 4, at the Talbot House, with Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, the chairman, presiding. The reports of the secretary, Mrs. J. L. Richards, and the treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Allen, were read and accepted. The chairman of the sewing department, Mrs. W. H. Lucas, gave a splendid report of work accomplished for the past month, and given to the Red Cross and the French Wounded.

Mrs. G. F. Malcolm, chairman of the knitted garments, urged all members to knit socks early and late, as the demand is urgent. The quota for the Newtonville branch is 645 pairs for the month of June. Members are requested to devote themselves to knitting socks so that our quota may be filled, and that we may not fall short of what is required of us.

The board voted $100 from the treasury of the Special Aid Society to be given to Miss McGill for the Y.M.C.A. work in France, and it is hoped that the box in the hall at Talbot House will gather another $100 to go for the same purpose. A good beginning has already been made.

Helpers are wanted for the Red Cross work at 1090 Washington street, Boston. They would like a number to go each day regularly, so that the work may be systematized. Any who can and will give the time are requested to report their names at Talbot House and the work will be explained.

A letter has been sent to all branches of the Red Cross requesting an allotment of clothing to be made for the refugees in Italy. Additional workers in the sewing department are needed, in order to fill the quota required from this branch, and the women of Newtonville are urged to respond.

Talbot House will be open for sewing through June and July on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from nine to four. The wool room will be open the same days. Members will please plan to get wool on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 to 4.

Women are asked to offer their services for sewing in August, and report to Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden. The regular chairmen have worked long and faithfully and must have much needed rest to carry on the work for the year that is ahead. It is necessary to have new workers offer for the month of August, in order that the garments required of us may be made and our quota filled.

SUBURBAN THEATRE.—For a year the United States government camera men have been busy getting the activities of our soldier and sailor boys registered on thousands of feet of motion-picture film. As a result of this work the people of New England will have the first opportunities at the Suburban Theatre, beginning next Monday, June 10, and twice daily thereafter, to see what has been done by our boys up to date over here and over there. "Pershing's Crusaders" is the title of this first official government feature film of the war, and it really constitutes a motion-picture history of our first year at war. A successful effort has been made to show how the government has handled the gigantic task of preparation for war. The recruiting of our army, the building of huge cantonments, the clothing and feeding of our troops, the making of arms to equip them, the building of enormous shipyards and the rapidity with which ships are being built and launched. The great part of the picture shows our boys—maybe your boys—in France. It follows them along the long road to the front. It shows the vast stores of munitions and the supplies flowing like rivers through the quiet French villages up to the front line dumps. It depicts the first American field gun to throw a shell into the German trenches, the first American troops entering and settling down in a first-line trench, the first batch of German prisoners taken by our soldiers, the first baptism before a battle. It is a picture every mother, sister or sweetheart of a soldier should see. It is better than a letter from the boys over there, for at the Suburban Theatre next week, you can see him actually at the grim business and the light-hearted play of war. In order that all may see the pictures, a special scale of prices—25 and 50 cents—at all performances, is arranged.

IDEAL DAY ON THE RIVER

Between 4000 and 5000 canoes were on the Charles River between Riverside and Waltham last Sunday. Every craft along the river capable of being rented was in use, yet order prevailed all day. There were no arrests and only a few minor mishaps. The two men and a woman canoe containing Norumbega Park a canoe containing the two men was badly frightened and screamed vigorously but the men held onto the canoe and supported her also till Patrolman Charles W. Warner put out in the emergency boat and rescued all three. There were six other tip-overs in which only men were involved, and they all swam or waded ashore without difficulty.

HOLBROOK—DARLING

Donald Holbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Holbrook of 390 Waverley avenue, Newton, and Miss Katherine Darling, daughter of Major and Mrs. Eugene A. Darling of Cambridge were married last Sunday at the summer home of the bride's family at Groton, Mass. Rev. Charles B. Ames of Groton, officiated.

Mrs. Maurice E. Day, sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor, and Kenneth Holbrook, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Mr. Holbrook is a member of the class which completes its course this month at the Ensigns' School in Cambridge. Only the immediate families were present at the marriage ceremony.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.—More than once it has been remarked that there is nothing new under the sun. Once in a long while, however, there is unearthed a novelty that is at once so striking, by reason of its originality and its cleverness, as to cause the on-looker to rub his eyes in a maze of wonder. It is just this kind of novelty that William Rock and Frances White promise theatregoers in the program arranged for their two weeks' limited engagement, which will take place at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, beginning next Monday, June 10. During this engagement Miss White will sing some of the famous songs that have greatly contributed to her success. Among them are "Mississippi," "Monkey in the Zoo," "Six Times Six," and "Goes-into." Mr. Rock, in furnishing his share of gladness and fun to the occasion, aside from his original dancing numbers, will also include many clever impersonations.

NEWTON'S SUBSCRIPTIONS TO WAR WORK FUNDS

It was hoped that complete returns of the recent Red Cross campaign would be available for this week's issue, but the matter has been deferred until the records may be adjusted as funds and subscriptions are still coming in, and several of the Boston banks which have received subscriptions for credit to the city have not, as yet, been able to make a report. The total, however, is over $225,000. Since the war began Newton has subscribed and donated several million dollars, the totals being as follows:

1st Liberty Loan	$2,000,000
2nd Liberty Loan	6,000,000
3rd Liberty Loan	5,250,000
In addition several thousands of dollars in Thrift and War Savings Stamps.
Donated
1st Red Cross Drive	$50,000
2nd Red Cross Drive	225,000
Y.M.C.A. War Work	135,000
Local Red Cross War Work	125,000
Total	$13,250,000

In addition to K. of C. War fund, the Salvation Army fund, local war-working organizations and activities many thousands of dollars.

SOMERS—KELLEN

A military wedding was solemnized at the Grace Episcopal Church on Wednesday evening when Chief Yeoman Ralph Herman Somers, M. S. N. R. F., and Miss Margherita Constance Kellen were married by Rev. Laurens MacLure, S. T. D., rector of Grace Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Kellen of 44 Bourne street, Auburndale and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Somers of 128 Lowell avenue, Newtonville. They are both very well known and very popular in musical circles in Newton. Mr. Somers was educated in the grammar and high schools of this city while Miss Kellen attended the Newton Highlands grammar school and the high school in Washington, D. C.

The church was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns, pink flowers and flags and among the large gathering were delegations of yeomen and yeomen from the Charlestown Navy Yard where the groom is stationed. Earle H. Pierce of West Roxbury was the best man. Attending the bride were Miss Ruth Elliott of Newton as maid of honor, and the Misses Thelma Proctor of Faneuil, and Doris Caldwell of Brookline, bridesmaids.

Harold D. Billings of Newtonville, Irving Jewett, Reading, Ralph Wales, Auburndale, and Howard Wright, Dedham, were ushers. The bride wore a beautiful dress which was also her mother's wedding dress. It was of white satin, over dress of chintilly lace, with train and usual wedding veil and orange flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies. The maid of honor wore shell pink chiffon and georgette hat, while the bridesmaids' dresses were of turquoise blue taffeta, they also wore large rose hats and carried roses.

The choir of Grace Church sang during the ceremony. A reception followed at the Parish House from 9 until 10 o'clock. In the receiving line besides the bride and groom were the parents of the young couple.

A reception for the immediate families was also held at the bride's home. The wedding trip will be an automobile tour.

NEWTON BOY REPORTED KILLED

In last night's casualty list, Lieut. Henry Ware Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Clarke of 33 Washington street, Newton, is reported killed in action in France. Lieut. Clarke was 24 years old and was in the 16th Infantry Machine Gun Co. (regulars). He was born in Chicago, but later removed with his parents to this city where he received his education in the public schools. He graduated from Harvard College, class of 1916. He later attended Plattsburg training camps in 1916 and 1917, and later volunteered for overseas service. He was commissioned a second lieutenant and after training in several different units in France he was assigned to the trenches.

RUST—BRANT

Rev. John F. Brant of Newtonville officiated at the wedding of his daughter, Helen Frances Brant and Frederick Winslow Rust, son of Mrs. Eugene Rust of 98 Kirkstall road, Newtonville at the bride's home, 11 Oakwood road, last Tuesday evening. Lieut. W. M. Leonard of Newton Highlands Leads Successful Attack Against German Machine Guns

Another Newton boy's name has a prominent place in the war stories of this week. This time it is Lieut. Wallace M. Leonard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace M. Leonard of 21 Forest street, Newton Highlands. The lieutenant is in the thick of the fighting in France, judging by the accounts, and has been cited for bravery. He took part in the capture of Bourges, and with forty-three men caught a triangle nest of German machine guns blocking the path into Bourges. He ordered an attack on the machine guns and men with rifles killed the crews of all seven German guns. When the job was completed Leonard and four men were left. His uniform showed three bullet holes where machine gun projectiles had just missed him.

Lieutenant Leonard is a graduate of Newton High School, class of 1912, and later of Amherst College. When the war broke out he went to Plattsburg and was commissioned with the rank of first lieutenant. He was assigned to foreign service and attended French and British officers' schools. Then came his assignment as an officer in the Marine Corps, where he has proved his worth in the present offensive of the marines against the enemy. He is twenty-three years old, was married in June, 1917, to Miss Dorothy MacLure, daughter of the rector of Grace Church, Newton.

The following communication addressed to Lieut. Leonard's mother from Alderman Haggood is one of interest and voices the sentiments of many other citizens.

June 12, 1918

My dear Mrs. Leonard: I have read the paragraph on the third page of yesterday morning's Herald, headed "Biggest Factor in the War." As I ran my eye down the column, I experienced the feeling of national pride that would come to any patriotic American reading. "The behavior of the Americans the past week is gloriously indicative of what is coming for the German army."

But I was hardly prepared for the thrill of personal pride that came to me as I read the paragraph near the end, "One such is Lt. W. M. Leonard who has been cited for bravery." It seems almost impossible to picture the quiet, reserved, well-poised lad who grew up next door to me, leading so gallant an action amid such frightful carnage; yet all my recollections of Wallace's boyhood and his career in school and college strengthen the impression that coolness and self-command were to be expected of him.

I congratulate you with all my heart for having given such a splendid son to the service of his country. May the realization that your neighbors and friends are watching his career with pride and appreciation help you and his father to "carry on" through the days and months of sacrifice and service that must intervene before he returns to you, as we all hope and pray that he will return in safety, with the glorious lead of honor that he has won.

Cordially yours,

(Signed) ERNEST G. HAPGOOD.

The directors of the Boston Chamber of Commerce re-elected Mr. Henry I. Harriman last Tuesday president for the year 1918-1919. Mr. Harriman is the first president ever elected by the Chamber to succeed himself. His administration has been one of the most constructive and progressive of any since the organization was formed, and although it was with considerable personal sacrifice that he served, he did so because of the necessity of carrying forward the many war projects with which he is familiar. He is president of the New England Power Company. Mr. Harriman first became an officer of the Chamber of Commerce in 1915, when he was elected second vice-president. The next year he was elected first vice-president, and last year he was chosen president. He is also vice-president of the Newton Board of Aldermen, and resides on Centre street, Newton.

Two other Newton men are also named in the executive list. Edward J. Frost of Auburndale was elected treasurer, and Frank W. Remick of West Newton chairman of the executive committee.

NEWTON'S RED CROSS

War Work Hereafter to be Apportioned to the Branches. Sewing Volunteers the Great Need Now

The Red Cross is more and more nearing the point where every dollar it spends and every hour of work its working members put in shall go where they will count for the most without any wasteful duplication. Necessary conservation of materials, of money and of human effort, to the end that everything may be done to shorten and win the war, make such a program imperative.

Hereafter work is to be apportioned throughout the country, so every branch will be given the work it should do and every branch will know what is expected of it each month. The Newton Branch of the Red Cross, its affiliated Societies and its auxiliaries are ready to do work under the new plan. The Newton Branch headquarters will give out to the workers of the city their quotas of the work to be done. The Headquarters at Talbot House will be the centre from which all Newton workers will receive instructions and information and at which all questions in regard to the work will be answered. The Metropolitan Chapter when it has orders or information to give out will communicate them to the workers of Newton through the Newton Headquarters. This will simplify work both at the Boston and the Newton headquarters and will enable the officials at each to do their work more easily and more thoroughly. Newton headquarters will keep track of what is being done in Newton and the Metropolitan Chapter will get its information from the Newton officials.

Under the new program the workers will be asked to do the work that is most needed in the quantities needed. The work may not be always the work the workers would most desire to do unless they look at it in the true light that to do what is most needed is to do what one would most desire to do. Red Cross workers are soldiers working at home and their job is to see to it that the fighting soldiers at the front are properly cared for.

Just at present while other kinds of work are needed, the great call is for volunteers for sewing. A badly wounded soldier after his wounds are dressed and bandaged must be made as comfortable as possible in bed. Surgical dressings are needed for binding up his wounds but surgical dressings cannot be used as bed sheets nor as pajamas or shirts. A convalescent soldier wrote home "Don't worry about me. I am in a good soft bed with clean sheets and I have nice fresh pajamas. I am really having a fine time." Anyone can see that he would not have been as cheerful if he had to write home "I am nicely bandaged but they have no sheets nor pajamas for me. It's a case of being 'all bandaged up' and nothing to sleep in." Then there are the destitute refugees whom the Red Cross is caring for and who need gowns and dresses and the little children being born into the world, the sons and daughters of men fighting at the front, they certainly must be clothed. The old adage had it "A stitch in time saves nine," but today the stitch in time, which is now, may give unspeakable comfort to the wounded and perhaps save life. Blessed is she who piles her needle for the comfort of the heroes at the front.

The Newton Branch of the Red Cross in the June rating of the branches of the Metropolitan Chapter dropped from its accustomed place as number (Continued on Page 8)

TO LEAVE NEWTON

Mr. Thomas of Classical High To Take Position in Cleveland School of Education

Mr. Charles S. Thomas, head of the English department in the Newton Classical High School, has accepted the position of head of the English department in the Cleveland, Ohio, School of Education, which is conducted jointly by the school department of the city of Cleveland and Western Reserve University. Dr. F. E. Spaulding, formerly of Newton and now superintendent of the Cleveland schools, has general supervising control.

Mr. Thomas came to Newton ten years ago, succeeding the late Andrew J. George, and during this decade has been most popular, always held in the highest esteem by his classes, teachers and parents, and his going causes deep regret.

The position to which Mr. Thomas goes is distinctly an innovation, and includes general advisory oversight of the high school English work in the entire city, special work in the training of high-school English teachers and university extension work with the Cleveland teachers and with students in Western Reserve. The advisory work in the high schools and the courses offered to high-school English teachers for special training will undoubtedly follow the lines already adopted by Mr. Thomas in his high-school work and in his Harvard Summer School courses for teachers; the university extension work, which will consist entirely of cultural courses in English literature, he will plan according to his own ideas, and will offer lectures on any phase of the work that seems to him desirable.

Homer K. Underwood of Passaic, N. J., formerly of Fall River, Mass., has been appointed Mr. Thomas's successor.

SERVICE FLAG UNFURLED

Interesting exercises were held last Sunday at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, when a service flag bearing 150 stars, representing that number of parishioners now in government service, was unfurled outside the church in the presence of several hundred people. Patriotic addresses were made by Mr. John F. Cronin, Rev. Fr. John F. Keleher, pastor of the church, Mayor Childs and Mr. James R. Condrin.

MOTHERS' REST ASSOCIATION

The Mothers' Rest Association will hold its Annual Donation Day and Open House at the "Rest", 8 High street, Needham Heights, on Friday, June 21st, from 3 to 5 o'clock P. M. Tea will be served by the young ladies of the Mothers' Rest Club. Automobiles will leave Mrs. Kendall's home, 876 Beacon street, Newton Centre, during the afternoon to take visitors to the "Rest" and every one is invited. Those who are unable to visit the "Rest" are asked to send their donations to Mrs. Kendall's house at that time.

Gifts of money, food, clothing, household articles and especially new memberships are earnestly requested. In these days of special calls for help, we must not forget those less fortunate than ourselves upon whom the normal cost of living bears so heavily.

COPLEY THEATRE—"A Night Off," a farce welcome to Boston theatre-goers, will be given by the Henry Jewett Players at the Copley Theatre next week. It was made famous by Augustin Daly's company, and as produced in New York and London and in all the great cities of England and America, it proved itself a play of constant enjoyment. Its production again in Boston will be an event of the Copley summer season. Throughout "A Night Off" is filled to the brim with the cleanest and most sparkling of humor. It is one constant succession of laughs. It will be produced at the Copley under Mr. Jewett's personal direction, and the cast will include all the players of his company who have already proved their skill in farcical acting. Its performances at the Copley will offer the merriest kind of summer theatrical diversion.

AN APPEAL

The Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People is issuing an appeal for funds with which to properly carry on its philanthropy. The building committee in a communication says in part:

"Five thousand dollars is still needed to cover the cost of the new wing. We also earnestly solicit funds to replace the old buildings, which are in very poor condition, with a modern brick structure similar to the new east wing.

"The expense of the enlarged Home and of the increased number of inmates to be cared for is increasing the annual maintenance expense of the Home by several thousand dollars. As the Endowment Fund has been cut into in erecting the building, and the income from the fund is, therefore, less than it would have been but for the new building, an increased yearly income of $3,000 to $4,000 is needed.

"Subscriptions toward the deficit caused by the new building are desired, and in addition, all in Newton are earnestly urged to give what they can afford, in large or small amounts, toward the maintenance of this Home.

"It is very desirable to have as large an income as possible on which we can depend each year. We hope, therefore, that many contributors will be able and willing to make pledges for annual subscriptions. Even though the amounts pledged may not be large, it would assist greatly to have them come regularly.

"We are confident that the people of Newton who have homes of their own, will give liberally to this institution when they realize the great need. There is a long waiting list of those who are anxious to enter the Home, but cannot because of insufficient accommodations.

"Other cities around us are awaking to the urgent need and providing Homes for their helpless old people. Let us not be behind them in this last thing, but let us not neglect this pressing need in our own city.

Building Committee: Charles E. Riley, Joseph Byers, Henry Bailey, James E. Clark, Frank J. Hale, William Price, and Albert P. Carter, treasurer, 60 State street, Boston.

ANOTHER NEWTON BOY KILLED

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jassett of Crescent street, Nonantum, received word on Tuesday evening from the War Department of the death of their son, Ernest Jassett, in France. Young Jassett was in Battery B, 101st Field Artillery, and was killed in action at the front.

He volunteered soon after the formation of Battery B, and his folks had frequently heard from him, his last letter being received only Tuesday morning, but a few hours before word came of his death.

The young man was 26 years old and was held in great esteem by all his acquaintances. He has a brother, Jean Jassett, who is in the navy.

BARINGER-STEBBINS

The marriage of Henry J. Baringer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Baringer, of Lowell avenue, Newtonville, and Miss Ruth M. Stebbins of Oneonta, N. Y., took place in that city on the tenth of this month at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. Cyrus J. Westcott. Mr. and Mrs. Baringer will be at home after June 30, at the Montevista, 63d and Oxford streets, Overbrook, Pa.

BUY THRIFT STAMPS

Under the leadership of the women the campaign for the War Savings Stamps will take on a new activity in Massachusetts during the month of June.

The President has called on every person who is able to enlist in the Army of War Savers before June 28th, National War Savings Day, to save the labor and material needed to supply our army and navy, and to lend the money thus saved to the Government by buying War Savings Stamps.

The total amount the Government asks during 1918, from the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps is $2,000,000,000; $20 for every man, woman and child in this country.

Massachusetts' share is $78,000,000. But this State is far below its proper standing in taking this great and needed loan. Out of all the states in the Union she stands only thirty-seventh; whereas, in buying Liberty Bonds, giving to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., or other war activities she stands among the very first.

The War Savings Committee of the State will redouble its effort in the June Drive, from the 7th to the 28th, to bring Massachusetts to the very first rank in support of the Government in this loan.

One million pledges to buy War Savings regularly during the year will be sought in a house-to-house canvass in every community. This is one pledge for every four inhabitants. The total sales in Massachusetts for five months are less than $8,000,000, barely one-tenth of the quota.

The canvass for the June Drive will be primarily conducted by women. Mrs. George T. Rice has taken the chairmanship of the Woman's Service Bureau, a woman's chairman has been named for each county, and under these a major for the women in charge of each town canvass. Pledge cards for solicitors to the number of 2,000,000 have been distributed, with buttons for every woman solicitor, and a button showing the War Savings pledge for every one who takes the pledge.

The funds sought in the loan of $2,000,000,000 are as vitally needed by the Government to supply and feed its fighting men as are all the billions asked in the Liberty Loan.

The money invested in the War Savings Stamps is not a gift or a donation, but a loan. It will all be paid back with 4% interest compounded quarterly. If, for any reason cash is needed, the money invested may be secured on ten days' notice to any Money Order Postmaster. Stamps are free of all State and Local taxes. They are backed by all the property in the United States; they cannot fall in value below the price you paid; they increase instead in value one cent a month.

Every dollar put into them from savings relieves the government to that extent of the drain on labor and material, leaving it to be used for war purposes. It thus doubles the value of the investment to the government.

What is done by enlisting in the army of War Savers is direct aid to men in the fighting line, and is the simplest way in which every citizen may now or prove a will to share in winning the war.

SOMERS-KELLEN

Reprinted by Request
A military wedding was solemnized at the Grace Episcopal Church on Wednesday evening, June 5th, when Chief Yeoman Ralph Herman Somers, U.S.N.R.F., and Miss Margherita Comstance Kellen were married by Rev. Laurens MacLure, S.T.D., rector of Grace Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Kellen of 44 Bourne street, Auburndale, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Somers of 128 Lowell avenue, Newtonville. They are both very well known and very popular in musical circles in Newton. Mr. Somers was educated in the grammar and high schools of this city, while Miss Kellen attended the Newton Highlands grammar school, the school in Washington, D. C., and Dean Academy at Franklin, Mass.

The church was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns, pink flowers and flags, and among the large gathering were delegations of yeomen and yeowomen from the Charlestown Navy Yard where the groom is stationed. Earle H. Pierce of West Roxbury was best man, the bride was Miss Ruth Elliott of Newton as maid of honor, and the Misses Thelma Proctor of Faneuil, and Doris Caldwell of Brookline, bridesmaids.

Harold D. Billings of Newtonville, Irving Jewett, Reading, Ralph Wales, Auburndale, and Howard Wright, Dedham, were ushers.

The bride wore a beautiful dress of white satin, over dress of chantilly lace, with satin train and usual wedding veil and orange flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore shell pink chiffon and georgette hat, while the bridesmaids' dresses were of turquoise blue taffeta, they also wore large rose hats and carried roses.

The choir of Grace Church sang during the ceremony.

A reception followed at the Parish House from 9 until 10 o'clock. In the receiving line besides the bride and groom were the parents of the young couple.

A reception for the immediate families was also held at the bride's home.

The wedding trip will be an automobile tour.

HOLD YOUR LIBERTY BONDS
"I earnestly hope that every one who has bought Liberty Bonds will try to keep them for the period of the war at least. * * * If each and every purchaser keeps his Liberty Bond he helps to protect the credit of the Government by maintaining the market for the bonds at par, which is a very helpful thing in war time, and he also renders a more essential service to our soldiers and sailors in the field by practicing those economies and savings which release materials and labor necessary to the support, if not the very life, of our Army and Navy." RED CROSS HOME SERVICE

The Home Service Section of the Newton Public Safety Committee has recently been enlarged, and is now doing active and valuable work in conjunction with the local branch of the Red Cross. The chairman is Mr. Joseph B. Jamieson of Newton.

This committee is in a position to do splendid service for men in the army and navy who have gone from Newton, and especially for the families left at home. A law has been passed at Washington requiring a man in the service to give a part of his pay to his wife or children. The government will also give them a family allowance. Other near relatives have the right to receive money, if they have been dependent upon a man who is now fighting for us, or who is in training at a camp in this country. The Home Service Committee will gladly and freely give information about this law and the War Risk Insurance. It is also in a position, through its visitors, to counsel and help any who are left either in distress or perplexity by the absence of husband or brother in the service.

The Committee urges readers of the Graphic to pass on this information to any family who, they know, needs its advice or assistance. An office has been opened at Room 2, 829 Washington street, Newtonville, over the post-office, where the secretary, Miss Margaret E. Rich will be glad at any time to talk with those who wish to consult her.

AN ENJOYABLE RECITAL

On Saturday evening, June 8, 1918 the Piano Recital given in the parlors of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, by the pupils of the Misses May and Mina Cotton, brought out a goodly gathering of parents and friends, who enjoyed together a home-like evening of music.

A well balanced program was presented which held the attention of the audience to a degree not always to be found at a "pupils' recital."

The performers were Hazel and Lillian Johnson, Mary Coleman, Samuel Moore, Edith Johnson, Stanley Kimball, Elizabeth Edwards, Lloyd Osborne, Donald Sabin, Marjorie Nichols, Catherine Hodges, Priscilla Cornish, Frank Engerson, Dorothy Cornish, Carolyn McClellan, Martha Wilson, Virginia McClellan.

The program was diversified by two groups of songs by Mr. Thomas W. Cotton who is well known to Newton audiences.

HOLD YOUR LIBERTY BONDS

The American who buys a Liberty Bond and forthwith sells it has performed only half a service for his country. To buy bonds and then sell them immediately tends to make the war burden of the country heavier instead of lighter, as it decreases the market value of the bonds.

Liberty Bonds are the safest and soundest and one of the best investments in the world. To sell them is not only imperatively required is not good business, it is not good Americanism.

THE POPS

The seventh week of the Pops which begins next Monday evening, June 17th, holds several points of interest. Monday evening being the 143rd anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, much patriotic music will be played. The old war songs and the new war songs will have their due recognition. It will be "Veterans' Night" at the Pops and it is expected that representatives of numerous veteran societies will be present while it is hoped that some of the new war songs will be sung by a chorus of enlisted men from the Radio School of the United States Navy.

Wednesday night brings the second and last operatic programme of the season. This programme always is popular with the Pop public and Mr. Jacchia has chosen an admirable one which is entirely different in character from the operatic programme given several weeks ago.

—Newton went over the top with her Third Liberty Loan, then over again by more than 300 per cent on the Red Cross Drive. That Newton children are as ready to do their bit as their elders and are letting no opportunity escape is shown by the little girls, ages six to twelve, comprising Ethel Tupper Maxim's class in elocution who are selling tickets for their Recital at the Hunnewell Club next Saturday night, the 15th, the proceeds to be given to the Welfare Fund of the 101st U. S. Engineers now at the front in France.

—These children are manifesting a win-the-war spirit that will help the brave boys at the front and they will doubtless furnish a unique entertainment worthy of the motive which inspires their efforts. Come and see what these youngsters have to offer.

Here's a suggestion from The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company that will save motorists money: when you wash your car with a mixture of kerosene and water, make sure the liquid does not reach the tires. Washing cars and washing tires are two entirely different propositions.

A common method when washing a car is to mix kerosene with water. This is advisable when washing the body or wheels, to remove mud and dust from the varnish, but no kerosene should reach the tires because kerosene eats rubber. Water alone is best for washing tires. Soap and water will not injure the tire provided the tire is wiped clean with a sponge dampened with clean water and then dried with a well-wrung cloth.

In many sections of the country the main traveled highways are well oiled. After every run on an oil road it is imperative that the tires be washed thoroughly to make certain all oil is removed. If it is impossible, say the Goodrich Tire experts, to remove oil and dirt that has become caked on the tire with water alone, water slightly diluted with kerosene or gasoline may be used safely provided the tire is cleaned and perfectly dried afterwards.

THE THRIFT ARMY

War has changed not only the ideas of the world, but the habits of the world. Before the war, a penny here and a nickel there, made no difference, but now, a penny and a nickel are six cents, and only nineteen more cents would buy a Thrift Stamp. Practically the whole of this (Peirce) school now realizes this, and now, while Mrs. Stevens spurs us on untiringly, the nickels grow to dollars, and the dollars are suddenly transformed into green stamps each bearing the label—"War Saving Stamp."

The children now know the value of money, and also that work brings it in, and is the only steady thing that will. There is great rivalry between the classes as to which will receive the "Thrift Banner" which shows that the class bearing it has bought the most Thrift Stamps. The hours after school, though varying in number, are usually long enough to permit a member of the Thrift Army, although no one else could do it, to shovel the snow off the walks and earn half a dollar, or wash windows at four cents per, or wash dishes at the high rates of an expert. There are countless other ways to earn money, and there is no need to mention them, for everyone knows and practices them.

Uncle Sam has been in need of extra money for some time since we entered this war, and unless he gets it, soldiers will be without sweaters in winter, sailors will shiver in cheap, thin cloth instead of woolen or other heavy, warm robes, and necessary factories will stop working for lack of necessary things to run them. School children are as capable of doing "their bit" as any one, and, once informed of it, perform their part with great gusto. With all the millions of children in Uncle Sam's great estate, the United States, as many millions of dollars should be raised, and probably is.

If a civilian (member of the Thrift Army are, of course, not included) was asked to spell "thrift," he would spell it T-H-R-I-F-T, but Uncle Sam has taught his "Thrifters" a better way. The "T" turns into "truthful," the "H" into "helpful," the "R" is "rapid," the "I" is equally divided between being "industrious" and "ingenious." The "F" is "fearless," and the last "T" is "trustworthy," as every loyal citizen is, combined with the first "T's" meaning, "I" has excellent meanings for earning the money for Thrift Stamps and we should try to combine it with the meaning of "H" and "R," for the three make splendid companions. A good meaning for "W. S. S." besides "War Saving Stamp," is "W-ork, S-aving, S-elf-denial." Uncle Sam is an ingenious speller, and he also supplies us with good "battle cries," the Peirce Schools being:

Thrifty and true, thrifty and true, Uncle Sam, I'm for you.

So now three cheers for the red, white and blue.

Hip, hip, hurrah!

The Thrift Army, under the supervision of Mrs. Stevens, has done no end of good to anyone, except, perhaps, the candy-stores, and possibly the doctors. But perhaps they will forgive us, as it is all for our great country and Uncle Sam.

ALICE BRACE.

HORACE K. TURNER

Funeral services were held Wednesday for the late Horace K. Turner at the Chapel, Mt. Auburn cemetery. Mr. Turner was a member of the Peirce School of the Thrift Army, publisher in Boston of photographic prints. He died in Wellfleet, following an illness of several months. He was born at Quincy, Ill., forty-five years ago. Upon his retirement from the Horace K. Turner Company he organized the Children of America's Army of Relief. This was for work among school children throughout the United States, encouraging them to contribute toward the relief of orphaned and destitute children in the European countries devastated by war. The school children were urged to earn personally the sums they contributed for this general relief purpose and under Mr. Turner's leadership a total of $450,000 was thus raised by children in this country.

Mr. Turner was general secretary of the organization until it was merged with the general relief work of the Junior Red Cross. At the time of his death he was a resident of West Newton, but for ten years previous had lived in Oak Hill, Newton Center. He is survived by a widow and four children.

DEMONSTRATION AT TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL. ALL INVITED!

On Tuesday, June 18th, at 2.30 P. M. in the Lecture Hall of the Technical High School Dr. Eleanor Mellen of Amherst Agricultural College will demonstrate the making of cottage cheese from sweet milk, its value in the diet and its varied uses.

The time is coming very shortly when our use of meat will be further curtailed. It behooves us, then, to be prepared and no food can better replace meat than milk products.

The Newtonville District Committee of the Home Demonstration Work, who have arranged this meeting, extend a cordial invitation to everyone in the city who is interested. Come and learn from Dr. Mellen how and why the extended use of cottage cheese is included in the Food Administration program.

Dr. Mellen resides in Newton Highlands and is sent out by the Mass. Agricultural College to do this work.

GARDEN CUTWORMS

Cutworms are one of the most troublesome and destructive insect pests with which the gardener has to contend. We are all familiar with their work and anyone who has a garden has been the victim of its destructive work.

The most common form of cutworms are robust, soft, nearly smooth, caterpillars, varying in color from pale gray to black. The moths, night-flying, are about 1 to 1.34 inches across the expanded wings. The color varies from gray to brown, the fore-wings sometimes spotted or striped.

Cutworms are what are termed "general feeders," and destroy plants of every description, especially the young, tender plants which have just been set out from the greenhouse. Their method of attack, carried out at night, is to cut off the plants at about ground level. As the caterpillars are often of large size and always voracious feeders, they can cut off and destroy a great many plants in one night; in many cases more than they can entirely devour at one time.

By the proper application of remedies, however, this cutworm trouble can readily be controlled. The cutworm, after its destructive work, becomes full grown and enters the ground to change to pupae. This pupae stage is of variable duration, from a few days to a few weeks, according to temperature and other natural conditions. Then the moth emerges and resumes its functions of reproduction. The eggs are laid on sticks and grass. When the young hatch they feed on succulent plants until the approach of cold weather, when they enter the ground, half grown, to hibernate until spring, when they emerge to continue their work of destruction.

The best method of control is the use of poisoned bran. Thoroughly mix one-half pound of Paris Green and ten pounds of bran. Into this mixture put a quart of cheap molasses or syrup. Add enough water to make a dry, crumbly mash. Let this stand about two hours for the bran to take up the poison.

Scatter this bran thinly along the rows and about the base of the plants to be protected as soon as cutworms first appear. Toward evening is the best time to do this, as the worms feed at night.

Another simple control in small areas is to poke around in the soil about the plants which have been cut off. The culprit, after cutting a plant takes refuge about an inch below ground close to the plant, where it can readily be located.

Newton Committee on Public Safety, RAYMOND W. SWETT, Garden Expert.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The one hundredth performance of D. W. Griffith's stupendous production, "Hearts of the World," was celebrated at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, on Tuesday, June 11th. Apparently there is no waning in interest and enthusiasm over this splendid work of Mr. Griffith's, first shown at the Majestic Theatre on April 16, and which, by reason of its fine photography, patriotic appeal and great historical value, has placed it in the front rank of achievements. "Hearts of the World" is distinctive in that the war is not made the foremost feature, but a simple, beautiful love story of appealing tenderness runs through the entire production, the great struggle in France serving only as the background for this unfolding romance. Performances are given at the Majestic Theatre every afternoon and evening, including Sunday evening.

RECITAL

An excellent pianoforte program was rendered by some of the pupils of Miss Josephine G. Collier last Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Vendome in Boston. The various selections played, revealed careful instruction in technique and in musical interpretation. The recital was well attended by an appreciative audience. The following pupils from the Newtons played selections in the program: Marion Timbie, Carl Timbie, Edith Stevens, Lester Keene, Leslie Senior, Howard Rich, and Chester Senior. Miss Mildred Clark, and Master Malcolm Munger gave in a most captivating manner, a reading from the "School for Scandal."

DEATH OF E. E. ELMS

Mr. Edward Everett Elms, a life-long resident of Newton, died at his home, 25 Hunnewell avenue, last Thursday morning, after a prolonged illness. Mr. Elms outlived his wife only by a few days, as Mrs. Elms died on June 3rd.

He was educated in the Newton schools and in 1882 entered the employ of John B. Alley & Co., leather merchants on South street, Boston, becoming a partner with them about 1890. When the American Hide and Leather Company was formed the Alley tanneries were taken over and Mr. Elms became a director and member of the hide committee of the American Hide and Leather Company. A few years later he left the company and built and operated large sole leather tanneries at Hambleton, W. Va. About eight years ago these tanneries were destroyed by fire, and since that time Mr. Elms has been identified with the Proctor Ellison Company.

Three daughters, Mrs. Edward B. Benedict, Miss Helen T. Elms, and Miss Anna E. Elms, survive him.

Funeral services will be held at his late home, Saturday afternoon, June 15th, at 2.30. The burial will be private.

At the Elliot Congregational Church the services were held during the hour of morning worship, special music by the choir and Sunday School with the singing of patriotic hymns proving a pleasing part of the service. Baptist Convention preached an interesting sermon and serano solos were pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Alfred Edwards assisted by the school orchestra.

The services in the Channing Unitarian Church were also held in the morning. They were marked by an eloquent eulogy on the late Lieut. Henry Ware Clarke a member of this school and who recently lost his life at the front in France. Rev. Harry Lutz spoke in the highest terms of the Lieutenant and at the close of his remarks the congregation rose in a body in an expression of gratitude for the life given up for others, and sympathy for the bereaved family. Politics Analyzed.
"Politics," said Uncle Eben, "is sumpin' dat some folks would call gamblin' if it could be handled as quick as a horse race or a raffle."

Daily Thought.

They are such dear familiar feet that go along the path with ours—feet fast or slow, but trying to keep pace; if they mistake we must be mute, not turning to impute grave faults, for they and we have such a little way to go, can be together such a little while upon the way, we must be patient while we may.—George Kilgine.

Pebble Industry.
The flint pebble industry gives occupation to many women and children along the French coast between Havre and Dieppe. The pebbles collected in and near Havre are selected for their spherical shape, and are used for pulverizing in certain industries, particularly in the manufacture of cement and in copper mines, being employed in the interior of large cylinders.

Would Doom Species.
Harold was recovering from a case of typhoid fever and the doctor said he must drink plenty of buttermilk. Harold despised buttermilk, but he bravely drank the required amount.

One day when the nurse brought in an exceptionally large glass he looked at it sadly and said: "Gee, I just wish every buttermilk cow in the world was dead!"

His Vocation.
"I gave that youngster of mine a toy printing-press, a steam engine, a xylophone, a box of paints, and some other things to find out whether his tastes were artistic, mechanical, literary, or what—but the test didn't work." "Why, what did he do with them?" "Smashed them all up."

"Why man, it's as clear as day—he's going to be a furniture mover."—Boston Transcript.

NEW SAVING SYSTEM IN CHINA

Scheme Devised by Authorities Shows How Western Ideas Have Begun to Permeate the Country.

For the purpose of supplementing pensions given by the Chinese government to superannuated letter carriers a system has been inaugurated by the ministry of the interior, whereby the annual allowance may be raised to a livable income.

The new system provides for the deposit by postal employees of one-twentieth of their salaries, the deposits to bear interest at a rate not yet determined. Where postal savings banks have already been established they shall be used, and banks elsewhere will be authorized to undertake the handling of the accounts.

The plan is elastic in that it will benefit the contributor not only in his old age, but in case of accident or emergency. Money may be drawn out to a certain point for such expenses as illness, the marriage or death of a member of one's family, etc. Savings and accumulated interest will be paid in full or on installment plan to members retiring from the police force.

Before the savings system was put into operation it was submitted for approval to the officers of the police forces, who assembled in Peking for the purpose of discussing the matter. The ministry of the interior had their unanimous approval of the plan, and it is expected that officers of the provinces will also wish to adopt it.

GENIUS INSPIRED BY WAR

John Masefield, English Poet and Novelist, Sees Feast of Spiritual Conceptions in Future.

John Masefield, the poet and novelist, thinks that the devastating war in Europe by way of compensation will inspire great intellects such as flourished after the Napoleonic struggle: "We shall have new Darwins, Spencers and Carlyles with new messages that will reach the whole world. We shall have new Shelleys in poetry. People will feast upon new spiritual conceptions as remote as possible from the great tragedy. They will turn to the romantic and fantastic, the beautiful, just as they did after the Napoleonic wars."

That is a consummation devoutly to be wished. Certainly in the present dearth of genius it is gratifying to believe that the world has a new Shelley and a new Byron in the cradle, born at the outbreak of the war as they were born at the outbreak of the French revolution. Perhaps there are other Darwins and Spencers and Carlyles to come. But considering that the "First Principles" was published in 1862, "Sociology" in 1872 and the "Descent of Man" in 1871, did the Crimean war and our own Civil war have any part in inspiration? Shall we infer that the war between the states stimulated mid-Victorian literature while doing little to inspire American letters?—Exchange.

Sunken Treasure.

There is some consolation for Captain Kidd, after all. The present generation is about to revive the profession of searching for the treasure ships of the seas on a scale which, if he could know it, would stir the keenest interest. True, this age is not for men of his kind. He has been shamefully outdone in piracy, and now he will be out-captained in the salvage of buried treasure by reason of the stupendous plans which are being made for raising ships sunk by German submarines. At the end of the war charts and airships will, it is planned, locate the wrecks within the war zone. Coal will be sucked out of flooded holds by pipes, as vacuum cleaners draw up dust. Metal cargoes and steel plates will be recovered by magnets, acting in combination with powerful blasts of air. The romance of hunting for the gold of the Spanish galleons will be nothing to the romance of salvaging this the greatest fleet ever sent to the bottom. Is it possible that we may cross the Atlantic on the Lusitania once more?—Christian Science Monitor.

Mined!

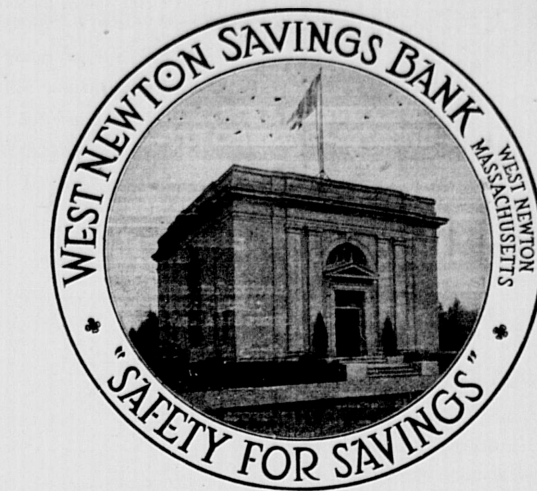

The makings of a small panic were present at a downtown dairy lunch a few days ago when a quantity of gas exploded with a noise like a German bomb, and the lid of the coffee pot ascended to the ceiling. At first all thoughts naturally turned to the war, and to the probability of the building being mined, and a few of the customers rose and were about to search for a means of exit.

Little damage was done, but a waiter who was observed in the act of trying to climb over the counter, was blushing furiously; and the waiter who was doing business with a lighted match just prior to the explosion remained for some time paler than usual.—Indianapolis News.

Swift Iceboat.

A strange winged sled has made its appearance on the smooth ice of Lake Placid in northern New York. Conditions being favorable for speed, it often sweeps along at a mile-a-minute clip, its tail gliding and its nose lifted in the air. Except for the fact that it doesn't fly, it might be described as a flying ice-boat. It consists essentially of a light frame supporting a monoplane and a 30 horse power motor with aerial propeller connected.

Diesel Engine to Have Test. The Diesel oil engine, which is working successfully in water craft of almost all tonnage, is to be thoroughly tested on European railroads.

Who Begot the Warfare?

THE trench, which was the basis of the German strategy, or camp, was brought into being by Julius Caesar and used by him on the very battlefield where today the Allies and the Huns have 20,000 miles of trenches. With rings of trenches, gradually drawn smaller, probably the first modern trench warfare, the Turks in 167 took Candia.

Vauban, builder of Verdun, in 1673 employed the first parallel trenches, the system of the present war.

Defeat, not foresight, turned the Germans to trench warfare. But Goodrich was there to dig in.

Since twenty-two years ago Goodrich has been the first American pneumatic tire, and the first Goodrich has driven ahead to the front.

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

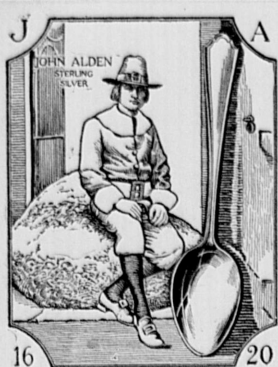

But whether Goodrich was revolutionizing the manufacture by bringing forth the first American pneumatic tire—
Or originating the one practical formula—the cross-bar, safety-tread, or tough black tread rubber—
Goodrich built tires to one end—SERVICE VALUE—that they are worth to the motorist on his car and on the road in every part of an entire riding career—ECONOMY in gasoline saved—AND LONG MILEAGE.

Small difference whether you buy GOODRICH SILVERTOWN CORDS, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

GARAGE FIRES

Section 78 of the regulations of the Fire Prevention Commissioner on garages prohibits smoking therein. Investigation has proven to us that this regulation is violated promiscuously in nearly every garage in the Metropolitan District. I believe few people realize how serious the consequences of the violation of this regulation may be. Gasoline vaporizes and emits an inflammable vapor at about 60 degrees F., which, when mixed with air in proper proportion, forms a high explosive. The ignition temperature of this explosive mixture is about 619 degrees F., while the temperature of the flame of a common match is above 900 degrees F. This vapor being about three times heavier than air, sinks to the floor and flows like water. This vapor is at all times present in garages and, if present in sufficient quantity, will ignite from a lighted cigar, pipe or cigarette. A great many serious fires have been caused by smoking in garages resulting not only in great property loss, but also in loss of life. The Newton police department has been notified to summon into court all violators of the regulations.

Fire Prevention Commissioner for the Metropolitan District.

THANKS RED CROSS

Camp Jackson, S. C.,
June 9, 1918.

Dear Editor:—
I am one of the eighty-eight draftees that left Newton for Fort Slocum, N. Y., last Monday, June the third.

I am taking the liberty of writing this letter in the hope that you will print all or parts of it, to show the people at Newton how good the Red Cross people were to us, all along the route to camp.

We left Newton at 9.45 A.M. on Monday, June third. Before we left Framingham post cards were passed to all of us and we were told the Red Cross would stamp and post them for us in Worcester. At Worcester the cards were collected, and we were given cigarettes, candy, and hot coffee by Red Cross girls.

We reached Fort Slocum at about 6 P.M. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday we spent at the Fort getting our uniforms and being examined, vaccinated and inoculated. Friday morning we left about ten o'clock on a boat for Jersey City, N. J. Here and gave us a lunch and hot coffee. They also gave us post cards to send home, and mailed them for us.

We boarded the train for South Carolina, and at one o'clock continued on our journey. The Red Cross at Philadelphia were waiting for us with ice cream, daily papers and cigarettes. We arrived in Washington about ten o'clock at night. Here we left the train, and the Red Cross gave us rolls and hot coffee. We spent the night sleeping as best we could and during the morning reached Raleigh, N. C. Here we again left the train and were well treated by the Red Cross. We then took a short hike to stretch the kinks out of our legs. We reached a small town called Hamlet, in South Carolina, about five o'clock. Here the Red Cross treated us to lemonade and fruit. Our next and last stop was Camp Jackson, which we reached about one o'clock this morning.

Do not think that all we had to eat was what was given us by the Red Cross. We carried our army food on the train with us, and took on hot coffee at various places.

The fellows certainly appreciated what the Red Cross has done for us so far, and it is in this small way that we can show the folks at home that the Red Cross should be helped every time they ask for help.

Yours truly,
J. SHERMAN IRVING, Pvt.,

NORUMBEGA PARK

Urged by news of the presentation of a splendid play, a great crowd saw a group of splendid players give A. H. Woods' funniest farce, "Mary's Ankle," at Norumbega Park last night, when the Liberty Players scored their biggest success thus far this season. "Mary's Ankle" has a peppery title and the story is full of thrills and laughter from start to finish, although it hardly lives up to (or down to) the suggestion contained in the title. Joan Quest adds more fame to the lustre she has already earned for herself in this season's engagement, and delighted her faithful admirers, as well as new friends by the excellence of her portrayal of the character of Mary Jane Smith.

Automobilists are making a Mecca of the beautiful Norumbega restaurant and are taking full advantage of the opportunities for dancing as well as for the enjoyment of splendid dinners, describing the music as "Divine" or "Great" according to their sex. Other thousands come on the electric cars, which are now the only open cars running out of Boston, and make splendid time to Boston's playground on the Charles. The canoeing has never been better in all the years the park has been in operation than right now, and the crowds who frequent the canoe float testify to its popularity. The zoo seems to have a visitors' throng ever before, and the little donkeys are the centre of a group of happy children from morning until night. In speaking of the popular features of the park, one must not forget the great merry-go-round, the bowling alleys, the giant swings or the women's orchestra.

THE SOLDIER BOY

He cometh not, he cometh ne'er,
But I am still his lady fair;
Though dark and night I look in vain,
Through rainbow hues, and through the rain.

Yes, I am still his Marguerite,
And soon he'll come, his love to greet;
So I will lie me to my home,
And then my liddle-boy will come.

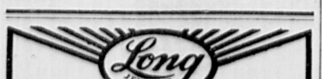

I'll wait beneath the hawthorn tree,
For there he'll surely come to me,
'Twas there he gave his promise true,
Beneath the sunny skies, so blue.

With touch of cap, and wave of hand,
He sped away to join his band,
The music waited back to me,
As he marched on beyond the lea.

Of times by day and oft by night,
I gaze afar into the light;
And backward rolls the sound to me,
Of music by the crystal sea.

He cometh not, he cometh ne'er,
But I am still his lady fair;
Sometime I know he'll call to me,
And my sad soul will then be free.
S. EVELYN THOMPSON.

MEN NEEDED FOR PATRIOTIC SERVICE

The great opportunity for men at home to do real patriotic service and at the same time have an interesting line of recreational work is offered by the Boy Scout organization.

There are plenty of boys available, but they lack leaders, and unless more men step forward and help with the work, it will be impossible for the Scouts to handle the various lines of Community Service that they are expected to do and are ready and willing to do under proper leadership.

During the past year, fifteen Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters in Newton, Needham and Wellesley have gone into the army and navy. A few men of the highest type, recognizing the importance of the service, have actively taken up the work, but there is great need for more such men to serve as Scoutmasters or Assistant Scoutmasters in nearly all localities.

The organization is well laid out and each scout troop has its own community to serve, but if a link in the chain is missing, the work cannot be done.

Here are the boys' time, energy, ambition and willingness going to waste in war time for lack of sufficient leadership.

What is more important to the community than the proper handling of this great reserve, which quickly develops into first line forces?

No man need be deterred by his lack of knowledge of Scout requirements. What the boys need is leadership. The necessary instruction can be arranged. The Federal Government and national organizations are constantly calling upon the Boy Scouts to act as distributors of information and to assist in Liberty Loan and War Savings Work. This district has a large number of Scouts in proportion to the population, and even with the present number, no scout need have more than twenty to twenty-five houses to cover in a house-to-house canvass, but without a Scoutmaster to direct the work in each village, it can not be systematically done.

Are the men available as officers going to be the slackers in the work behind the lines? Men should ask themselves whether they cannot use some of their time to better advantage than they are using it now, and whether the direction of a live organization in the conduct of war service and in the development of good citizens may not be more effective than their most strenuous individual activities.

By getting a sufficient staff, no man need be overburdened. What is sorely needed now is a goodly number of men who will volunteer for this patriotic and honorable service and who, next to business, will put Scouting first.

Volunteers will please send their names to J. C. Irwin, District Commissioner, 43 Highland avenue, Newtonville, Mass., who will put them in touch with their local Troop Committee.

A SERIOUS AFFAIR

A Serious Affair may have its numerous features as in the case of screening windows, doors and porches to keep out the flies. The average person has been educated to understand the danger of allowing the fly to secure an entrance, but very few people give much thought to the matter until the pest makes its appearance in the spring, and then comes a hurry call for wire screens to be procured on the minute.

The Crown Window Shade Co., of 44 Bromfield street, Boston, say that while many a person knows that he will need screening he does not take the precaution to order until the pests have made their appearance, and then is when the manufacturer is abused in being so slow in making delivery. The Victory Plant at Squantum is a tremendous affair, but if it were equipped to manufacture wire screens it would not be large enough to fill orders of this kind. A do it now suggestion concerns the health of the nation.

THE UNIFYING INFLUENCE OF THE WAR

"In my own mind I am convinced that not a hundred years of peace could have knitted this Nation together as this single year of war has knitted it together, and, better even than that, if possible, it is knitting the world together. Look at the picture: In the center of the scene 4 nations engaged against the world, and at every point of vantage showing that they are seeking selfish aggrandizement; and against them 23 Governments representing the greater part of the population of the world, draw together into a new sense of community of purpose a new sense of unity of life." SPECIAL AID

A Word To Sock Knitters

The Red Cross is making a drive this month for socks and the Special Aid has been asked to assist in getting the 625 pairs which the work rooms at the Y. M. C. A. are to furnish. In addition to these, the Special Aid is asking its knitters to make an average of 300 pairs of socks a month for the next four months to fill the regular pledges and to have ready October 1, 1000 pairs for Lt. Com. Ware. Careful attention on the part of knitters to a few details will lighten the labor of those whose duty it is to inspect the work.

1. Never tie or leave knots in wool. Weave ends of wool together for from four to six inches.
2. Be sure that your socks are mates. A man's feet are usually the same size. His socks should be also.
3. Never leave long ends of wool on inside of socks. Weave them in smoothly, always running thread lengthwise rather than across.
4. Make soft, smooth toes. A "Kitchen Toe" is by far the best, but it must be correctly made, or it is the worst toe possible. Never leave hard ridges and never sew "over and over". Weave the wool in and out with fine stitches, feeling carefully on both inside and outside to make sure there are no hard knots or lumps.
5. Do not make pointed toes.

Mrs. E. M. Moore, chairman of the Special Aid knitting committee will be very glad to meet by appointment at the Y. M. C. A. anyone who wishes help or suggestions about finishing socks.

NOTICE

The work-rooms of the different War Relief Societies will be closed on Monday, June 17, but it is hoped that a goodly number of workers will be on hand the following day and every day thereafter.

LASELL SEMINARY

On Tuesday there was graduated a class of 55 girls from Lasell Seminary, Auburndale. Prior to the exercises the girls assembled in the chapel and the list of prize winners was read. Tuesday morning at the last chapel service of the year, the principal, Dr. Guy M. Winslow, presented Miss Helen Gladys Keniston of 466 Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay, who is a sophomore, with a tiny gold pin shaped like a loaf of bread, which is the most coveted of Lasell's annual trophies, and a feature since 1876 for the best bread-maker in the seminary where good housekeeping is the most important subject taught. To Miss Anita D. Hotchkiss of Seymour, Conn., was given a silver loaf, representing second prize, while honorable mention went to Marjorie Kunkel of Bluffton, Ind., and Helen R. Warner of Farmington, Mich. The last three are seniors.

At noon the seminary graduated a class of 55 at the Auburndale Congregational Church. The program was simple. There was music by the violin, harp and organ, prayer was offered by Rev. Percival M. Wood, an address was given by Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, principal of the Phillips Andover Academy, and Dr. Guy M. Winslow presented the diplomas. In the afternoon were held the alumnae luncheon and reunion. Monday evening, despite the threatening weather, the usual class night exercises were carried out on the campus. Including the torchlight parade of the seniors to bid farewell to the various school buildings. The guests were welcomed by the senior president, Miss Dorothy Barnes. The class prophecy, in which stereotyped and motion pictures played a prominent part, was the joint production of Edith M. Powell, Margaret McIntyre, and Helen Warner; while Lois A. Nichols read the class rollcall. Elsie Kimball read the class poem, and under the heading of mementoes, Amy Tutill bequeathed the various curios to the undergraduates. The class gift, which was a liberty bond, was presented to the school by the vice-president, Grace Treadway, and she gave the farewell address of the class. The procession then formed and marched to the main building, Cushman Hall, where a farewell was given by Lucinda Obermeyer. The farewell to Carpenter Hall, one of the senior dormitories, was said by Huldah Matthews, and to Gardner Hall by Ruth Newcomb. Then the customary bonfire was lighted and as Lydia Adams recited a weird litany, each girl cast upon it some hated or cherished object.

The graduates include:—

The public is cordially invited to attend the services and to use the Reading Room at 297 Walnut street, Newtonville, which is open daily from 2 to 6 in the afternoon, and on Tuesday and Saturday evenings from 7:30 until 9.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO TO STOP SUCH THINGS?

President Wilson, while reviewing the Red Cross parade in New York, was greeted by a Canadian soldier, invalided home from the front, who had been taken into the Canadian Army despite the fact that he was 54 years old when the authorities learned that his son was one of those that German soldiers crucified on a barn door. What would you do to stop such flagrant things? Do you think it much of a sacrifice to pledge yourself to save and to buy War Savings Stamps?

IN MEMORIAM

To William Henry Fanning
May 19th, 1918

There is a mystery little understood,
How unto evil we surrender good;
For since by man came death we must succumb
To that destroyer, with a spirit dumb.
For since the world began death has been found
To be a silent thief the world around;
It snatches from the loving mother's breast,
The child which there in confidence doth rest.

It takes the youth, who, like the budding flower,
Unfolds its beauty every passing hour;
The maiden sweet before life's duty calls,
Before the Reaper Death in beauty falls.

Young man and maiden in maturer years,
Has naught to say when this rude thief appears;
The loving husband from his wife is torn,
The mother young must leave her babe just born.

And aged parents who would gladly lean
On their devoted children's arms I ween,
Are of this comfort robbed when needed most.
So 'tis not well for our proud hearts to boast.

And in their turn the old are called to give
To cruel Death, the life which they would live;
So when the heart this ruthless hand must feel,
We need a soothing balm its wounds to heal.

The kindly word and sympathetic touch
Of loving friend, will always comfort much;
But Faith looks up to God, that unseen Friend,
Whose promises bid us on Him depend.

So in thy deepest sorrow friends look up,
Christ has already drank the bitter cup;
He knows how deep the sword has pierced thy heart,
And ever ready stands to do His part.

Look not upon the grave that holds the form
Of thy departed son, through wind and storm;
Look up to Him who in the realms above,
Holds in his loving care the one you love.

He will give peace if you but yield the will
To Him whose word, bid bolsterous waves "be still,"
"He doeth all things well" and has in mind
Your broken hearts, which He in love will bind.

PRESIDENT HENRY I. HARRIMAN of the Boston Chamber of Commerce

WOMEN'S WAR SAVINGS SERVICE! JUNE DRIVE

Uncle Sam asks the co-operation of every man, woman and child to keep his War-Chest full continuously. He wants no "Feast and Famine." He must know what he can count upon month by month to meet his war programme of expenditures. He asks everyone to save continuously and loan him the savings continuously. He offers gift edge, non-depreciable securities, at 4 per cent compound interest, cashable anytime, anywhere. These are the War Savings Stamps, price $4.17 each this month. Look ahead, and estimate how many you can buy for yourself or your children, before Jan. 1919. Then write it down on one of the cards the women will take to your house or office. Be ready for the "Uncle Sam Sales Agent"—assist her in her work! Aim high—if you are sure you can buy 50 W. S. before Jan., write down 75 and if you are ill, and can't buy that number your conscience will tell you if you have Done Your Best. That is the heart of the matter. That is our slogan, not "Do Your Bit" but "Do Your Best!" This is not a philanthropy, but a Patriotic Duty—a blending of patriotism and personal investment. Massachusetts has lagged in this War Savings society work—only No. 37—among the states. Do your part to wipe out this disgrace. Put her up at the top where she belongs, for a per capita pledge. Every child can buy Thrift Stamps, and estimate how many in the next 29 weeks—and therefore how many War Savings Stamps are equivalent and sign up for that number. Every adult should likewise sign up for them weekly, monthly or in a lump sum, at their convenience during the next six months. Twenty-five men and women in Newton Corner have been nominated as members of "Newton's Limit Club." Those who have already joined by the purchase or promise to "Go the Limit" buying $1000 worth (price $834 this month) are Mrs. Frank Day, and Messrs. Frederick J. Fawcett, Benj. S. Hinckley, Edward Converse, James E. Clark, F. M. Sheldon, Eben Ellison, Samuel Hyslop, and Loren D. Towle, an associate member, $500 purchase. J. Nason Hamlin is president of the Greater Boston Club, and sends membership recognition. It is hoped Newton Corner's quota will soon be filled. Phone the chairman at Newton North 1876 for information. The headquarters for Newton Corner is corner Centre and Washington street formerly Hudson's Drug Store. Cards can be signed there 9:30 to 12, and 2 to 6 o'clock daily. Remember without your help the work cannot be a success!

GARDEN FETE

Products from the farm and garden, strolling players, and an entertainment for the little ones were some of the features of the Garden Fete given for the benefit of Denison House on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Sayles, 263 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, last Saturday. In the afternoon the library of Mrs. Sayles's house was transformed into a Syrian interior and many heirlooms in the possession of some of the Syrian families were loaned for the occasion. Turkish coffee and sweets were served here and there was an exhibit of folk handicraft. On the lawn there was a gift table with practical articles for sale in charge of Mrs. G. Winthrop Brown. At the war delicacies table there was a collection of breads, cakes and sweets with their recipes, in charge of Mrs. Howard L. Rogers. The amateur farmers needs were supplied from the farm and garden table, with Mrs. William A. Copeland in charge, and Mrs. Granville Johnson, a student of the occult impersonated the queen of the Gypsies and read the future for those who crossed her palm. In the open air theatre at one end of the garden there were continuous performances of music, acting and sword dancing by some of the Denison House players, and throughout the afternoon there was a band of strolling musicians who played the characteristic music of the various nations.

For the children there were many treats, such as ponies, grabs, ice-cream cones, lemonade, and popcorn. Tea and refreshments were served in the English garden which was particularly beautiful with its display of peonies, irises, larkspur, Canterbury bells, and rhododendrons. Mrs. Arthur N. Hood had charge of planning the refreshments.

one to number three. The drop is not one that discourages the officials of the Newton Branch because the rating as made up counts work done as two thirds towards the rating and new members gained as one third. Newton still leads in the amount of work done but as so many thousands of Newton people joined the Red Cross either at the end of the September campaign for members or before there are not so many left to secure as new members. However if the few in Newton who are not members are desirous of making it unanimous all they have to do is to send one dollar to Mr. George Royal Pulsifer, Treasurer of the Newton Branch of the Red Cross, Talbot House, Newtonville, and a membership card and button will be forwarded immediately to them.

The Red Cross call for more nurses for war work has helped to put Newton in the front again. The Newton Hospital and its Nurses Training Annex have done pioneer work in training nurses for the war and are still at it. Miss Riddle's work is being watched and studied by hospitals all over the country. Of the 200 graduates of the Newton Hospital who are eligible by age and physical condition for war work seventy are already enlisted and more will go undoubtedly as soon as circumstances will permit.

WORK APPRECIATED

The directors of the Newton Branch of the Red Cross, at their June meeting on Monday evening of this week, by unanimous vote, placed upon record their appreciation of the work of Mr. Henry J. Nichols, and the committee of which he was the chairman, through which Newton's quota of the Red Cross War Fund was subscribed more than three times over, and also their appreciation of the work of Mr. Horton S. Allen, and the committee of which he was the chairman, which made Newton's part in the Boston Red Cross parade so successful and creditable a presentation of the Newton Red Cross. At the same time the directors wish the people of Newton to know they realize it is due to the enthusiasm and the generosity of the people of the city, in giving both of their time and their money in support of the Red Cross, that the Newton Branch has been able to do the work it has done, is doing and will continue to do. So long as this interest and generosity of the people of Newton continues, the Newton Branch of the Red Cross will be able to stand at the very front among all the branches connected with the Metropolitan Chapter.

RED CROSS PACKERS WANTED

Newton Workers Asked to Pitch In and Help in the Work at 1000 Washington Street, Boston

Big things are just smaller things on a bigger scale. Everybody knows the saying "The man is but the child of larger growth." Across the ocean the Allies, to win the war, depend upon a great reserve army, an army of maneuver, with which to strengthen their line where it is attacked and with which to deliver finally the finishing stroke to the enemy. On a smaller scale the American Red Cross must depend upon its workers to organize as armies of maneuver to attack and complete work that ought to be done. In the Metropolitan district the workers in the different branches have completed the making of a number of surgical dressings and other articles that must be packed and forwarded to the front for use. At 1000 Washington street, entrance at 1020, there is a great deal of such work to be done and a need of workers to do it. In the making of the articles the workers of the Newton Branch have stood at the head and if now they will resolve themselves in to an army of maneuver and help in the work of packing they will give another proof of their right to the reputation they have made. The work goes on every day morning and afternoon and there is an opportunity to get luncheon. The more there are who go in from Newton the quicker will the work be done and the better will be the record made for Newton.

FOURTH ANNUAL OUTING

Next Thursday, June 27th, is the date set for the annual outing of the business men of Newton under the auspices of the Board of Trade. An automobile squadron will convey the members from the Board of Trade office at Newton Corner at 1.45 to the Relay House, Bass Point, where there will be a ball game, track events and other forms of amusements.

A special chicken and lobster dinner will be served at 5 o'clock and at this time prizes will also be awarded to the winners of the various contests. It is expected that the outing will be the best yet held and to that end President Sidney R. Porter and the entertainment committee, John H. Gordon, chairman, have spared no pains.

All men of Newton are welcomed and for further information including price of tickets, telephone the Board of Trade office, Newton North 201. Harold Moore, secretary.

SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED

Church of Sacred Heart Has Great Patriotic Festival

A large service flag bearing one hundred and thirty stars was unfurled in front of the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, before one of the largest crowds that this village has seen for many years. The flag represents the men of the parish who are now engaged in some form or other, of service for this government, and the large number is a splendid example of the patriotism and willingness on the part of Newton's young men to sacrifice their all for the good of others.

Prior to the flag exercises there was a street parade with many organizations representing religious, military and civic societies in the line of march which led thru the principal streets of the section. An outstanding feature of the program, however, was the presence of several of our leading citizens, United States Senator John W. Weeks, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Hon. Michael J. Murray, Justice of the Municipal Court, Boston, Rev. Fr. T. A. Curtin, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, and Lieut. James A. Waters of Camp Devens, each of whom gave intensely interesting addresses.

The parade was led by Mr. A. W. Moriarty as chief marshal and made a splendid appearance especially as it passed in front of the church and was reviewed by Senator Weeks, Mayor Childs, Fr. Curtin and others. The make-up of the parade was as follows:

Platoon of Police, Sergt. Seaver, commanding; Aides; Waltham Watch Co. Band; Co. A. 11th Regt. M. S. C. Capt. Waldron H. Rand, Jr., commanding; Fathers of Boys of Parish in the service on foot; Mothers of Boys of Parish in the service in autos; Float bearing 58 children who had just received their first communion; Boy Scouts; Working Boys' Home Life and Drum Corps; Holy Name Society, each member bearing flag; Italian members of Parish; Float bearing Miss Columbia (Miss Priscilla Vachon) and attendants, and Boys and Girls of Parish.

On the steps of the church over a hundred young girls, who, as they sang "The Star Spangled Banner," to the accompaniment of the band, pulled together on the cords which released the two flags, the National colors and the service flag which bore the 130 stars in the form of a cross.

Speeches by the honored guest were then in order, Mr. Edmund F. Butler presiding and introduction the orators who, each in turn, were accorded much applause.

Rev. T. A. Curtin was the first speaker and urged his parishioners to keep up the good work of the parish in responding to the country's needs, adding that there was no doubt but what the 130 men already in the service representing the parish, were as fine a lot of young men as could be found anywhere. "And what we say of our parish," he emphasized, "we can say of any Catholic parish in the United States for we glory in the fact that 50 per cent of the Army is made up of Catholics. We are lovers of the United States Government, and the principles it represents and are the fondest defenders of its sacred institutions. That patriotism everywhere manifested, by them is learned from the teachings of the Catholic Church."

Mayor Childs paid a tribute from the city to the men in the service saying that the city was ever ready to honor them, living or dead. "These boys heard their country's call and answered it," he said, "and help constitute a great army made up of men from varied walks of life and of various creeds, yet shoulder to shoulder in tent, in the field, at the mess table, they are the guardians of the greatest republic on earth. True Americans, loving peace, hating war, they go out from this parish resolved to preserve the blessings of liberty. The call today is for men; it comes with the same force to one and all and the manner in which he answers that call stamps him as a patriot or a slacker."

Senator Weeks then paid the nation's respects to the men in service and to their parents, particularly the mothers. He reminded his audience that all at home must do their bit in assuming war's burdens if our country is to be victorious, and declared that no odium attaches to the word "conscripted."

"In other wars," the senator said, "we have sent our boys to fight unprepared. Congress took care that that should not be said of the present conflict, so we spent 150 millions of dollars in building cantonments in which to prepare to fight well. We pay them twice as much as any other country; we provided for allowances to be made by the Government to take care of dependents; we provided for war insurance and a compensation act. These provisions had the unanimous sentiment of all. We have sent our boys to the other side to fight our battles without complaint, to make this sacrifice for us. Are we doing all we can to promote their success? That we must answer for ourselves. Everyone knows what he can do to aid his Government. Let everyone ask am I doing all I can to promote the cause. If you are not you are a slacker and there are not many slackers in Massachusetts. The outcome of this struggle means either freedom for the world or else a military subservience, a thing we cannot conceive of. Do not abate in any degree your efforts to promote the success of the cause where so much is at stake, or else we are untrue to democracy, ourselves and to the boys on the other side."

LAWN FETE

The lawn fete for the benefit of the French orphans which was held at the residence of Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson on Walnut street, Newton Highlands, last Wednesday evening, was a great success.

The play entitled "The Story of a Poplar Tree" was given on the green-sward with a background of trees and shrubbery. The children who took part were: Victoria Williams as the maple tree; Dorothy Goddard, oak tree; Lillian Monk, willow tree; Evelyn Burdick, pine tree; Ruth Lewis, fir tree; Ruth Hutchinson, birch tree; Evelyn Ellis, hemlock tree; Ruth Thompson, poplar tree; Fate, a voice; Helen Clark, queen of the fairies; Olive Berger, king of the fairies; other fairies, Dorothy Jordan, Ruth Sampson, Nettie Whitaker, Clara Dillaway, Virginia Hutchinson, Dorothy Swatt, Katherine Bailey, Elizabeth Raye, Dorothy Brown, Dorothy Rust, and Dorothy Thompson. There was a great demand for the candy and ice cream.

The committee tenders grateful thanks to all those who co-operated in the success of the evening.

EIGHTH WEEK AT THE POPS

The season of Pop Concerts in Symphony Hall has but two weeks more to run, and the eighth week beginning Monday, June 24, promises to have two of the biggest nights of the season.

Monday night, June 24, will be the second "Italian Night." The first "Italian Night" given earlier in the season was an enormous success, so much so that many of the Italians of Boston, and particularly the Dante Alighieri Society, requested that a second evening devoted to Italian music be given.

Wednesday evening, June 26, will bring the annual "Request" program of the season. Mr. Jacchia is building his program according to the requests very closely, and it is safe to say that the program will contain all the favorites of the repertoire.

THRIFT STAMP TEA

Thrift Stamp Day, June 28, will be observed by the Aunburndale Woman's Club in the form of a Thrift Stamp Tea. From 3 until 5 the club will entertain members and guests at the home of the president, Mrs. A. W. Lane, 7 Williston road. There will be no admission fee, but each guest is expected to buy one thrift stamp or more. Weather permitting, tea will be served on the lawn. If the day be stormy, there will be good cheer for all indoors. Everybody welcome.

Over three hundred high school pupils of Greater Boston have signified their intention of participating in the Idea Competition instituted by H. P. Hood & Sons. Its purpose is to encourage the expression of any artistic tendencies that high school pupils may possess and also to stimulate a greater degree of appreciation of the value of milk as a food, and its importance to all who are trying to practice the wisest kind of economy. The competition calls for the submission of ideas suitable for use as posters and closes on July 1, 1918, when the decision as to the award of seventy-five dollars worth of War Savings Stamps will be made by the following judges:—Theodore M. Dillaway, Director of Art Education, Public Schools, Boston; Major P. F. O'Keefe, P. F. O'Keefe Advertising Agency, Boston; Henry Davis, President of The Stetson Press, Inc., Boston.

It is planned to have a public exhibition of the prize-winning designs following the competition, the details of which will be announced later.

NEWTONIANS PROMINENT IN ROTARY

On Tuesday evening a meeting of the board of directors of the Boston Rotary Club was held at the Newton Club, important work of forming committees and arranging for the ensuing season being directed by President Arthur W. Blackman. The present group of officers and board of directors is composed of a large number of Newtonians. The vice-president is Charles H. Simons, of Cabot street, and the treasurer is Bancroft Goodwin of Newton Corner. On the board are Fred M. Blanchard, Allen D. Cady, LeSaur T. Collins, all of Cabot street, and the immediate past president, also a member of the board, is William C. Bambridge, of Mount Vernon street. There are about forty members of the club who are residents of Newton all having businesses in Boston.

Mr. Bambridge was unanimously nominated for the district governorship of the New England district of twenty Rotary clubs in the six states last February, at the district conference. He goes to Kansas City on Saturday, 22d, with the New England delegation of nearly eighty Rotarians from the district, and about ten members from the Canadian provinces. His election takes place in Kansas City. At his retirement from the presidency the club members presented to him a purse of $250 in gold, and the club gave him a gold badge indicating his past presidency.

About two thousand business men of New England are now included in this Rotarian movement, which consists of over 400 clubs in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Cuba, and Hawaii. About 42,000 members are now enlisted, and many of the important committees engaged in war activities are directed by Rotarians in all parts of the country. The Fostick commission is almost completely Rotarian in membership, and many from such authority as Dr. McCullum that only a few foods do we find vitamins or growth producing elements, and that the leaf greens are one of these foods, we immediately put more value on green vegetables.

DOING FINE WORK

Sergt. David E. Putnam, formerly of Waban, is reported to have downed five Germans on June 10. Three of his aerial victories are now official, and the others are under investigation. This record, if the five victories are officially accredited, makes his total thirteen, and causes him to supplant Lieut. Frank Baylies of New Bedford, Mass., as the American ace of aces.

The feat accredited Sergeant Putnam as the most notable performed by an American aviator. Lieut. Rene Fonck, a French ace, on May 9 brought down six German machines. Capt. H. W. Wollett of the British Royal Flying Corps has been reported to have brought down thirteen enemy planes in one day. The despatch from Paris indicates that two aerial victories placed to Sergeant Putnam's credit have not so far been reported. His sixth triumph in the air was announced on June 7, and nothing since that time has been received relative to other German machines being brought down. First Lieutenant Baylies is officially credited with twelve enemy airplanes.

Sergeant Putnam is a descendant of Israel Putnam. On April 23 it was announced that he had been awarded the War Cross by the French government.

FLAG FESTIVAL

The Women Associates of Newton Highlands are feeling very happy over the success of their Flag Festival, held on the Hyde School grounds, June 13.

The community spirit was at its best as the good-natured, generous crowds filled the grounds and speedily depleted the stores of desirable articles which had been collected by industrious women. The departments with their chairmen, were as follows:—Head, Chairman, Mrs. Tewksbury; Household, Mrs. Cameron; Kitchen Necessities, Mrs. Bicknell; Liberty Food, Mrs. Sandford; War Candy, Mrs. Coleman; Ice Cream, Mrs. Swift; Tonics, Mrs. Garrity; White Elephant, Mrs. Kingman; Plymouth Colony, Mrs. Fletcher; Work, Mrs. Foster; Grabs, Mrs. Bowen; Fortune Teller, Mrs. Jones; Miss Salmon; Tags, Mrs. Miller; Publicity, Mr. Huntsman; Entertainment, Mrs. Dillaway.

Much credit is due the men's Committee—Mr. Mellen, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Drowne, Mr. McKay—whose efforts were most successful. The day was a social as well as financial success, for everyone had a good time, and over $2000 was netted.

SPINACH

Help the market gardeners as well as yourselves!

Mr. Jenks of our Horticultural Department, after going over the market garden situation near Boston, says that the market gardeners are having trouble in disposing of their spinach. Very soon it will have to be plowed under. The price at the present time is extremely low, and we are assured that it never will be any cheaper.

We are beginning to realize the value of spinach, and other leaf greens in the diet. When we learn from such authority as Dr. McCullum that only a few foods do we find vitamins or growth producing elements, and that the leaf greens are one of these foods, we immediately put more value on green vegetables.

Can you not buy a bushel or more of spinach, and can or dry it immediately? There is little or no trouble connected with the preserving of spinach. The directions for canning are as follows:

Wash the spinach thoroughly, tie it in a cheesecloth bag and steam twenty minutes. Do not put the spinach into hot water to blanch, as in that method, nearly all the valuable mineral content is lost. Plunge immediately into cold water just for a moment and pack into clean jars, pressing the spinach down well. Add one teaspoonful of salt to the quart, do not add any water, put on the rubber, adjust the cover and sterilize in boiling water ninety minutes, counting the time after the water begins to boil. When the sterilization period is completed, remove the jar from the hot water bath, snap down the cover, sealing it tightly.

Do what you can to save the crop.

ELOCUTION RECITAL

The elocution recital at the Hunnewell Club last Saturday evening was of more than ordinary interest. It was given by the pupils of Ethel Tupper Maxim for the benefit of the 101st Engineers. The recital netted about $100. This indicates commendable enterprise on the part of the participants.

Among those taking part were: Madeline Cannon, Alice Williamson, Ethel Bailey, Frances Gotshall, Reta Snow, Lucy Young, Phyllis Cooper, Francis Martin, Doris Mantion, Sigrid McNeilly, Anna Bartlett, Myrtle Cooper.

The pianist was Arline Flint.

And it will be more than a money compensation, you may be very sure.

History of Freedom of Speech.

The issue of free speech is really modern, and emerged clearly as a defensible proposition only with Milton's Areopagitica, to be followed by the widely divergent reasoning of Jeremy Taylor and Joseph Glanville, and by Locke's classical first "Letter on Toleration" (1689), which says almost the last word on the matter so far as religious differences are concerned.—James H. In the grounds of Hillsborough castle, County Down, he has a miniature railway. The small train consists of an engine, one carriage and a guard's van; if need be he can travel at the rate of 40 miles an hour. The marquis has a fairly long string of Christian names—Arthur Willis John Wellington Blundell Trumbull Hill—and part of these he owes to the marriage of his ancestor, the second marquis.

NORUMBEGA PARK

Next week the Liberty Players will present "Marrying Money," which can only be described as "some play" from start to finish.

Popular as the Liberty Players are, however, Norumbega has other attractions which bring thousands of people out to this popular resort on the Charles every day. The canoeing is excellent, and has never been more popular, although bevy of girls now come alone, rather than the couples that one has been used to in former years. The big, cool restaurant daily brings throngs to enjoy the food and the dancing, some coming in automobiles and others in the big open cars which are now practically the only ones running out of Boston. The zoo is perhaps better this year than ever before, and the kiddies are delighted with the donkeys.

JOURNEYS

A JOURNEY THAT WAS UNNECESSARY

"Hello! Mr. Jameson, this is Kennedy of Bangor, Maine. Just arrived in New York this morning and I want to close that deal with you today, if possible. When will it be convenient for me to see you?"
 "Well, Mr. Kennedy, I didn't expect you and I am going to leave town in about half an hour to be absent two or three days. Why can't we settle it right now over the telephone?"
 "All right, Mr. Jameson, that is perfectly agreeable to me."

The deal was closed and Mr. Kennedy returned to Bangor without seeing Mr. Jameson at all. Of course he could have accomplished this just as well by telephoning from Bangor and thus saved three days' time and about $40 traveling expenses. And he hadn't even used the telephone to ascertain if Mr. Jameson would be in town.

A JOURNEY THAT WAS AVOIDED

"Hello! Is that you Mary? I'm so glad to hear your voice. Have just received your letter about John's illness. How is he today? I want so much to be with him and will come if necessary, but Marion is ill, too, and it's hard for me to leave home."
 "Mother, I'm so glad you telephoned me before leaving home, for the doctor has just been here and says that John is very much better, so it really is not necessary for you to come."
 "That is indeed good news. I'm glad that I telephoned you before starting."

WHEN YOUR OWN'S IN KHAKI

Army Takes on an Entirely New Aspect to Relatives and Friends of Enlisted Men.

It makes all the difference in the world when your own's in uniform, observes the Columbus Dispatch. You may think you have a proper appreciation of the soldier; you may feel that you are patriotic; you may suppose that you are doing all you can to help win the war. But you will know nothing about appreciating a soldier, or about patriotism, or about sacrifice, until one of your own puts on a uniform.

All of which is suggested by a little incident of a recent football game at the university, when the soldiers were drilling. Few noticed it—for it was not intended to be noticed—but the few who did notice it grew mellow and sympathetic, and left the grounds feeling that the world does not realize the human suffering that is endured by the women of this country at this time.

A woman sat in one of the lower priced seats. She came unattended. No one seemed to pay any attention to her. She was dressed demurely, with a dark veil about her eyes. She knew nothing about football; that was not what she went out to the grounds to see. Her eyes were fastened upon the uniforms; that was her object—to behold the boys in khaki. And she sat there while they were going through their drill, and wiped a tear from her eye occasionally, and her bosom heaved with emotion, and she spoke to no one about her. When the soldiers left the field she also left, unnoticed by the throng.

Her own boy wears a uniform. That was the sorrowful secret which she held. He is "somewhere in France." She knew none of these boys before her, but her own wears a uniform; that was enough. And so she sat there, thinking, praying, sympathizing, loving these lads who are clad as her boy is clad. It was a great game of football—perhaps!

SALVAGE SHIPS WITH FLOATS

Sunken Vessels May Be Brought to Surface by New Collapsible Device Recently Invented.

A novel method of salvaging sunken ships has been devised by Dr. Sylvio Pellico Portella, of Rio de Janeiro, says the Popular Science Monthly.

The invention consists of a specially built tender which carries collapsible floats made of waterproof material. The floats occupy very little space until they are put into use and inflated. They are constructed in such a manner that they will assume a number of different shapes when they are inflated.

Taken down to the wreck by divers, they are attached to the vessel both inside and outside and are connected with the tender by lines of hose. When in place they are inflated by air pressure from the tender. As they swell, they displace the water from within as well as from without, and their buoyancy causes the wreck to float upward to the surface.

Way They Have in the Army.

You begin to learn that the army has ways of its own, and that its ways are not civilian ways, pretty soon after you get into it, observes a writer in the Saturday Evening Post. Orders that must be obeyed without question and without delay, telling you to do things that you have never done before, and don't know why you are doing now, always make a civilian gasp a little at first. You discover that to question and to seek to discover the motive and ultimate aim of any order that you do not understand is purely instinctive. You ask yourself quite automatically: "Why should I do this?" or "Shall I do this?" When you have been in the army a little while you discover that the answer is "Yes."

There is no other answer, so after a while you quit asking yourself foolish questions. This is what may be called "the effect of discipline." We Americans are always being told that we are the most undisciplined people on earth; that we do as we please and that a rigorously ordered life and discipline would do us good and make us more effective. Well, I am here to state that the theory and belief is now being tested out in about a million of us, and if after the war we don't come in out of the rain we will be because there is nobody there to tell us to come in.

Motion Pictures in Bahamas.
 A communication has been received by the American consulate from a citizen of Nassau, writes Consul W. F. Doty, Nassau, Bahamas, stating that a movement is on foot to obtain motion pictures of a high character for use in that city. The kinds of film desired are: Animated weekly, adventure, scenic and natural history, well-known books, plays, folk stories, etc., and humor without vulgarity. It is proposed that pictures shall be supplied fortnightly, with a reserve of two weeks in stock, to cover irregularities of delivery.

Her Narrow Escape.
 One day, when Dorothy's mother was reading to the little girl, she came to the word "gravitation." She explained its meaning briefly, but thought the child would forget it. Consequently she was much surprised when, a few days later, Dorothy came running in, exclaiming excitedly:

"Oh, mamma, it's a good thing for me there's a law of gravitation, or I'd have tumbled head over heels into heaven just now, when I fell off the ladder."

TRACTORS' USE IN SCOTLAND

American Machine Is Popular Among Larger Farmers—Demand Is in Excess of Supply.

The use of tractors in Scotland for farming purposes has increased remarkably during the past two years, and the present demand is far in excess of the supply, writes Vice Consul E. R. Pottle, Dundee. The very high prices and costly upkeep of farm horses, added to the heavier expenses for labor, have compelled the larger farmers to be on the lookout for the best type of utility tractor.

The necessary points seem to be: Sufficient power with a reserve; strength and simplicity of construction; ability to run on common paraffin with economical consumption; capable of being operated by one man; toughness and durability of parts; easy adjustment; and ability to pull harrows, rollers, cultivators, etc., over broken ground.

A local farmers' association has stated that it would be difficult for any other class of farmers than those cultivating more than 100 acres to make use economically of tractors, unless the smaller farmers can combine to use one tractor among several of them.

There is no doubt that tractors have come to stay, and it is only a question of a short time until a hiring system will be found which will work conveniently and economically in much the same way as in thrashing. Several American tractors already are on the Scottish market, in limited numbers on account of import restrictions, but experience has given the Scottish farmer great confidence in any American make of farm machinery, and doubtless there will be a great demand for American tractors after the war.

HOPE RUSSIA'S ART IS SAFE

Outside World Anxious for Preservation of Masterpieces Held in the Chaotic Capital.

Chaos has now apparently descended upon the Russian capital, and the outside world can only hope that someone in that unhappy center of revolution and discord has seen to it that the hundreds of masterpieces in the national collection shall be placed in a comparatively safe hiding place until the storms of war are over, says the Boston Transcript.

A brief summary of the facts given in the preface to the three volume French catalogue of the Hermitage (Petrogard's great art gallery) will suffice to convey some idea of the wonderful riches of this collection. At the time that this catalogue was published the gallery contained 1,644 paintings, of which 331 belonged to the Italian school, 117 to the Spanish school, 349 to the Germanic schools (Flemish, Dutch and German), eight to the English school, 172 to the French school, and 67 to the Russian school.

These 1,644 pictures were selected from a total of more than 4,000 pictures acquired since the time of Catherine II. Those of the 4,000 which were not given a place in the Petrograd galleries were hung in the winter palace and in the other royal residences of Tsar Nicholas, Peterhof and Gatchina, and in the museum of Moscow.

Sugar Acreage in India.

British India's sugar cane acreage is from 6 to 10 per cent larger, according to the second official crop estimate for 1917-18. This forecast is based on reports furnished by provinces that contain 99 per cent of the sugar area of India, and these reports indicate an acreage for the crop of 2,565,000, as against an estimated 2,340,000 acres at the corresponding date a year ago, an increase of 10 per cent. As compared with the final estimate (2,414,000 acres) for 1916-17, the present estimate shows an increase of 6 per cent.

The Indian Trade Journal states that, while the crop was affected to a certain extent by heavy rain and floods in low-lying areas in parts of the United Provinces, the Punjab and Bengal, and by disease and insect pests in some of the eastern districts of the United Provinces, the prospects of the crop, on the whole, are good.

Sewing Machine as Ornament.

Thrilling tales of the grit, persistence and skill of the woman workers in England's munition plants were recounted by Miss Mary Fraser, visiting representative of the war savings department, British treasury, in an address to a Washington audience. She laid stress on the fact that woman workers were on a par with men.

"What do they do with the money?" she was asked.

"Well, many of them do buy phonographs and fur coats, but the government is willing, because their work is good," she replied.

"And the men?" asked a mere man.

"Mostly they buy sewing machines," Miss Fraser said. "I heard of one man who said he had two front windows, and the house didn't look well with a machine in only one window, so he bought two."

Fisheries at Five Fathom Bank.

Five Fathom Bank, which lies outside of the territorial waters of the United States, about eight nautical miles to the east of Wildwood, N. J., yielded during the past year more than 2,500 tons of food fish, with a value of $238,839 to the fishermen. There were 21-pound nets in operation. A statistical agent of the United States bureau of fisheries was detailed to visit Anglesea, Wildwood, and Sea Isle City, N. J., for the purpose of collecting these statistics.

BAN ON OLIVE OIL EXPORTS

Royal Order Calls Halt on Shipments Except Essentials, From Spain to United States.

Olive oil exports from Spain, of which large quantities formerly were shipped both directly and via France and Italy to the United States and other foreign markets, from Barcelona and Seville, are prohibited by a recent royal order, states commerce reports. In southern Spain and in the region of Catalonia, the olive oil industry has been an important source of revenue to the growers who export to foreign refineries, whence the oil was often shipped to the United States, as of really non-Spanish production. Recently the direct exports of the commodity from Spain to the United States have increased considerably with the development of the American taste for the oil produced in Spain.

There is no embargo on exports of essential oils such as pennyroyal, rosemary, sage, thyme and lavender, the Spanish production of which is largely destined for foreign markets, and shipment of which is made direct from Spain to the United States, France, and elsewhere. These oils are produced especially in the regions of Murcia and Malaga, where many medicinal herbs are grown for domestic consumption and export. As comparatively little use is made in Spain of several oils derived from the plants mentioned and other oil-producing herbs, the local market is limited; but the industry may be developed indefinitely in view of the favorable climatic conditions of those sections of Spain where the plants flourish. In 1916 the declared exports of essential oils from Malaga to the United States were valued at $170,164; those from Almeria, at $21,920; and those from Barcelona, at $13,220.

USE GLASS FOR FALSE HAIR

Material Also Converted Into Cotton and Wool and Pressed Into Sheets or Pads.

In Venice they are spinning glass for commercial uses, converting it into glass cotton and glass wool pressed into sheets or pads, says the Popular Science Monthly. Although the principal use of the product at present is for insulation, we have heard the word of the Italian makers, that it serves admirably for making artificial hair, wigs, perukes, doll's hair, Santa Claus beards and other hirsute adornments. The processes of manufacture are simple. Solid glass rods, made of pure American soda that contains no adulteration of lead or other metal, are worked into fluff under a Bunsen burner and blowpipe. A bicycle wheel, minus the tire, winds up the threads. If the threads are sufficiently fine they curl and fluff out like wool.

The product is now marketed in three forms—glass cotton, glass wool, and in sheets about one-half inch thick which resemble white felt pads. In the last form mentioned it may be used to make separators for accumulators of electricity.

Glad of the Accident.

A bachelor was recently traveling in a tramcar with a married couple of his acquaintance. It was a rainy morning. The young wife had her umbrella well out of the way of those who passed down the car, but an awkward boy on his way to the door managed to fall over it and break it.

"Oh, I'm so sorry," stammered the lad.

"Never mind; I'm sure it wasn't your fault," and the lady smiled at him without a trace of anger or even irritation on her face.

"Well, I must say your wife is an angel!" exclaimed the bachelor, warmly. "Most women would have withered that clumsy fellow with a look, if they hadn't scorched him with words."

"An angel, is she?" said the married man, as he picked up the broken umbrella and smiled quizzically at his wife. "She may be—but she's wanted a new umbrella for a month, and now she knows I'll have to get it!"

Trade Preparedness in Chile.

By proclamation the president of Chile has appointed a committee which will investigate and report on the commercial and industrial relation of Chile with the rest of the world, especially in so far as these have been affected by the European war. The following is quoted from the proclamation:

There is herewith appointed a committee which shall investigate the situation in which the industries and commerce of Chile will probably find themselves upon the re-establishment of peace, and of competition between the products of national industry and those imported from abroad, and to recommend to the government such measures as the commission may deem advisable for the purpose of protecting these in their present advanced condition and to encourage their further development.

He Will Stay.

Fearing that the rigors of warfare would be too much for her delicate son, a woman has written to United States Marine corps headquarters at Washington asking that the young man be discharged.

"He is too weak and delicate to be in the service," she wrote. "He is a blacksmith's helper by trade, and I would prefer him to stay at his last job."

The mother was informed that, for the time being her son must remain a marine.

United States Seashore Cities.

Seashore cities—small and sleepy villages in winter, great bustling cities in summer—are now so numerous that they can hardly be counted. They dot the coast from Maine to Florida; the gulf coast has any number of pretty, salubrious bathing spots, and the Pacific coast, from Gray's Harbor to San Diego, abounds in ocean resorts. The gulf coast and the lower Pacific coast have the advantage, however, of all the year-round bathing; the Atlantic coast season is about three months only.

Being First Impressions of a Remarkable State From a Few Days Observation

Meetings of the National Editorial Association have three distinct features which are highly valued by those editors who realize the importance of the annual conventions.

Besides the opportunity of exchanging ideas and opinions regarding the newspaper profession and the delight of renewing pleasant acquaintances with newspaper friends from all parts of the country, one is usually afforded an unusual opportunity to see the various states of the union under very best conditions.

With these thoughts in mind I made arrangements to attend the annual convention of the Association, held this year in the state of Arkansas.

Like many others, I have usually taken Arkansas as I have many other states of the Union as a mere spot on the map, having no unusual features and probably the last state, or one of the last states in the country with anything worth while.

Possibly the record which I expect to make of the trip may indicate to what extent my preliminary ideas of the state have been changed.

Leaving Boston on Friday afternoon, the last day of May, I reached St. Louis on Saturday evening after a long hot and dirty ride.

The one feature of this trip which struck me as unusual, was the apparent indifference of the municipalities of those states, especially Indiana, on the matter of danger of railroad crossings at grade. Even in the large city of Indianapolis, this was noticeable for, on many if not all of the grade crossings east of the city there were no crossing gates, and what few there were did not seem to be in use. Apparently the only protection to the public at these crossings was an attendant, usually an old man, holding a standard on which was the word "stop."

I have now crossed the Mississippi several times and have yet to realize just why it is called "The Father of Waters" for at none of the places where I have crossed has the river been much larger than the Connecticut at Hartford or the Hudson at New York. At St. Louis it was a very ordinary stream of water, and was only interesting from its reputation.

St. Louis impressed me as having a very large lumber market, for the railroad yards appeared to be covered for many acres with high piles of lumber.

The Union station, of which St. Louis boasts so loudly, cannot compare with the South Station in Boston either in size or convenience and utterly failed to impress me as out of the ordinary.

St. Louis was evidently awake to the war situation, for the boys in khaki were very much in evidence. Companies of recruits were marching thru its streets and the railroad yards were filled with cars for their accommodation.

I had time for a brief trip thru the business section of the city, admired the sunken garden at 13th street, and the splendid avenue at 12th street.

After the long railroad ride I also thoroughly enjoyed a splendid and quiet room at the Warwick hotel.

Sunday morning I met friends who were going to the convention from Minnesota, Michigan and other northern states and we had possession of the entire car. I was very much surprised at the kind of country to the south and west of St. Louis. I expected a low, flat and uninteresting trip. On the contrary, the land was very much like the southern part of New Hampshire, rather hilly and more or less covered with handsome trees.

The farms, here and there, were small and cheap. The houses were mostly cabins, some of them built of logs, and I saw several with roofs of corrugated iron. It must have been hot in the one or two rooms under such roofs. There was usually a little piazza in front of each house on which was a dilapidated rocker or swing seat of some kind. There was no cellar, the house being placed on piles, and the space underneath filled with all kinds of discarded materials. The yards were unkempt and looked dirty and most unattractive. Pigs and chickens were plentiful, however, and I place the pigs first in order of cleanliness.

The kind of scenery was somewhat relieved by the beautiful wildflowers all along the railroad track. There were thousands of what I was told were "Black-eyed Susans" a flower resembling our daisy, except that the petals are a beautiful rich pink and hang down from the centre instead of being horizontal. There was also a species of wild verberna which was also attractive.

Passing over off thru the hills, we came to the so-called bottom lands of the White and Black rivers, although these particular names were chosen is a mystery, for both of them, were like all other southern rivers—muddy and turbid and apparently good places to keep away from. It was very evident that the residents of this part of the country would like to have the rivers keep away from them for there had just been some severe and unusually late floods, and the whole country seemed drowned. Many cotton fields were ruined and we were told would have to be planted with corn instead.

The water seemed everywhere, standing in pools along the track, and in between the rows of earth on the cultivated land, while the roads were mere beds of mud. It is most evident that what this country needs is adequate drainage combined with ample levees on the river banks. Just before I left home I noticed advertisements in the Boston papers of the sale of bonds for certain drainage districts of Arkansas and I can certainly testify that the money is needed for that purpose.

This kind of country continued until we reached Little Rock, the largest city and capital of the state, and it is most apparent that drainage is the one big problem for the eastern part of Arkansas at least.

We were also surprised at the many fields of wheat which we noticed all along the line of travel. Fields, which as we went further south grew more and more yellow, until they were a beautiful sight. There were also large fields of cotton, just coming up and corn was well along. In some places beginning toassel. We passed thru one small village where it was said 136 car loads of strawberries had been shipped the season just closed.

The country must be most fertile and with seasons extending from March thru October, is adapted to many kinds of products.

Little Rock has an official population of about 45,000 but the inhabitants calmly claim 80,000 and even 100,000. It has the state capital, one of the most beautiful I have ever seen, with a dome like our own state house, but built of granite, and the interior is most attractive in plain marble, without any decoration to detract from its plain and impressive beauty. There are many good shops and the streets are well kept. Possibly it is not fair to judge its hotel service from a few days of crowded convention conditions, but my experience would lead me to keep away from Little Rock in the future.

The city is alive with boys in khaki as Camp Pike, one of the cantonments of the country, is held at Camp Devens, within ten miles of the place. Hotels, restaurants and the streets are filled with them all apparently having a good time. We were taken out to Camp Pike on Monday, a swelteringly hot day, and witnessed an enjoyable program arranged for our benefit by the commanding officer. It consisted of a review of two regiments, headed by its own band, and followed by a ludicrous drill showing the crude efforts of the rookie and was followed in turn by the same men showing what six months' practice would do. It aroused considerable enthusiasm. There were athletic games showing how the men got part of their physical exercise at least. A bayonet drill, an exhibition of hand and rifle grenade throwing, an exhibition of gas bombs and how the gas masks were used. Methods of setting up wire entanglements and how they are destroyed. Possibly the most interesting and last of all was entitled "Camouflage." We were shown a little hillside with possibly 100 yards of field and streets in view, and were told that 21 men were hidden there. Efforts to discover them were fruitless and when in answer to a whistle the men stood up it seemed impossible that they could have been concealed where they were. At another whistle the men dropped again and we were again unable to see where they were. It was a most interesting spectacle.

That evening Gov. Brough, a most interesting man and eloquent speaker gave us a reception at the capitol, where we had a splendid opportunity, not only to admire the building but to meet some of the good people of the city. I was introduced to a young man from Mississippi and we were both astonished to learn that we both lived in Newton, she in the far south and I in distant Massachusetts.

The next day was just as hot, but we were down for a long automobile ride thru two of the adjoining counties, and planned to give us some idea of the agriculture of the state. There was no question as to the acres of land planted most to cotton and rice and there was also no question as to the need of good roads in Arkansas. We had a new and good machine and an experienced driver, but the 100 miles we covered that day was just one bump after another. We passed through two typical Southern villages named Eng, and the other Lonoke. Both seemed alike in having one long main street facing the railroad, covered with some very good stores. At Lonoke we were given a country luncheon, which turned out to be a barbecue with cold meat. As I detest barbecues, either hot or cold, it was hardly a satisfactory meal. Leaving Lonoke, we went to Camp Eberhart, one of the large aviation fields of the country, 960 acres having been levelled and seeded down for the use of the aviators. We were given an opportunity to examine some of the planes which, to most of us, was a novel experience, and then four machines went up into the air and showed us how to loop the loop and do other stunts, which made us realize that our boys are rapidly progressing in this most important arm of the service. The only thing to detract from the enjoyment of the afternoon was the continued hot and sultry weather.

We left Little Rock Wednesday noon after posing for a Pathe picture on the steps of the State House. We had a special train in order to make a stop at the famous Bauxite mines in this vicinity. Bauxite, you should know, is the clay from which aluminum is made, and this mine produces about 55 per cent. of the material in this country. It is scooped out of the bank by a steam shovel, placed in ore cars and taken to a drying plant where all the moisture is taken from it before it is shipped to Canada, where the ore is treated with acid and formed in ingots. The same company controls the plants at New York where the wire is made and Kentucky where the kitchen ware is produced. One ton of clay will yield about 5 pounds of aluminum and is worth about $4.50 a ton. This mine produces about 2300 tons a day, and will last only a few years more, as it is rapidly being worked out. A sharp shower interfered somewhat with the inspection of the mine, but it was interesting nevertheless. We also made a brief stop at Benton, where a beautiful kind of pottery is produced from colored clays.

Holland's Great Dike.

One of the great dikes of Holland is 40 miles long, starting far up in the country, near the Yssel river, and continuing across the Hook of Holland to the sea. It was built in sections, and for seven centuries has held back the waters from the low-lying fields.

AUTO ACCIDENT

A 3-year-old boy was madly cut and four men were bruised in an automobile collision Tuesday morning at Washington street and Walnut park, Newton.

A light truck owned and driven by A. Pescosolido of 192 Adams street, Nonantum, was coming down Washington street. In it were John Smizy of 20 Murphy court, Nonantum, and John B. Innemann of 265 Adams street, Nonantum. The other machine, a delivery auto owned by E. E. Forsyth, a marketman, was coming out of Walnut park. It was in charge of Boardman Forsyth of 177 Channing street, Newton, a brother of the owner. With him was his son, Ray, 3 years old.

Despite the efforts of both drivers, the machines came together at an angle. Pescosolido's efforts to avoid the crash resulted in his truck overturning. He and his companions were thrown to the street and all were bruised and shaken. Forsyth, though suffering bruises, was not thrown from his car, but his son fell to the street and was cut on the forehead. He was taken to the New-Hospital. Both machines were damaged considerably.

Most Aggressive Religion.

Mohammedanism is the aggressive religion of India, says the World Outlook, and has increased its membership 9 per cent in a decade, while the general population has increased only 2 per cent. Many more native Indians are becoming Mohammedans every year than are turning to Christianity, but proportionately Christianity is leading in growth, having increased 25 per cent in ten years.

Misleading Degree.

"Yaas," said Uncle Silas, "my son Bill hez got back from a special course he's been a-takin' at college, with a piece o' paper signed by the authorities sayin' as how he's an A. M. I dunno what an A. M. is, but I'm afraid they's some mistake about it, for judg' in' from the time he gets down to breakfast he behaves more like a P. M. ter me."

Too Much White in Malta.

The houses, streets and roads in Malta are built of nearly white stone, and during the summer months these reflect the sun's rays so strongly that colored glasses are largely worn by both the native population and foreigners. Many sizes and forms of frames and many different colors of glass are used.

Vulcanized Fiber.

A novel substance known as "vulcanized fiber" has a surface much like horn. This material has many uses. It has proved itself a good insulator, is pliable, can be sawed, bent or punched. Various electrical appliances are now made from this material, which comes from the manufacturer in the form of tubes, rods and sheets.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. Lewis Edwards, U.S. Navy, as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held and the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurry left on a short wedding trip.

Why We Weigh Gold by Carat. The weight used by goldsmiths in gauging the quality of gold apart from the alloy, i. e., carat, is derived from that of the seed of an Abyssinian carat flower, which, being exceedingly uniform in size, was employed in weighing gold and precious stones.

DEATH OF MRS. SMITH

The community was shocked Wednesday afternoon to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Grace K. Smith, the wife of Mr. Clarence C. Smith of Centre street, Newton. Mrs. Smith was found unconscious on the railroad track near the St. James street bridge by the engineer of the train leaving the South Station at 1:35 P.M. and was taken to the Newton station and later to the Newton Hospital, where she died at 4:30 o'clock without regaining consciousness.

The exact manner of her death is not clear. Mrs. Smith was known to be subject to fainting turns on account of heart trouble, and it is thought that in hurrying for the train for Boston leaving the Newton station at 1:45 P.M. she over-exerted herself. She was last seen making her way towards the rear door of the last car on the train, and it is thought that she had a fainting spell and fell from the platform.

Mrs. Smith was 48 years of age and was the daughter of Judge A. P. Knowlton of Lewiston, Maine. She has resided here for about 12 years, coming here from Everett. Mrs. Smith was a woman of charming personality, and was prominent in the charitable and social work of the community. She is survived by her husband and her mother, who lived with her.

Funeral services were held from her late home on Centre street yesterday afternoon in charge of Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church, and Rev. Dr. Wolcott Calkins, and the burial will take place at Lewiston, Me., today.

A special house-to-house canvass for pledges for War Savings Stamps is being made by members of the women's committee. She has appointed the following chairmen for the local villages:

Newton Corner, Mrs. Cabot Stevens; Newtonville, Mrs. C. D. Kepner; West Newton, Mrs. A. From the Bible.

It will be found that the Bible is responsible for several of the common comparisons that we use most freely in our daily conversation, as note:

Meek as Moses; wise as Solomon; old as Methuselah; hairy as Esau; strong as Samson; cruel as Herod; virtuous as Joseph; wise as a serpent; sweet as honey; high as Haman; true as a Goshawk; false as Judas; harmless as a dove; swift as an eagle; bright as the sun; big as Goliath; clear as crystal; fair as a lily; wicked as Jezebel; white as snow; red as scarlet; patient as Job; poor as Job's turkey—though we must acknowledge that careful research throughout the book of Job fails to establish any connection between the patient gentleman and the genus Melagris, fat or lean.—Boston Globe.

MOUNT VERNON DRAWS MANY

Noted Envoys From Allies and Thousands of Others Pay Visit to Washington's Tomb.

Peaceful and stately as usual, Mount Vernon today seems happily unconscious of the very existence of war. Yet the war has had its effect on this mecca of America, for more people have visited it in recent months than in any similar period in its history.

Washington, the center of things military and diplomatic, has since April 1917, opened its gates to 50,000 new residents come to take up the work of a government at war. Thousands of these Americans take the first opportunity to visit the home of the greatest American.

Besides these, envoys from our allies on diplomatic mission to the United States make a point of journeying to Mount Vernon to honor Washington. They travel as guests of the nation, in the president's yacht Mayflower. The Mayflower has already made four trips of this sort. First she carried Balfour and Marshal Joffre, then the Italian mission, then the Belgian and Russian missions together, and lastly the Japanese viscount and his party.

Each time the iron gates of Washington's tomb swung open for these men to place their wreaths on the shrine within, while the diplomats, with the problems of the world on their shoulders, paid tribute to the man who carried similar burdens faithfully and well a century ago.

The record for the largest number of visitors to Mount Vernon in a day was very nearly set at the time of the confederate reunion, when 7,000 of the old soldiers and their friends visited the estate in one day.

TEMPERED BY TRADE WINDS

Climate of the Dominican Republic Pleasant and Salubrious, Says Consul Arthur McLean.

There seems to be an impression abroad that the climate of the Dominican Republic is hot, humid, and unhealthy, writes Consul Arthur McLean, Puerto Plata. While the climate of this republic is tropical, it is pleasant and salubrious. Although it is very warm during the middle of the day, the temperature even in summer seldom reaches 90 degrees F., and the nights at all seasons are cool and pleasant. The climate is tempered by the trade winds which blow almost continuously during the day, and at night the land breeze from the mountains is equally refreshing. Owing to the great diversity of its relief the island of Santo Domingo presents a wider range of climate than any other part of the Antilles. The mean annual temperature of the coast towns is about 79 degrees F. It is cooler inland, the temperature varying with the altitudes. In the valley of Constanza, which is about the center of the island, at an elevation of 3,500 feet ice forms in winter occasionally.

The rainfall varies in different sections of the island from 15 to 200 inches per annum. In the southern part of the island there is a marked distinction between the dry and rainy seasons. The dry season is during the months of September to March, while the rainy season extends from April to August. In the northern half of the island it rains more or less all the year, although the heaviest rainfall occurs from November to April.

There have never been any epidemics of cholera and bubonic plague, and it is many years since there has been any yellow fever in the Dominican Republic.

Modern Soldier's Equipment.

The equipment of a French infantryman in Napoleon's day consisted of a gun and a knapsack. Today the soldier carries an array of death-dealing weapons as complete as that of the arsenal itself, according to Popular Science Monthly.

Hand grenades and gun grenades, wire snares, and a rifle are carried by the foot soldiers in the advance. Pickaxe and shovel he must have when he reaches the trenches. Signal lanterns and sky rockets must also be carried by the officers to keep headquarters constantly in touch with the progress of the fight.

The periscope and the gas alarm are as necessary as gun. Add to all these the other implements of war and you will understand why physical fitness is the principal consideration in the examination of recruits.

Reading Character.

"Are you a good judge of character?"

"Pretty fair. Now, for instance, that dignified looking man over there in the corner of the lobby is a stranger to me, but I take him to be a public man, a statesman, perhaps, who is accustomed to addressing large crowds, has constructive ideas and is at home on the platform."

"Ahem!"

"You know him?"

"Yes."

"Did I miss my guess far?"

"Oh, you could have done worse. He's the proprietor of a medicine show."

Sawtoe, China, Peanut Crop.

The minor peanut crop—that of the "large foreign," which is cultivated principally in Jao-ping district—has been harvested and the yield is claimed to be below the average owing to drought, but is considered as slightly better than the principal crop, which was reported as being 20 to 30 per cent below the average. All crops suffered from the lack of rain.

LETTER FROM FRANCE

The following letter from a West Newton young man will be of great interest to his many friends in this city.

May 15, 1918.
A La Front

DEAR MR. PARK,
Yes I am still in the running Mr. Park and going strong. We have a snappy scrap with our "cultured" enemy about every day now so the time does not drag as it used to. Our infantry is still going over the top and keeping up their good name.

I want to tell you about your friend Fr. Farrell of the St. Bernard's Parish. He is the chaplain of the 103rd Regt. and every man has praise for him. He is everybody's friend and regardless of religion. He has the Croix de Guerre now and he sure deserves it. It was during a Bosch attack about two weeks ago and he was up with the 103rd Artillery. They are the big guns and about three miles behind the line. The Bosch started it and a call for barrage came. We replied and Fr. Farrell was watching the fun. The boys started passing ammunition, and those shells weigh 100 lbs when a shell landed quite near and one fellow in the line dropped. Fr. Farrell immediately picked him up and carried him to a dugout. Another shell landed and another dropped. One of his pals went to his assistance, when he himself got hit. Fr. Farrell was just returning and he picked these two up and dragged them to safety, getting slightly wounded himself. When it was over it was daylight but they could not find him. He had left them and started for the front line trenches to see how the infantry had fared. He is a great fellow and if you wanted to see him you most likely would have to go up to the front line. He seems to like it up there. But then he is from West Newton, so—

We haven't had an opportunity as yet to do individual work but then things happen every minute over here. Our Battery is one of the three that makes up the Mobile Battalion which travels from one place to another to start or stem an attack so we see we are on the go most of the time. How is my friend Mr. Thomas? and our S. S. teachers? also Mr. Lusca? I presume the orchestra is still pounding away.

I would like to hear from you often. Don't wait for me to write as we are not in the same place long enough to get settled.

With best regards to all, I am your old friend, Bud.

GINSENG MARKET IN CHINA

Depression in Business Reported Past Year, Sale of the Root Being Much Below Normal.

The market for ginseng in Hongkong and the China field generally is depressed, and dealers look for little revival in the trade until well toward Chinese New Year. Usually there is a quickening in the trade as cool weather comes on, but so far the past year, and in spite of the high exchange value of silver which ought to stimulate the trade, the sale of the root has been much below normal, says Consul General George E. Anderson, Hongkong. Arrivals have been below normal and the demand has not kept pace with the supply. An auction of a lot of American root on consignment recently brought fair prices. Two days later a similar lot of as good if not better root sold for little more than half the price brought by the first lot, and private sales made later were on a still lower level. Uncertain political conditions in the interior of China are given as the chief reason for the present slump in demand, but uncertain financial conditions due to the export of silver and copper coinage from the provinces as well as the existence of piracy and other disorders in some districts have also had material influence.

Sales have been irregular and the market may improve at any time. The root on hand of course will get the benefit of the improvement, while that held in the United States will probably arrive too late to secure full returns. The ginseng business and all similar lines of trade in China are in an uncertain state and little reliance can be placed upon the continuance of any conditions.

FEED FROM FISH AND OFFAL

Material Produced in Form of Meal Believed Valuable for Both Swine and Cattle.

A factory has been started at Ymuden, at the entrance to the North Sea Canal, for transmitting the least desirable fish and fish offal into a satisfactory food for swine, writes Consul Frank W. Mahlin, Amsterdam, Netherlands. This is considered of double importance—it feeds the swine and also frees articles (maize, for example) usually fed to swine, for other purposes, even for human food.

Spilled fish have been fed to swine, but with bad effect on the taste of the pork. The new factory, it is stated, makes a "vischmeel" (literally, fish meal) from the material it uses, which product, analysis shows, contains 55 per cent albumen and 12 per cent fat, and also realizes an oil that after suitable purification, could be used in competition with cod-liver oil, or in any case could be very useful as an industrial oil.

It is suggested that besides feeding swine with this new product it be tried with cattle, as a possible aid in the serious situation which now exists in regard to feeding live stock.

The new factory is considered of great importance in scientific circles, and hope is expressed that the government as well as the general public will give it earnest support as a matter of national concern.

Smelt Fishing in New Brunswick.

The smelt fishing season recently opened on the Northumberland strait shores of New Brunswick. Returns show that in the Miramichi district, at and near Chatham, both quality and quantity of fish have been disappointing. The fishermen there are receiving about ten cents a pound, while at Rexton and Richibucto, in Kent county, it is reported they have received as much as 15 cents; the average price is not above 12 cents.

In the recently proclaimed embargo on the export from the Dominion of certain food products, fresh frozen fish is included, but when destined for the United States shipments in fair average quantities are permitted to go forward under indorsement by collectors of customs at ports of exit.

The export of smelts from the Moncton consular district during the 1916-17 season, as shown by consular invoices certified, was 957,989 pounds, valued at $95,805.

Jack's Friend in Need.

The naval class was under signal instruction. Most of them had just come back from leave, and, as a result, to some of the boys in blue the instructor's voice seemed very far away indeed.

"A ship in distress," he was saying, through the room spaces, "has several methods by means of which she can make known her condition to other vessels or home stations. Name one, Blinks!"

"The international code signal 'N. C.,'" replied Blinks, waking up just in time.

"Right!" said the instructor. "Jenks, name another."

Jenks started out of a dream. "Eh?" he ejaculated.

"What would you do if you were in distress?" repeated the signal instructor.

"Why," mumbled Jenks, "pawm my watch."

Increased Rates in Norway. Commercial Attaché Erwin W. Thompson reports from Copenhagen, Denmark, that freight and passenger tariffs have been increased from time to time in Norway since the war began, amounting now in all to 80 per cent for first class passengers, 60 per cent for third class passengers, and 100 per cent for all freights except foods and fertilizers.

JAPAN ISSUES NEW CURRENCY

Fractional Amounts in Paper Money, Relieving a Great Need, Now in Circulation.

Two recent steps taken by the Japanese government illustrate the difficulties attendant upon the use of subsidiary coin whose metal value is comparatively close to its mint value, states Commerce Reports. Announcement was made recently that paper fractional currency would be issued to the amount of 30,000,000 yen ($14,940,000). Early in November a portion of this issue was put in circulation. The new notes are exchangeable for regular bank notes and are legal tender up to ten yen ($4.98).

More recently the Japanese government has announced three prizes of 1,000 yen, 500 yen and 300 yen for the best designs submitted for a new silver 50-sen piece (24.9 cents). The new coin is to be materially smaller than the one now in circulation.

The present 50-sen piece is 80 per cent pure and weighs 2.7 monme (0.8255 ounce troy). The coin, therefore, contains 0.2604 ounce of pure silver and 0.0651 ounce of copper. At par the money value of the coin is 24.925 cents. This corresponds to 95.7 cents per ounce troy if the value of the copper is disregarded.

For a considerable period the excess of the bullion value over the mint value made it profitable to melt Japanese subsidiary coin or ship it to China. The country, as a consequence, became denuded of small change, and it was and is extremely difficult to get money changed except through money changers at comparatively high rates. It was no unusual thing to pay ten sen, or even more, to change a five-yen note; and in that case the buyer would receive four one-yen notes and only the fraction less than a yen in subsidiary coin.

JACKIE STUCK TO HIS POST

Fireman on Watch in Engine Room of Torpedoed Ship Commended for Devotion to Duty.

When the United States ship Alcedo was torpedoed last November in the war zone George A. Collier, a second-class fireman of the navy, was on watch in the engine room under instructions as machinist's mate. He was just at that time taking up duties that would mean, if successfully handled, bringing him up another step in the service. The kind of stuff he is made of was shown when just as soon as the torpedo struck and was followed by an explosion he remained cool and knew exactly what to do.

Despite the fact that he was standing in water up to his knees, the sea having rushed in through the rent torn by the torpedo, he stopped the main engine and then deliberately raised the safety valve on the main engine by the hand gear.

Thus, without regard to his own personal safety, and when in the greatest danger of going down with the ship, he stuck to his post and performed his duties. He has been commended for this devotion to duty in a letter written by the secretary of the navy. Fireman Collier is a son of W. T. Collier of Morrisport, La.

Hung In on a Dead Man.

The constable gazed long and thoughtfully at the hole in Mrs. Parkington's parlor window. Then he procured a notebook.

"You heard the crash at four o'clock?"

"Four o'clock," echoed the lady.

"You run to the door, but seed nobody?"

"Nobody."

"After this question Sherlock could think of no more, so he shut up his book with a snap and walked off dreaming of promotion.

A few minutes later he was back with a full-face smile that was eloquent of triumph.

"Jobs like this 'ere don't take a smart chap long," he remarked. "You're sure it happened at four o'clock, ma'am?"

"Yes; have you caught the culprits?"

"Well, not yet, ma'am," he answered, "but I'm narrowin' it down, all right. It wasn't Bill 'iggins, cos 'e was killed by a motor car at 'arf past three."

Fighting in the Air.

Strikingly graphic is the account of a fight in the air, told in a Newfoundland letter home.

"Soon after we crossed the lines, which we did at 15,000 (nearly three miles high), I began to have difficulty in keeping up with the formation. As a result Archie picked me out and he certainly made it hot. However, I kept along a bit behind the rest, and was just dropping my bombs over the objective when seven Huns dived down on us. In the scrap that followed I lost all trace of the rest of the formation, so I knew my only chance lay in flying west as fast as I could. Just as I was getting well under way, a Hun came at us. It was exciting. We twisted and turned, dived and climbed, each trying to get the other. Finally he left us."

Height of Women's Shoes.

The British war office forbids from February 1, except under permit from director of raw material, the purchase, sale, or offers to purchase or sell any boots for women with uppers exceeding seven inches in height if of leather or eight inches in height if of any other material. Manufacturers are now forbidden to cut material or uppers exceeding dimensions named.

HATCH—BROWN

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Brown, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Porter Brown, to Jared Platt Hatch took place Saturday morning at the home of the bride, 23 Hollis street, in the presence of a small gathering of immediate relatives. Among them were First Lieutenant Laurence B. Hatch of the Medical Reserve now at Camp Devens, with Mrs. Hatch and their two sons, Rexford and Damon Hatch. The bride is well known in musical circles, having studied several years at Boston Conservatory. She is the sister of Grace Evelyn Brown, who is a writer and lecturer, as well as an artist. Porter Emerson Brown, the playwright and writer of war articles, is her brother. The bridegroom was graduated from Dartmouth in the class of 1904 and from Harvard Graduate School 1905. He and his wife have gone to the South Shore for two weeks, and upon their return will receive their friends at 1868 Commonwealth avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary R. P. Hatch, author and clubwoman.

WOOD—PROCTOR

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Newtonville Unitarian Church last Saturday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock when Miss Emily Josephine Proctor was married to Sergt. Paul Alva Wood of Exeter, N. H. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Proctor of 20 Trowbridge avenue, Newtonville.

Rev. Rufus H. Dix officiated at the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate families. The only attendants were Mrs. Leon G. Atkinson of Newtonville as bridesmaid and Joseph A. Proctor, brother of the bride, as best man.

Sergeant Wood is stationed at Camp Devens, Ayer, and for the present Mrs. Wood will make her home with her parents.

SPECIAL AID

An open meeting of the Special Aid Society was held on the afternoon of June 10, in Y.M.C.A. hall.

Miss Weeks, the city's new Home Demonstration leader, gave a talk (with demonstrations) on "Milk as a Food," and urged her hearers to use milk more freely at this time, it being a product of equal food value with meat.

Mrs. Moore of the Special Aid gave a report telling of the work to be done by that Society during the summer months, and Mrs. Bacon, chairman of the Red Cross War Committee, made a plea for workers to help with the making of garments for the French and Belgian refugees.

The new Lighting Fixtures in Italian, Rusty Iron and Polychrome and Colonial styles as shown by Messrs. McKenney & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin street, corner Congress, Boston, are really works of art. All interested in Lighting Fixtures for their homes are invited to this exhibition.

ALL DAY OUTING FOR POOR BOYS FROM BOSTON

Dr. John R. Mott, General Secretary of the War Work Council of the Red Triangle work says that this generation of boys is the most wonderful that the world has ever seen. We are all proud of our older boys who are working in the factories, on the farms, and fighting in the army and navy of the United States. But we must not forget the boys twelve to sixteen years of age who will soon take the places of the older boys who have come forward so splendidly in this crisis.

With this thought in mind we are again presenting to you the opportunity to contribute to the entertainment, at the Newton Y.M.C.A., of groups of poor boys from Boston one day each week during the hot summer months. The program includes a trolley ride to Newton, a baseball game, or other outdoor sports, a long swim, a lunch, moving pictures, and the full use of games in the building.

Each single dollar contributed will give two boys an all-day outing during the hot days of July and August. Because such a small amount used for this purpose gives such direct results, we trust you will want to help again this year in entertaining these boys. Checks may be made payable to J. W. Blaisdell, Treasurer, and sent to the Newton Y.M.C.A.

Very truly yours,
C. L. ELLISON,
H. E. PALLES,
F. W. CHASE,
W. F. GARCELOAN,
H. W. BASCOM, Committee.

DURGIN—WHITE

First Lieutenant Edward Chase Durgin, M.R.C., and Miss M. Violet White were united in marriage by Rev. John Goddard on Monday, June 10, at the New Church, Newtonville.

The bride, who is a resident of this city, is a successful pianist and teacher, a pupil of Charles L. Capen and Mr. Arthur Foote, a member of various musical and social societies of Newton, Chelsea and Boston, in which places she has been active in musical work.

Lieutenant Durgin is a native of New Hampshire, and prepared for college at Proctor and Colby academies in that state. After receiving the medical degree from Tufts College, he served as house physician at Boston City Hospital, and as health officer on the Lynn board of health. He is a member of Massachusetts and medical societies, and of the Kearsarge lodge of the order of Masons. He left a practice in which he was much needed and valued to enter the service during the war. He received his military training at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and is now stationed at Camp American University, Washington, D. C., where he is a member of the medical detachment and in charge of the infirmary. Lieutenant and Mrs. Durgin will reside for the present in Washington, D. C.

NEWTON Y.M.C.A.

The Frank A. Day camp for boys will open its third season on Friday, June 28. This camp is ideally situated. New equipment has been added to insure healthful and recreational features. A new fireplace has been built at one end of the pavilion. Glass doors and windows on each side of the fireplace will make this part of the pavilion light and airy. On cool, rainy days a good fire will provide warmth and comfort. Mr. F. E. Doubleday, Mr. R. S. Webster, and Chase Kepner will be counsellors.

Mr. V. B. Studwell, for the past two years Associate Secretary at the Newton Association, leaves on July 1 to accept the position of General Secretary at Keene, N. H. Mr. Studwell goes to his new field with the best wishes of this many Newton friends.

The Red Triangle room was ready for the nearly three hundred soldiers who arrived at the Technical High School Saturday afternoon. Hundreds of letters have been written on Red Triangle paper. Entertainments have been provided, and in many ways the needs of the men looked after. One soldier said that he did not know how he could have gotten along without the Y.M.C.A. and the Boy Scouts. The Boy Scouts have been running errands, and during the first day met the men at the station and escorted them to camp.

Music in War Time

"It is just as essential that the soldiers should know how to sing as that they should carry rifles and know how to shoot them," said Major-General Leonard Wood. Indeed, music has played a brilliant part in all great wars.

Patriotism is no hollow, empty thing. It wins battles and the music that awakens it and feeds it is scarcely less potent than high explosives. An interesting commentary on the value of singing in the camps has been made by Owen Wister. "Music is as necessary to the soldier's heart as bread is to his body," he says. "When soldiers have become too exhausted to sing, just listening to music has put new life into them. Before Mons, in 1914, the heavy fighting had proved too much for a certain contingent of troops. The men lay on the ground, played out. The enemy was coming, but they were too tired to care. Near at hand was an abandoned toy shop. The commanding officer made for it and a moment later appeared with a toy drum and a tin whistle. Then while he played the drum, two soldiers took turns playing the whistle. This music awakened the benumbed men, stiffened their legs and spirits to further effort, and they rose and marched on to safety."

In the Library a collection has been begun of the songs our soldiers are singing. You will find:

"Over There"

"Johnnie, get your gun, get your gun, get your gun.
Take it on the run, on the run, on the run.
Hear them calling you and me,
Every son of liberty.
Hurry right away, no delay, go today.
Make your daddy glad to have had such a lad.
Tell your sweetheart not to pine,
To be proud her boy's in line."

"Over there, over there,
Send the word, send the word over there,
That the yanks are coming.
The drums rum-tumming every where.
So prepare, say a prayer,
Send the word, send the word to be ware."

"We'll be over, we're coming over,
And we won't come back till it's over,
over there."

One of the most popular songs is:

"Pack up your troubles in your old kit-bag,
While you're a Lucifer to light your flag.
Smile, boys, that's the style.
What's the use of worrying?
It never was worth while.
So pack up your troubles in your old kit-bag,

In "Joan of Arc, They Are Calling You" is a strong patriotic thrill, with "Come, lead your France to victory" sung to a measure of the "Marsellaise." An appealing melody is found in "There's a Long, Long Trail." What so far bids fair to be of lasting worth is the song written by Mrs. Lena Gilbert Ford, who was so recently killed by a bomb from a German air raid in London.

"Keep the Home Fires Burning"
"They were summoned from the hill-side;
They were called in from the glen;
And the country found them ready
At the stirring call for men.
Let no tears add to their hardship,
As the soldiers pass along,
And although your heart is breaking,
Make it sing this cheery song:

Keep the home-fires burning,
While your hearts are yearning,
Though your lads are far away,
They dream of home;
There's a silver lining,
Through the dark cloud shining,
Turn the dark cloud inside out,
Till the boys come home."
Other songs that space just allows us to mention by title, are: "Knitting," "America, Here's My Boy," "Homeward Bound," "Goodbye Broadway, Hello, France," "I May Be Gone for a Long, Long Time," "It's a Long Way to Berlin," "Send Me away with a Smile," "Somewhere in France is the Lily," "We're Going Over," "Arise, Arise, America," "The Battle Call of Alliance," "The Road to France," "Star of Liberty," "Stand by the Flag," "I'll Pray for You," "Khaki Sam," and "When the Boys Come Home," the words of which were written by John Hay in Civil War days.

"There's a happy time coming when the boys come home.
There's a glorious day coming when the boys come home."
We will end the dreadful story of the battle dark and gory
In a suburb of glory.
When the boys come home."
These are only the beginning of the songs of courage that all are singing. Soon we may have the soul of America, revealed through song.

EQUALITY OF SACRIFICE

The New York Times recently said editorially:
"No man or woman who has acquired a Liberty Bond is relieved from the duty of buying War Savings Stamps. To leave the Stamps plan of lending money to the government to those of narrow means and to the young people is to be careless of the cause of America and her allies."

"Does the average man or woman who earns a substantial salary or good wages have any idea of the sacrifices made by the small investors in War Savings Stamps to do their 'bit' in the war? It is often a story of silent heroism. If those in fairly easy circumstances emulated the very poor whose souls are filled with unyielding resolution to do their share to win the war, what a boom there would be in the government's receipts from sales of War Savings Stamps."
Now is the time for everyone, no matter what his station in life may be, to make as great a sacrifice for his government and for humanity as is made by the most humble of our citizens. Everyone on or before June 28 should pledge himself to save to the utmost of his ability and to buy War Savings Stamps with his savings. There should be an equality of sacrifice.

ROACH—CLARK

On Wednesday evening, June 12, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kempton Clark of Austin street, the marriage of their second daughter, Grace Adelaide, to Charles Edward Roach of Bowen street, Newton Centre, was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends. The Rev. John Goddard of the Newtonville New Church officiated.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. Harry Paul Whitney, the bride's sister, wore a gown of Nile green satin and carried Ophelia roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Bernice E. Clark, also sister of the bride, and Miss Viola Smith of Somerville, wore peach crape de chine and carried Killarney roses.

Doris C. Clark, another sister, was ring-bearer, and Elizabeth Ruckdeschel of Woonsocket, R. I., the bride's niece, was flower-girl. The groom was attended by Sergt. Edric B. Blakemore of Newton Centre, and the ushers were: Messrs. Harry Paul Whitney, Newtonville, Carl O. A. Ruckdeschel, Woonsocket, R. I., Wallace E. Clark and Herbert A. Clark of Waltham.

The floral decorations were very artistically arranged in the spacious rooms. The gifts were numerous and beautiful. A diamond and opal ring was the groom's gift to the bride. After an extended trip, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Roach will reside in Newtonville.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Some idea of the vast sums invested in motion pictures may be gained from the announcement that the New England rights for D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World," now at the Majestic Theatre, were recently purchased for the sum of $75,000. The buyers including William H. O'Neill of Boston, A. A. Spitz of Providence, Goldstein Brothers of Springfield and Alfred J. Black of Rockland, Me., have formed a corporation to be known as "The Hearts of the World Company of New England," and will present the Griffith masterpiece throughout the principal cities and towns of New England immediately following the engagement at the Majestic Theatre here in Boston. Recently it was reported that "Hearts of the World" was secured for the Pacific Coast territory for the handsome sum of $200,000 with the territory limited to but five cities of the Coast. The states of Illinois and Pennsylvania are said to have been restricted for the sum of $150,000 each. Meantime "Hearts of the World" goes merrily on at the Majestic Theatre, having passed the 100th performance, and with all indications pointing toward an all-summer engagement.

Cut the Cost of Mileage

When you see a car puffing and panting up steep hills and over rough roads when it really ought to move along as easily and as steadily as a brook glides in its course—blame it on inferior gasoline.

The use of poor gasoline, whether for limousine, touring car, roadster or motor truck, is always extravagant waste.

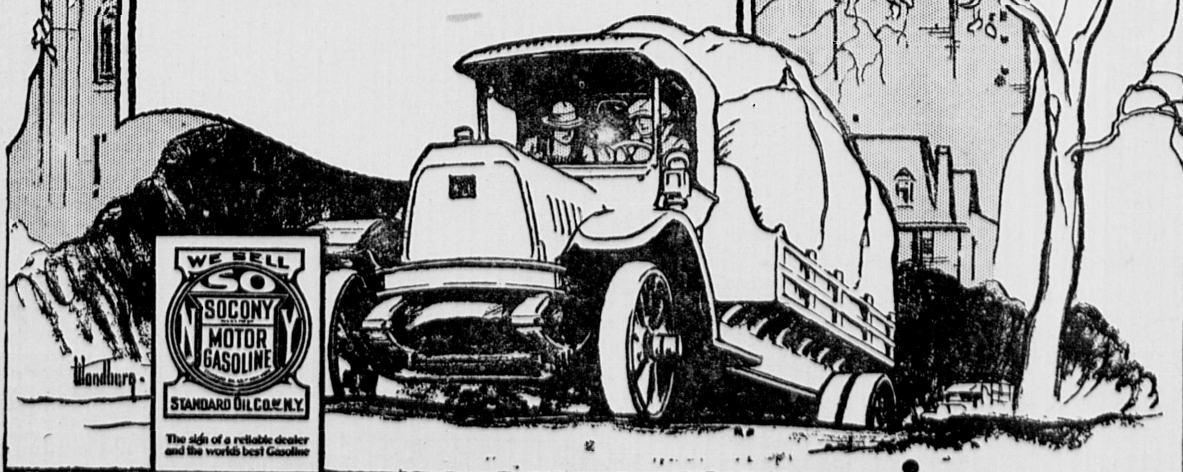

In these days there is no excuse for such waste. Buy high mileage and full power. Buy SO-CO-NY Motor Gasoline.

SO-CO-NY is the surest economy. It means more miles per gallon. It is clean—powerful—quick-starting—reliable.

Look for the Red, White and Blue SO-CO-NY Sign. SO-CO-NY means saving wisely. It cuts the cost of mileage.

HIS CAMOUFLAGE IN DANGER

Convivial Gentleman Evidently Had Relied Too Much on His Being Closed Season for Oysters.

W. B. Trites, the novelist, is in Paris with the American troops, and at a dinner at Paillard's he told a camouflage story.

"A young American officer," he said, "came to Paris from a flying camp on a furlough and celebrated his first evening in the metropolis a little too gayly. His mother had an apartment in the Avenue de Messine, and he drove home at the evening's end with the firm determination that the good lady should never know how pickled he was.

"He got in noiselessly and began to search the apartment for a place to hide. He thought of hiding under a bed, then of getting into a wardrobe, but finally he found two portable tin baths, and these gave him an excellent idea.

"He undressed silently, curled himself up in one of the baths and drew the other over him. Then he chuckled to think how well he had managed, and went off to sleep.

"His mother, in the small hours, finding his bed empty, made a search for him. At last she came to the two superposed baths, peeped through a crack, and said:

"Are you there, dear?"

"The crack widened a little, a wild eye looked out, and a voice whispered: "Sh—sh! Go—hic—away, or you'll spoil my camouflage. I'm a—hic—oyster!"

NATURALLY HE WAS PEEVED

Dog's Failure to Observe Meatless Day Cost Indiana Gentleman Just One Fine Ham.

Louis E. Laitner, constable in the coroner's office, is peeved and he has a right to be.

Wingie, as he is known about the courthouse, likes to hunt. He also likes rabbits as a food. As rabbits were selling for 35 cents apiece he decided to go get some with the aid of a dog and gun and thereby have the fun of hunting as well as the pleasure of eating and at the same time reduce the cost of living.

So he borrowed a dog from one of his friends and hiked for the country. The result of his marksmanship for the day was two rabbits, but Wingie was happy when he returned home with 70 cents' worth of game, so he put the dog in the basement for safe keeping, and went to bed perfectly contented.

In the morning, when he went to get the dog his joy turned to gloom. The dog was there all right, but a perfectly good ham, which was stored in the basement, was gone. That is, most of it was gone, and what was left was unfit for use as food, because what the dog had not eaten he had chewed or dragged over the floor.

"That ham stood me three dollars," said Laitner, when telling about the incident, "and I had half a notion to shoot the dog, not so much because I mourned the loss of the ham, but the scoundrel is a traitor, as it all happened on 'meatless' Tuesday."—Indianapolis News.

Thought of Others' Safety First.

For remarkable coolness and a most commendable sense of humor under dangerous conditions the navy department has just received an account of a young sailor whose nerve will always be remembered, although his name does not appear in the reports. When the army transport Antilles was sunk the armed guard supplied by the navy, in command of Lieut. R. D. Risdale, displayed splendid conduct, remaining calmly at their station while the ship was sinking and making no move to leave their posts until ordered to save themselves. It was when the ship had gone down and the men were struggling in the water that this unknown hero came into being. He was a member of a gun crew and when rescued was on top of an ammunition box, which had floated clear of the ship in an upright position. When the young man saw the ship coming close to him, he signaled for them to be careful, stating that the box on which he was floating contained live ammunition.

Flying Grasshoppers.

A species of grasshopper known to be capable of flying great distances is at times found far from land. The bureau of entomology recently received one of these insects which had been captured at sea, 12,000 miles from the African coast. The specimen was caught on the deck of a Norwegian vessel, and was one of a great swarm of the insects encountered in that region.

Relieving Our Minds.

What passes for reasoning on most occasions is a series of vocal sounds which serve—to use a phrase at once popular and scientific—to relieve our minds. Arguments employed in political addresses, sermons, and newspaper editorials are commonly little more than mere ejaculations, called forth by feelings of approval or disapproval, comfort or alarm.—James H. Robinson, in Atlantic.

Beyond Comprehension.

Kant, whose searching analysis of the pure reason, probed deeper than any philosopher before him into the mystery of consciousness, confessed that two things filled him with awe, as beyond the faculty of the human mind to grasp—the immensity of the starry heavens, and the moral sense implanted in the soul of man.

Truthful Aphorism.

In a catalogue of aphorisms in a newspaper we find this: "A woman's smile is more dangerous than her frown." There is a semblance of truth in the saying and the semblance occupies the forefront of the aphorism. There may be many men who will testify to the wisdom of the saying.—Ohio State Journal.

Cotton.

Cotton grows best in low coastal land in tropical latitudes. It is a native of Asia, likes light soil in warm, frostless climates, and requires plenty of moisture and salt.

Smoking Out Slackers.

The papers are telling of a western Kansas pastor who has hit upon the proper way to smoke out the slackers. In one of the recent war fund drives a meeting was held at which the pastor rose and said: "We are assuming that all of you are Americans, otherwise you would not be at this meeting. We assume that all Americans stand back of the boys who are fighting for us. Now we are not going to ask how many of you will give to this fund. All we want to know is how many are not going to give. All those who are not going to give anything will please stand up." You know the rest.—Kansas City Star.

COLLECT LITERATURE ON WAR

Cambridge University Authorities Making Plans to Add to Materials for Historical Study.

"The literature of the war will form a considerable element in every library where students work," writes the vice chancellor of Cambridge university, according to a correspondent of the Chicago Daily News.

"At the university library a great effort has been made during the last three years to form such a collection; and something already has been achieved by the celebration of helpers in various parts of the world, especially the United States, Spain and some countries in South America, where German propaganda literature has been circulated in great abundance.

"It may be thought that enough war collections will be made by the various government offices, the British museum and the National museum. These collections will of course be more extensive than anything which Cambridge can hope to get together. But where there is a school of history there should be materials for historical study be found, and a very moderate war collection will be much better than none. It may even be that it will contain some things not easily to be met with elsewhere. Therefore, all Cambridge men in particular are asked to use their opportunities and contribute what they can. Every scrap of printed paper eventually will fall into its place and have its chance of being useful to some explorer."

TYPE OF AIRPLANE NEEDED

British Expert Points Out Serious Defect in Those Which Are in Use at Present.

The most unpleasant situation in which an airman can find himself is to be at a considerable height and the view in all directions cut off by clouds. There is no fixed point visible, and he can only tell if he is flying straight by his compass and air speed. If the wind be "bumpy" the compass card begins to move and only the most delicate of steering will get it back to a steady position.

Capt. B. C. Hicks of the British royal flying corps says he has found it almost impossible to get the compass steady in a cloud. The airplane has already begun to turn and the pilot is almost certain to over correct. Then the nose drops and the speed goes up. The pilot cannot tell whether the machine is taking a nose-dive, is spiraling downwards or merely gliding a bit too rapidly.

If a stable machine be let alone under these circumstances it will right itself eventually and glide normally. But few pilots have nerve enough to let it alone and they are liable to try to pull out too suddenly, which means disaster.

Captain Hicks told the Aeronautical society in London that a machine which will show a constant vertical or horizontal line and be independent of centrifugal force, was badly needed.

Many Will Claim Spitzbergen. More than 300 years ago, in 1614, James I of England, formally claimed Spitzbergen. The Muscovy company, a British concern, was ordered "to uphold the king's right to Spitzbergen" by an order in council. That claim was allowed to lapse in the same manner in which the Russian claim lapsed, the Britons interested in the country say.

With the end of the war old data will be dug up, with records of comparatively recent times, to bolster the contentions of the various claimants, as Spitzbergen is sure to occupy a prominent place in north European affairs. Uncle Sam is happily out of the matter because of the sale by the Arctic Coal company, although judging by precedent it never was likely that this country would go so far as to desire to exercise suzerainty over the land. Such a course was urged in America in 1912 and 1913.

The German "Officers' Mess."

Hugh Gibson, who was secretary to the American legation in Belgium when the war broke out, can pack wit, humor and irony into a single paragraph and still keep it short. He visited a Belgian house that some German officers had occupied and later evacuated when their army retired. "Over the door," he writes, "was the inscription, 'Officers' Mess.' It was certainly the most complete mess that I ever saw. Until then I had regarded the expression, 'An officer and a gentleman,' as redundant. I no longer think so."—Youth's Companion.

Brought War Into Home.

The beginning of hostilities between Italy and Austria was the cause of similar activity in the household of Anthony Sokolic, says his wife, formerly Baroness Bianca Alessi, in her divorce complaint, filed at New York.

"He is a Croatian," she alleges, "and I am an Italian baroness. He has been a raving maniac since our respective countries got into war. I'm through."

Make Oleo From Whale Fat. A committee of experts appointed by the Norwegian government to endeavor to find a method of obtaining edible fats and oils from whale blubber and fish reports that its experiments have been successful. Whale fat with a mixture of other fats can also, it is believed, be used for making margarine. Norway has already two whale oil refineries, and the state has begun negotiations for the purchase of one of these.

Centre, an officer at Camp Devens, paid a tribute to the men from the parish from the standpoint of an Army officer. He said in part: "The manner in which the drafted men have taken up their work is the wonder of the army. They have buckled down to work with zeal and enthusiasm, and that army will rank as high as any that has ever fought under the Stars and Stripes."

Judge Michael J. Murray told his audience where he stands with both feet in the matter of pro-Germanism, when he said, "England is our ally now and the American citizen who opens his mouth against her is an enemy against the Stars and Stripes." He also said that for one he was glad that the German U-Boats had brought the war to our very shores for it had done more than anything else could have to bring this country to a sense of realization that we are really in the war ourselves.

He paid an eloquent tribute to the mothers of the boys in the service drawing a comparison between the mothers whose sons may make the supreme sacrifice on the battlefield, with the Mother Mary, whom, he said, when kneeling at the feet of the crucified Master, neither the Great Book or history records that she shed so much as a single tear at His sacrifice, knowing that it was in order that the principles of Christianity might live.

The address was one of the best heard in a long time and made a profound impression on all who heard it. The exercises closed with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The arrangements were in the hands of Fr. Curran and his assistant, Rev. James F. Hancy, A. W. Moriarty, chief marshal of the parade, was also active in the preliminary work. D. J. Callaghan was chief of staff. The names of the young men of the parish who are represented by stars on the service flag are as follows:

"THE ARKANSAS TRAVELER"

Being First Impressions of a Remarkable State
From a Few Days Observation

NO. 2

First impressions are not always correct and perhaps it is not quite fair to judge Hot Springs by my experiences of four days, but, so far as I am concerned, that city will know me no more.

Our party was met at the train by a brass band and was then herded by two and marched thru the main street to the hotel like pall bearers at a funeral. It must have been an edifying spectacle to the bystanders and was humiliating and embarrassing for most of us. Arriving at the hotel, one of the leading hostesses in the city, by the way, we were coolly informed that rooms with baths were few and extremely high priced. After a hot afternoon and a long walk, this information was most interesting to most of us, and we showed our resentment by removing to other hotels the next day. It is said that the hotels are purposely without private baths in order to compel people to go to the numerous bathhouses in the city.

I was prepared to like Hot Springs, largely thru the extravagant language of a Mr. Reedy, who wrote the pamphlet which is used to advertise the town. I believe Mr. Reedy's language describing Hot Springs contains more eulogistic adjectives than any other in the English tongue. I found the town just like any other summer or winter resort, largely made up of people who make their living off the visitors to the place.

The main street is quite attractive and has many good shops. For a quarter of a mile on one side, the United States government has a reservation on which are erected about a dozen different bathhouses some of them of expensive construction and as elaborate inside and out as some of our high grade clubs. One bathhouse which we visited is entirely constructed inside with mosaic and tile and is well worth a visit. This portion of the street, with a line of splendid magnolia trees, its lawns and fountains is most inviting. Within this reservation are several fountains of hot water, and it is a common sight to see a group of people about them, taking a drink. Directly back of the bathhouses is the mountain, which is also full of hot springs, most of which are piped to a central reservoir and supply the bathhouses.

We visited the ostrich and alligator farms during intermissions between convention meetings; were also entertained one evening by stunts at a local theatre. But the attitude of the townspeople was not as friendly as we found later in the state, indeed, the blasé feeling towards us was even manifested in the Elks Club, which usually marks the high water of hospitality and cordiality. I was in the club room one day with at least a dozen other men, and not one word was said to me during that time. I will wager it would be impossible to do that in any other Elks club in the country.

One of the principal features of interest in the trip to the state was the fact that there was to be a total eclipse of the sun on Saturday, June 8th. Our program promised us a trip to the path of totality, at a point about 20 miles south of the city. We found that the arrangements included a trip in a couple of alleged passenger cars which were dirty and old and most uninviting. The engine was apparently in the last stages of locomotive consumption.

All of this country in the south-west of Arkansas is covered with forests, and considerable lumber is being shipped from there. With their usual extravagance, the residents of Arkansas state that the largest saw mill in the world is located in this part of their state. It is interesting to note that the largest everything else was claimed for this, that or the other county as we progressed through the state.

The latter part of the afternoon we stopped for a half hour at a little country village called Rison where the place was nicely decorated and some excellent punch (Arkansas is dry) was given us by the ladies, in a pretty little grove near the railroad station. Barring the inevitable speeches, this was an interesting incident in the day's trip.

I was much interested to learn that the leading newspaper of the place was the Pine Bluffs Graphic, a name which is not common in newspaper circles. It is needless to say that the title was somewhat familiar, and the makeup and character of the paper was creditable to its name.

The kind of people living in this little town is illustrated by an incident which happened only a week or two before our own visit there. A troop train on its way thru the town was stalled for some hours for some reason, and the village rose to the occasion by providing the boys with a lunch and entertainment during their enforced stay in the town.

We reached Pine Bluff late in the afternoon, and were met by a committee and a large number of automobiles. One of the interesting places visited (to a Northerner) was a cotton compressing plant, where there must have been hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of cotton in sight. Cotton after it is ginned is loosely baled and takes up considerable space. The object of the compress is to squeeze the cotton, and it took over an hour's time to tinker it up so it could make a start. The sun was two-thirds covered when the train began to move, and there was no hope of reaching the area of totality in time. But the clouds came to the rescue of our hosts and completely covered the sun so that when the great moment came, it was wholly out of sight. There was a peculiar appearance to the air, however, at the time of the greatest eclipse, and the rapid lighting of the air was most noticeable as the shadow of the moon passed away. An hour later it was most provoking to have the sun shine clear and bright.

The train carried us out into the country which is being developed after the lumberman has passed along. We were given a hasty barbecue, with plenty of pie and cake, and were told of the great possibilities of the country, whose name I did not catch. The return trip was made in cars which did not carry a light and on arriving at the station in Hot Springs, two miles from the hotel, we waited many weary minutes and then filled the bob-tailed street cars of the city like sardines. Never again will I try to see an eclipse at Hot Springs.

The city is run by a City Manager, and had but one policeman at the time that there had been but one arrest for the past two weeks. It looked clean and business-like. It has had the one-man street car system for the past few months, and while we were there in the dull season, it seemed to work very well, there being some delay when a large number of passengers were waiting to get aboard.

The mountain as well as the area covered by the bath houses is a government reservation. There are good roads winding their way to the top, and an observation tower adds a few feet to the view, which is rather pretty.

On Sunday night we started on a fifteen hundred mile tour of the state, having a special train of four Pullmans. Monday morning we broke camp at Texarkana, one of the most unique towns in the country. It is built over the boundary line between Texas and Arkansas and is within 18 miles of Louisiana and 20 miles of Oklahoma. The leading newspaper in the place is called the "Four States Press" on that account. The boundary line crosses the main street of the city at a slight angle, and is marked in the pavement by a line of two bricks, clear across the street. Texarkana is said to have more court houses than any other place in the country, having a United States District Court for both Texas and Arkansas, as well as county courts for each of the counties. The city has two municipal governments, two sets of schools, two sets of policemen and, what is more remarkable, is said to have two sets of churches. Just as if religion should be separated by a state ment, thanks to the insurance companies which compel the two cities to join forces in this municipal work. We had a pleasant automobile drive over the city, which seemed to be much more attractive on the Arkansas side than on the Texas side. They have an attractive country club, with some good tennis courts and a nine-hole golf course. The city looks prosperous and is growing rapidly.

At noon that day we lunched at Camden, under the trees surrounding the county court house. While out-door lunches of this kind do not appeal to me, this one was really attractive, the committee in charge was most cordial and hospitable.

We are sorry to note that the rigid standard for only absolutely necessary appropriations, which the city government set for itself and so closely followed in the annual budget passed last March, has been apparently forgotten during the past few weeks.

We believe that if the rigid standard had been kept in mind the aldermen would not have acted favorably on such matters as a new sidewalk on Farlow road, electric lighting for a branch library at Upper Falls, authorizing street sprinkling on various streets, brand new furnishings for the new fire station on Beacon street, as well as $3000 for improving the lunch room at the Classical High School. Every one of these matters, while desirable in themselves, might well have been postponed until more favorable conditions are reached.

The week beginning today has been designated as Loyalty week. The best test of your loyalty to the principles for which our boys are fighting in France is to support them financially. Buy War Savings stamps and pledge yourself to continue to buy them each week during the war. Cut down your use of sugar, beef, pork and fats for these articles are a necessity across the water, and we can use something in their places here.

Alderman Philip Nichols, who is an expert on taxation, was one of the speakers this week before the recess committee of the Legislature on the distribution of the income tax. Mr. Nichols made an able argument on the lines that a tax cannot be levied for more than the use of the district taxed. Newton has a deep interest in this question as any other plan would mean a considerable loss of income.

Massachusetts has never selected its United States senators on the basis of wealth as intimated by Governor McCall, and Senator John W. Weeks stands head and shoulders above the average senator, both in ability and accomplishments.

The additional salary granted to police officers and firemen is a recognition by the aldermen that persons receiving a medium salary find it most difficult to meet the material increase in the cost of necessities of life.

The garbage question will never be settled in this city until it is handled by city men, and not by contract. It will probably cost more but the increased efficiency and service are worth the price.

The Constitution Convention has taken favorable action on the proposition that the Legislature should be granted authority to regulate the use of billboards. "For this relief much thanks."

Read the Sugar ultimatum published in another column and prepare to do your full share. "Don't ask for sugar, our boys have asked first."

CAUSED BY WEIGHT OF SNOW

Simple Explanation of Odd Shapes of Trees, That Has Been a Mystery to Many.

To the person who is not versed in forest lore the grotesquely bent tree trunks that are to be found in almost all woods are mystifying, and wonder is often aroused as to the cause, remarks the Popular Science Monthly. Foresters will tell questioners that in the case of trees in mountainous country and other sections where the snowfall is heavy, the weight of snow is responsible in most instances for the queer twists they assume. When a tree is young the weight of snow that falls on its branches often bends the trunk over until it is flattened to the ground. Sometimes it is buried under six or eight feet of snow and held in that position so long that when warm weather comes the tree falls to spring back into its normal position. The summer sun causes the tip of the young tree to turn upward and if it manages to withstand the weight of the snow of the next winter, that portion of the tree will, as a general rule, continue to grow in a normal way. "Hairpin" bends and other odd shapes result.

A curious tree stands on the top of Tunnel hill, Johnston, Pa., about four miles from town. It is a sugar maple about one hundred years old which has prolonged its own life by grafting a branch into a much younger tree.

BECOMES IRKSOME AT TIMES

No Matter What the Nature of One's Occupation, Its Routine Will Occasionally Weary.

Are there times when your work becomes intolerably irksome? Yes? Well, don't jump at the conclusion that you are in the wrong place when this happens once in awhile. That will be true whatever work you choose. No matter how well adapted you are to your occupation, there will come times when your thoughts will wander, and the routine will weary you, and you will feel that any other work would be preferable to that which you have chosen. One of the best-known women writers of the last generation wrote an impassioned warning to literary aspirants, telling them to do any work, even scrubbing floors, in preference to taking up a literary career. Undoubtedly she wrote at a time when her chosen work seemed unappealingly irksome, but if she had been cornered, she would probably have acknowledged that the profession of authorship has considerable to commend it when compared with scrubbing floors.

This occasional impatience with our vocation is inevitable. No matter how congenial it is, there are times when it will seem a burden. The people who change their occupation every time it begins to bore them, are the tramps of the business world.

As to Remarkable Longevity.

We have all read of Thomas Parr, who lived to be one hundred and fifty-two. Likewise of the countess of Desmond, one hundred and forty-five; Margaret Patten, one hundred and thirty-seven; Thomas Damme, one hundred and sixty-four; John Rovin, one hundred and seventy-two; and Peter Torton, who reached the age of one hundred and eighty-five. But these cases of extraordinary longevity lack proof.

In the days when those persons lived no accurate chronological records were kept, and dates of occurrences were usually fixed by associating them in memory with other events believed to have happened about the same time. A man's identity was liable to be confused with that of a grandfather of the same name.

Nowadays nobody lives to any such ages. Why imagine that the extreme limits of longevity have shrunk within the last two or three centuries?

Winter's Discipline.

He who marvels at the beauty of the world in summer will find equal cause for wonder and admiration in winter. It is true the pomp and pageantry are swept away, but the essential elements remain—the day and the night, the mountain and the valley, the elemental play and succession, and the perpetual presence of the infinite sky. In winter the stars seem to have rekindled their fires, the moon achieves a fuller triumph, and the heavens wear a look of more exalted simplicity. Summer is more wooing, . . . more versatile and human, appeals to the affections and the sentiments, and fosters inquiry and the art impulse. Winter is of a more heroic cast, and addresses the intellect. The severe studies and disciplines come easier in winter. One imposes larger tasks upon himself.

How to Tell Age of Eggs.

There is a simple method of ascertaining the age of eggs, based upon the fact that the airy space at the broad end of the egg increases with its age. Now, when the egg is placed in a tumbler of water in which any amount of common salt is dissolved, it will, with increasing age, tend ever more to assume a position with its longitudinal axis in a perpendicular direction. A fresh laid egg will lie horizontally on the bottom of the vessel. An egg from three to four days old will rise with its broad end, so that its longitudinal axis forms with its horizontal axis an angle of 20 degrees. At the age of eight days the angle increases to 45 degrees, at the age of two weeks to 60 degrees, and at the age of three weeks to about 75 degrees. When the egg is more than a month old it will float perpendicularly on its small end.

PARIS CHAUFFEURS ARE FOXY

Have Developed Ingenious Trick to Play on Sympathies of Unsuspecting American Women.

Paris taxicab drivers—how many stories have been and will be told about them!—are now playing a new trick on unsuspecting Americans and even French people, especially women. There are several popular restaurants on the Avenue Trudaine, which is only reached from the boulevards by climbing the hill in the Rue des Martyrs. It takes time and gasoline to mount that grade; that is why many taxis stop after starting the ascent.

The driver makes frantic efforts to start—then climbs down, lifts the bonnet of the engine, pokes around, makes another effort to start, throws up his hands and exclaims: "It's broken down! It won't go a foot further."

His fare, usually a woman, gets out, often angry and indignant, but the chauffeur has lost his ability to reply in kind. He is sad, and shakes his head mournfully. "My whole evening's work will be wasted by the time this car's pulled back to the garage. I won't make any money tonight!"

As like as not, the sympathy of his passenger is aroused, and she gives him a good tip in addition to the fare indicated by the taximeter—and then walks up hill. When she is out of sight the chauffeur lifts the hood again, twists a valve and the engine starts with a bang. He hops to his seat and rattles back to the boulevards, hoping to find another easy mark.

NO TIME FOR NIGHT LIGHTS

Unpatriotic as Well as Unhygienic to Leave Them Burning With Coal at a Premium.

A fear of the dark seems to be a common inheritance of savages and children. But with a little patience any child can be coaxed out of this fear, and it can be proved easily enough that one rests better in a room that is not lighted. If you still leave a night light burning, turn it out. It isn't patriotic. It isn't really hygienic. And it certainly is not necessary.

It has been estimated that a 16-candle power lamp burned through an evening of, say three or four hours, consumes a pound of coal. If you burn an eight-candle power lamp during a whole night you doubtless burn more than a pound of coal, and we are now being shown by the authorities in Washington that pounds of coal will have as much to do with winning the war as loaves of bread. If you are looking for something to do, if you are casting about for something to knit for Sammie in the trenches, if you are thinking of giving up sugar in your coffee, or planning to go without something one day in the week so as to do your bit, stop, and ask yourself about the night light.

Turn it out!

Latest Telegraph Record.

Within the past few weeks a seven-league stride has been made in high-speed telegraphy, says Popular Mechanics. An apparatus, which in actual tests has proved its ability to transmit over a single grounded wire 6,000 words a minute has been evolved. The real significance of this escapes one until it is realized that 6,000 words set in type will fill 7½ standard magazine pages.

Details of what appears to be an epoch-making achievement must be withheld for military reasons. It is a war invention and has for its chief purpose the liberation of hundreds of expert operators for the signal corps without disorganizing our much-needed commercial lines. No secret is divulged, however, when the apparatus is described as a printing telegraph system depending upon a universally used recording instrument that has never before been associated with telegraphy. The system is applicable to wireless but so far has not been actually used in connection with it.

Taking the Joy Out of Life.

They had been dining in state, in the dining car. Husband, who is a teacher of English, was glad that little daughter had behaved so perfectly. Mother also was in a happy frame of mind. There were numerous other diners in the car and the parents were proud of their child. Not a single thing had happened to mar the serenity of the occasion. Finally the meal was over and they started to leave the car. Their way took them past all of the other tables. Suddenly the little girl felt impelled to ask a question.

"Mother," she called in a shrill voice, "aren't we going to wash the dishes?"

Patient Little Penny.

The patient little penny is coming into its own. Not that it has not had a certain popularity for religious collections and blind beggars, but aside from the purchase of papers and matches and to put into weighing machines, it has not been in great demand of late years. The nickel was king. It did not go to church so often, but it was exclusive and preferred to keep its own company. Now it cannot accomplish much without the aid of the brownie, which—until packages are reduced at least—will enjoy something of its ancient glory.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Capable Looking Men.

Very capable looking young men are these marines, and the odds on Uncle Sam go up a few notches every time they are trotted out into view.—Savannah News.

CHILEAN GOLD RESERVE HERE

Peculiar Deal by Which It Was Transferred From Germany to the United States.

At the outbreak of the war, says the London Economist, the Chilean government owned a large amount of gold in Germany, which was destined to form a basis for its note issue, and was held up by the blockade. So were vast quantities of nitrates, bought from German producers in Chile for export to Germany, and their stoppage compelled the German nitrate producers in Chile to cease working. These producers too were in debt to the Chilean government. That government therefore bought the nitrate, paying for it by drafts on Berlin drawn against the gold which it could not reach. It then sold the nitrate in the United States to the DuPont Explosives company, receiving payment in gold in New York. Thus it transferred its gold reserve from Germany to the United States, and incidentally added to the stock of raw material to be converted into explosives where-with to defeat German troops. The deal has naturally been interpreted in France as a preliminary step toward a breach with Germany, but it was carried out with the sanction of the German government. Partly, no doubt, the latter desired to extricate its subjects in Chile and an important Hamburg mercantile firm from their serious pecuniary difficulties, but it must also have been moved by an extreme anxiety to keep on good terms with Chile, which contains a large German population and is an important field for German trade.

ADDING HORROR TO SITUATION

Conversation as Reported by Boston "Humorist" Would Seem to Approach the Limit.

"The coal situation is getting very acute, isn't it?" asked ma, as she looked over the morning paper.

"Yes," said Peggy. "I was reading where Mr. Stomorrow, the fuel demonstrator, is trying to get coal from the minds."

"But the paper says there is a shortage of anthracite coal," interrupted ma, "and that we should use voluminous coal."

"Not 'voluminous,' ma," corrected Peggy. "butoomany coal!"

"I don't care what they call it," said ma, "you can't get any, anyhow. It's just too aggregating for words. A pound of sugar or a hod of coal today is worth more than all the wealth of the ancient Inskands."

"Who were them?" asked Peggy. "Them was Indians as used to live down in Texaco," ma told her. "It does look as if this war would never terminal."

"It will be terrible if the Russians continue their armature with the Germans, wouldn't it, ma?"

"Oh, he's a terrible, terrible man," sighed ma.

"Whom is?" asked Peggy. "Why," said ma, as she went to get dinner, "who but the geyser?"—Joe Toye in the Boston Post.

Burning Water.

Particularly pat, at a time when the shortage of coal has required many emergency regulations of business, is the announcement that a chemist has found a way in which it will, it is claimed, be commercially profitable to use water as fuel. A man who saw the process exemplified describes it to the Christian Science Monitor in these words: "I have seen water burning. I have seen water streaming into a flame of blazing oil, and instead of putting out the fire, it made the flame rear upward and develop a temperature of 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit, enough to melt copper." It should be said that the water alone will not burn now any more than in the past, but, combined with equal parts of any oil that will flow freely, it becomes excellent fuel. This is the way the observer explains the process technically: "The combustion of water is based upon the fact that when a fine stream of water is put through an intensely hot metal coil, it is not only turned into vapor, but the water molecules are split up into their constituent elements, oxygen and hydrogen."

Foiled Food Smugglers.

Smuggling of foodstuffs into Germany is being practiced in ingenious and unexpected ways. Three weeks ago a party of 50 persons crossed the frontier to take part in a masked ball in a little Swiss town. Toward midnight they returned in automobiles, which were warned to stop at the frontier. No notice being taken of the warning the Swiss sentinels fired and brought the cars to a standstill. The occupants, most of whom were discovered to be German soldiers, succeeded in making their escape, but the cars, in which were found to be hidden large quantities of soap, chocolate, butter, leather and fats, were seized by the authorities.

Inculcating the Spirit.

It was holiday week, but a mother and child had managed somehow to get a whole sent on the car. Suddenly the little girl slid off the seat, and facing her mother, cried out, with anguish in her childish voice: "Oh mother, I forgot to git anything fer teacher."

"Well, what uv it?" the mother answered tartly. "She didn't git nuthin' fer you," and she sat the child down hard on the seat, partly to keep the woman in the aisle from taking any privileges, and partly, perhaps to impress on the child the Christmas spirit—as she saw it.

George Scott, the Newton High School Tennis player was the winner of the Massachusetts Junior Title Wednesday afternoon at the Chestnut Hill courts of the Longwood C. C., defeating Francis Plimpton, Amherst, 6-1, 8-5. Scott played steady, heady tennis, taking advantage of Plimpton's mistakes. It was a foregone conclusion that he would win the junior title, but he did not have things all his own way by any means, especially in the second set, when he had to extend himself.

Upright Habits of Real Value.

There is a sort of automatic moral integrity about upright habits. The man who is set in such habits has no need to think over and reason out his course of action.

Largest Bible.

The largest Bible ever printed is an English copy, five feet two inches high, three feet six inches wide, and ten inches thick. The binding is made from 12 goatskins.

New Use for Electricity.

According to English scientists, electricity passed through timber when freshly cut makes it more resistant against decay and fungus growth.

Daily Thought.

It is self-evident that if every individual would make himself a better individual the nation would take care of itself.—The Thoroughbreds.

Horse racing an Old Sport.

Chester was probably the first place in England where horse racing was established, as in 1609 the mayor of that

ALL HAVE THEIR UNDER-DOGS

Good Reasons Why People's Sympathies Are With the Fellow Who Is Temporarily Down.

Our sympathies naturally travel the line of likes—that is, the things we feel in ourselves, we feel in others. We applaud the under-dog, because we so often have been the under-dog. We like to lift the other fellow up when he is down, because we also have been down.
Sympathy starts at home—or else it isn't sympathy.

Your periodic moods of failure and disappointment are your under-dogs.

So, instead of walking past these under-dogs of yours and casting no sympathy their way, pause to give them your heart and your hope, and soon the picture and fact will be your over-dogs—your victories and your genuine achievements.

No under-dogs can possibly appeal in importance to the under-dogs of your daily experience.

Perhaps you will applaud alone the under-dogs of your personal glooms and shadows, but what of it? As Lowell says: "Daily, with souls that cringe and plot, we sinners climb and know it not." What difference, what odds, so long as over your "manhood bend the skies?"

Courageously cheer the under-dogs of your experiences and stay proudly by them until their fight becomes a factor of your kingship.—George Matthew Adams, in Good Housekeeping.

GLASS STAINED BY X-RAYS

Experiments Have Shown These Produce the Same Effect as the Light of the Sun.

It is well known that glass exposed for long to sunlight acquires a violet tint. In very old houses the windows facing south are often distinctly violet.
Experiments recently made in the laboratories of the General Electric company at Schenectady with X-rays prove that these can be used to dye glass in many colors, principally an amethystine violet and an amber yellow, but also green and bright yellow.

These colors, according to Mr. Rosenthal, who conducted the experiments, are due to modifications of the physical structure of the glass and not to chemical alterations. The color can be made to penetrate to any desired depth, from a mere surface tint to complete coloration of the entire substance. And the same method can be applied to tinting porcelain, enamel and precious stones.

An interesting and important fact about this glass that has been colored by long exposure to X-rays is that it becomes impervious to the radiations that have transformed it. Thus it can be used as a protection against the glare of the sun or the snow and against the X-rays themselves.

Russia and the United States.

The old autocratic government of Russia was always particularly friendly to the United States. During the Revolutionary war Russia offered to mediate for peace and her offer was accepted by the United States but declined by Great Britain. Russia was one of the first governments to recognize the independence of the United States and continued to show her good will by making treaties of amity and commerce with the United States. Several of our early presidents in their messages referred to "the continued friendship of Russia." In 1823, Russia proposed a friendly adjustment through diplomatic channels of the boundary line between American and Russian possessions in the Northwest and President Monroe authorized the United States minister to Russia to attend to the matter. In doing so he said: "The government of the United States has been desirous by this friendly proceeding to manifest the great value which they have invariably attached to the friendship of Russia and their solicitude to cultivate the best understanding with that government."

Love in Fishdom.

This is no "fish" story as the term is usually referred to, but it is a story about fish. Jim Foster, student of fish affairs, vouches for its authenticity.
Jim has a collection of big live fish in a small aquarium in a downtown restaurant and for 12 hours every night he watches them perform.

"The fish are very affectionate," declared the fish student. "They are good-tempered and kind toward one another. See those two largest fish?
They are married. I guess, or else in love with each other. They always kiss each other good night and nibble affectionately at each other's mouths.
The female of the two never puts her cold fins on the male one's back. And in the morning—say, it's amusing to watch them yawn and stretch themselves."—Detroit Free Press.

How Would You Tie a Camel?

Because of its peculiar swaying motion in walking the camel has been called the "ship of the desert." This title may also have some reference to the extreme stupidity and passivity of the animal, which submits to great loads, which it will often carry for days at a time without stopping for food or drink, with no more urging than a ship would require from the hands of its pilot, says the Popular Science Monthly. The manner in which they stop for a rest is interesting.
They do not depend upon stakes driven in the deep, yielding sand, but simply double back and tie one of the forelegs of the animal, so that it can lie down or rise up, but cannot move from the spot.

Patriotism and Loyalty

June 28 has been appointed in our country to be celebrated as Loyalty Day. A week later comes Independence Day, which this year will have deeper significance than ever before to all Americans.

This reading-list has been prepared to point out a few examples in literature of ideals of patriotism and loyalty. We are considering now not only the love for our own country with which we are inspired, but a greater loyalty, the loyalty of one nation to another, which is to bring about true democracy.

The Philosophy of Loyalty, by Josiah Royce. BNLO-RS
"Loyalty is indeed an old word, and to my mind a precious one; and the general idea of loyalty is still far older than the word, and is immeasurably more precious... the heart of all the virtues, the central duty amongst all duties."—From the book.

The biographies of great national leaders inspire patriotism. The lives of Robert Bruce, Joan of Arc, Gustavus Adolphus, George Washington, Lafayette, Garibaldi, and Lincoln are valuable reading to this very end.

Among the foreign-born who have become loyal American citizens, the following authors have shown what our country means to them:

Antin, Mary. The Promised Land. EA631-A
Riis, Jacob. The Making of an American. ER449-R
Steiner, Edward A. From Alien to Citizen; the story of my life in America. ESS223-S
The present war has given us very recently two writers; Herman Hagedorn and Otto Kahn, men of German ancestry who speak courageously from their hearts words of thrilling patriotism.

Hagedorn, Herman. You are the Hope of the World. JBOC-H12
Written for the boys and girls of America, between the ages of ten and seventeen. "To you is given a work every bit as grand as dying for your country; and that is, living for the highest interests of your country. If, therefore, you live for the highest interests of America, you live at the same time for the highest interests of the world."

Hagedorn, Herman. Where do you Stand? FOT9-H12
This appeal to Americans of German birth is a logical, broad, and convincing argument that leads step by step to the unescapable plea for loyalty to America. It is a fine, a fair, a stirring book, says the New York Times, Kahn, Otto. Right about Face. FOT9-K12

Written by a German-born American, who says, "We will not permit the blood in our veins to be drawn the conscience in our breast."

Along introspective lines, to be suggested are:

Dawson, Coningsby. Carry on! Knight, Rev. William A. War-time over here. FOT9-D32
Scott, John F. Patriots in the Making. FOT9-K74
Waldstein, Charles. Patriotism, National and International. BNPA-432

These four short stories illustrate loyalty in a different way: Her Country, by Mary S. Andrews; The Man Without a Country, by Edward Everett Hale; The Yellow Dog, by Henry Irving Dodge; and Benefits Forgiven, by Honore Willis.

This is the end and the beginning of an age. This is something far greater than the French Revolution or the Reformation. And we live in it.—From Mr. Britling Sees it Through.

NEWTON DETACHMENT SERVICE COMMITTEE

This committee was formed through the efforts of the Newton Safety Committee in order to have an organization to serve the 28 soldiers who recently came to our city in charge of Captain Johnson. These soldiers will spend two months in getting a mechanical training at our Technical High School.

We want these men to feel that we welcome them to our city and that we are interested in their welfare.

The committee is as follows:
C. D. Kepner, chairman; Mrs. W. O. Hunt, Hostess House; Dr. L. H. Naylor, Club Night; Miss Flora McDonald, Sunday Dinners; Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Social Service Work; Mr. Samuel Thurber, Information Work; Mr. Edwards until July 1, Mr. W. C. Boyce during July, Red Triangle Work; Mr. H. W. Bascom, Newton Y.M.C.A.

The Newton Club has given the use of the ladies' parlor from Saturday noon of each week until Sunday evening as a Hostess House.

The Red Triangle Rooms were opened and a Secretary was there to greet the men on their arrival. A regular Y.M.C.A. war tent will soon be erected for their use.

We especially need a piano and a graphophone, with plenty of records to be used in this tent. If any kind of funds could accommodate us for the summer, same would be greatly appreciated.

SUMMER SESSION BRYANT & STRATTON SCHOOL, BOSTON

The demand from the government and business houses for thousands of trained clerks, stenographers, and bookkeepers has induced the Bryant & Stratton School of Boston to hold a summer session, July 8 to August 16, inclusive.

The regular teachers have shown their patriotism by waiving their usual summer vacations and thus enable students in the summer session to receive the same training as in the fall and winter sessions.

Special courses will be given for school teachers desiring to train for private secretaries, teaching commercial branches or specializing in penmanship. Students attending the summer session will gain six weeks in graduating over those entering the regular term in the fall.

A handsome booklet giving full particulars of the summer session or a copy of the 1918 Bulletin describing all the sessions will be gladly sent by the School upon application.

RULE FOR MAKING COTTAGE CHEESE

By Government Method

Unit 1 gallon. For lesser amounts, measurements to be divided accordingly.

Take 1 gallon of sweet skim milk; add 3-4 cup of clean sour milk and stir as it is put in. Raise the temperature in hot water to 75 degrees Fahrenheit, using a dairy thermometer. Remove from heat and place where it is to remain until set. Add 1-8 of a junket tablet thoroughly dissolved in 4 tablespoons of cold water, stir while adding. Cover with cloth and leave from 12 to 16 hours in even temperature, about 75 degrees Fahrenheit. At end of this period there should be a slight whey on the top and when poured out the curd should cleave sharply. Drain through cotton cloth, not cheesecloth. When whey has been drained out, work in 1 or 2 teaspoons of salt to the cheese, according to taste; 1-2 to 2 pounds of cheese should be obtained from a gallon of milk.

For table use it is advisable to work in 1 or 2 tablespoons of cream to the pound. For use in cooking, this is not necessary.

Recipes demonstrated by Dr. Eleanor Mellen at Technical High School, June 18, 1918.

Camouflage Sausage

One cup dry bread crumbs, 1-4 cup peanuts cut up, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon sage, 1-2 teaspoon thyme, 1-4 cup onion, 1-4 cup pepper. Mix well together. Then add 1 cup cottage cheese, 1-4 cup peanut butter, 1 tablespoon minced onion, and a little melted butter. Mold into cakes and roll in corn meal. Cook in Ma-zola or other oil.

Strawberry Fluff

Beat stiff whites of 2 eggs. Whip 1-2 tablespoon cream in with a fork until fluffy one cup or less of cottage cheese. Whip 1-3 cup heavy cream. Fold in 1-2 of this to above mixture. Pile this on strawberries or other fruit. Then put remaining cream on top of this and decorate with strawberries or other fruit.

PRIZE FOR WAR BREAD

Miss Helen Gladys Keniston, a sophomore at Lasell Seminary at Auburndale, won the prize for war bread in the college over scores of girls who had taken the cooking course years longer than she had.

Before the student body of the seminary recently Miss Keniston was presented with a gold pin shaped like a tiny loaf of bread. It is the most coveted honor that the seminary can bestow and the giving of which has been a Commencement feature since 1876.

Miss Keniston has been much interested in cooking ever since she entered the college and has some very decided ideas on what is place in the work of the world and her chances to help in the war.

Cooking is one of the most important things that women can learn, she says, and just at this time the turning of the "staff of life" into a perfect piece of cooking is it is possible to make should attract the attention of women the country over.

Miss Keniston is an adept in adapting the allowed kinds of meats to the table to make them tasty and palatable. She is also a famous salad maker and is sought after by the girls at the seminary to provide such delicacies for the "feeds" that girls indulge in.

Her war bread is justly famous with the college, and bearing in mind that war bread is more difficult to make than ordinary bread, the honor bestowed upon Miss Keniston is held in higher esteem this year than ever before. Here is the way the "best" war bread can be made, according to the recipe furnished by Miss Keniston:

Two cups of wheat flour, one cup of corn flour, one tablespoon of corn syrup, one tablespoon of corn oil, one and a quarter of a cup of lukewarm water, half a teaspoon of salt and three-quarters of a teaspoon of yeast. Mix the corn syrup and corn oil in boiling water. After it is cool add the yeast, which has been dissolved in the lukewarm water. Add the wheat flour, then the corn flour. Add water and knead. Allow to rise two hours, then knead again and allow to rise one hour. Then bake.

Next week the Cornucopia girl and has already gone for the summer to her home in the far west.

NORUMBEGA PARK

The new picnic grounds at Norumbega, added this year, have met with a wonderful reception. Fifteen acres in extent, they contain one of the best non-professional diamonds in the State, and with shower bath and lockers for men and for women.

More people use the canoes this year than ever before, possibly due to the daylight saving plan, permitting them to come direct from their work to the park, and still be home in ample season. This plan is helped by the big, cool restaurant, with facilities for dancing and excellent music.

The zoo is as popular as ever, and the kiddies never get tired of the little donkeys. They go into ecstasies over the new arrival at the park, a little black donkey, as mischievous as the little tots who watch him.

Next week the Liberty Players will present the popular war play, "Inside the Lines."

COPLEY THEATRE—When "Inside the Lines" was acted at the Copley Theatre last winter by the Henry Jewett Players, it proved itself a war play seldom equalled in popularity to "The Man Who Stayed at Home." It ran for seven weeks to large audiences, and when it was withdrawn it was placed in its authors hands for revision. It was felt at the time, both by the author and the management, that it could be improved in many details. That revision is now completed, and it will be given in its new version at the Copley Theatre next week. Mr. Biggers has written and constructed a drama of the most intensive interest. Its scenes are interspersed with comedy, and its crisp and witty dialogue proves much amusement. In fact, it is a play, as was "The Man Who Stayed at Home," of thrills and laughter.

KELLEY—CLAPP

Mrs. George Allen Clapp of 503 Walnut street, Newtonville, announces the marriage of her daughter, Antoinette Winship, to Robert Chandler Kelley, on June 22.

The Rev. Richard T. Loring of St. John's Episcopal Church performed the ceremony and a reception immediately followed. Mrs. John S. Clapp and Mrs. George A. Clapp of Brookline, sisters-in-law of the bride, were matrons of honor and wore blue taffeta, carrying pink roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Irene Davidson of Braintree, Miss Elizabeth Hewins of Wellesley, Miss Eleanor Eustis of Cohasset and Miss Winifred Gaskin of Boston, wore pink taffeta and carried Ophelia roses. The bride wore white net with silver lace, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. Margaret Frances Clapp was flower girl, and Eugene Howard Clapp, 2d, ring bearer. F. Webster Kelley, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and John S. Clapp and Allen Clapp, brothers of the bride, acted as ushers.

Miss Clapp is a graduate of Dana Hall in 1913, and was in the class of 1917 at Smith. Mr. Kelley was graduated from Harvard last year, and is now in the Officers' Training Camp until recently at Camp Devens. The wedding was put ahead a week owing to military orders received by the bridegroom.

BLAKENEY—WING

A pretty military wedding took place last Wednesday evening, June 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Wing of 5 Washburn street, when their daughter, Miss Sadie Rose Wing, became the bride of Corporal John W. Blakeney, Jr., of Newtonville, now a member of C.G.C., Coast Artillery at Fort Andrews. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by Rev. Father Robinson, pastor of St. John Evangelical Church, the double ring form being used. The bride wore a wedding gown of Georgette crepe over white satin and carried bride roses. Miss Rose Blakeney, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and was groomed in grey Georgette crepe and carried roses. Mr. Paul Wing, brother of the bride, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held. Many relatives and friends from the Newtons, Boston and New Hampshire were present. Both bride and groom are very popular in the Newton section, having taken part in various entertainments. Corporal Blakeney is a graduate of Newton Technical High School of the class of 1915, and has been in the artillery two months, being made corporal on his wedding day. For the present, Mrs. Blakeney will make her home with her parents.

BURROWS—MERCIER

Mlle. Marcelle Mercier of La Rochelle, France, and Grant H. Burrows of Newton, were married on Saturday evening, following hurriedly made plans. Their acquaintance began in France where Mr. Burrows was attached to the American Field Ambulance Corps. He has just been ordered transferred from the Fourth Officers' Training Camp at Camp Devens to a southern cantonment. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burrows of 93 Eldridge street, Newton, and returned to the United States about four months ago, after nine months of active service with the Ambulance Corps, in the French transport service and with the Red Cross. He applied for admission to the officers' training camp at Devens as soon as he returned from abroad, and was accepted for training as one of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology quota to enter the officers' camp. He was in his third term at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y., where he abandoned his studies to join the American Field Ambulance Corps. Mr. Burrows expects to be sent to France after a brief course of training at the southern cantonment. His bride came over to this country from France only a few weeks ago.

PARTRIDGE—ATWOOD

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Miss Hortense Atwood of Natick and Lieut. Edward Mortimer Partridge of Newtonville.

Miss Atwood is a well-known Natick girl, a graduate of the local High school and of Simmons College, and since graduating she has been teaching. Lieutenant Partridge is a graduate of Newton High school, and is a University of Maine man, where he received military training, and last August at Plattsburg received his appointment as second lieutenant in the United States army. He now holds the rank of first lieutenant and is now doing duty over seas.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Partridge were quietly married on August 22, 1917, in the presence of the immediate families at the home of Mrs. Frank M. Grant, sister of the groom.

During the war Mrs. Partridge will make her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Wilson of Park avenue, Natick.

AUBURNDALE HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION ENTERTAINS

Monday evening of this week, on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Lane on Hancock street, the Graduating Class of the Burr School was entertained by the Home and School Association of which Mr. O. F. Herrick is president.

The occasion was the annual class party. The young people enjoyed the clever tricks and lucid explanations of a skilled slight-of-hand artist, followed by several stories most effectively told by Miss Mabel Bragg, Assistant Superintendent of the Newton Schools. The boys contributed to the entertainment by a series of stunts performed by Clarence Dunham, Robert Ferreira, Jack Grantham, Irving Olds, and Raymond Fox.

A far-sighted class prophesy was read by Lincoln Hoyle, while, with the refreshments, the Burr School Graduating Class of 1918, with their teachers and principal, voted the annual class party a great success.

A SPECIAL CALL

Some of the villages of the city of Newton have gone "over the top" in this Women's War Savings Stamp work, but Newton proper is handicapped in any campaign work, by being charged, in its required quota, with hundreds of inhabitants who are employed in mills and factories outside Newton, and where they are signed up, so that Newton does not receive its fair credit of their loyalty and patriotism. Just before the women's campaign was launched, yellow pledge cards were sent broadcast from Boston, and any signers on those cards are credited to Boston. Therefore, Newton people are urged to sign on the women's white cards.

The headquarters is in Nonantum square, or cards may be obtained from the following workers:—Mrs. Nathan Heard, Mrs. E. O. Schermerhorn, Mrs. Wallace Wales, Mrs. George Angier, Mrs. H. W. Fitts, Mrs. W. Sampson, Mrs. Byfield, Mrs. Hodgson, Mrs. J. D. Murphy, Mrs. J. D. Levoine, Mrs. J. W. Woodbridge, Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. Skye, Mrs. Gellman, Mrs. J. W. Baker, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Sochy, or the Misses Stone, Jameson, Patton, Whitman, Potter, Ferguson, Bartlett, Mahan, Murphy, Donning, Murnaghan, Antonelli, Sweeney, Buckley, Childs, Marsh, Wood, Mangle, Mrs. Amendola, and others who need your card to put Newton up and over the top. Don't leave this to the other fellow to do! Do your best. Remember you need only sign for one war savings stamp during the next six months! Uncle Sam wants your name as a co-operator with him! Not necessarily a large amount invested. However, the following Newton citizens have joined the Newton Limit Club (the Newton Corner branch): Edw. Converse, Eben Ellison, Fredk. Fawcett, Benj. Hinckley, James E. Clark, F. M. Sheldon, Samuel Hyalop, Charles E. Riley, William E. Jones, William T. Rich, Mrs. Frank Day, Miss Anna Whiting, Joseph E. Jamieson, N. P. Cutler, E. N. Fitts, H. G. Pratt, Sydney Harwood, Samuel L. Powers, Frank Hopewell, Miss Braman, Mrs. M. L. Madden, Mrs. Frank Hopewell, G. Fred Harwood, Nathan Heard, and Loren D. Towle, associate member. The regular membership means that these people will "go the limit" and buy $1000 worth during 1918, costing $834 this month. Need six more members to complete our quota for "Limit Club." Who will be the next? Need 2000 cards signed for Newton Corner. Have only 55 per cent. Who will help complete the quota?

Fiske's Admiration for Darwin.
The biography of John Fiske contains this comment in one of his letters from England: "Darwin is the dearest, sweetest, loveliest old grandpa that ever was. And, on the whole, he impresses me with his strength more than any man I have yet seen. There is a charming kind of quiet strength about him and about everything he does. He is not burning and eager like Huxley. He has a mild blue eye and is the gentlest of gentle old fellows. . . . None of these men seem to know how great they are. But Darwin is one of the most truly modest men I ever saw."

Aborigines of Australia.
For the protection of the aboriginal Australian race there are institutions under the supervision of aboriginal boards, where the blacks are housed and encouraged to work, the children receiving elementary education. The work is usually carried on at mission stations, but many of the natives are nomadic in habit of life, and receive food and clothing when they call, while others but rarely come under the notice of the boards.

CULTURE HERE BEFORE 1492

Did America's Pre-Columbian Civilization Come From Egypt? Is Now Question.

Prof. Elliot Smith developed in an extraordinarily interesting manner the thesis that the pre-Columbian civilizations of America—or at least many important features in those civilizations—were not truly aboriginal, but came in a cultural wave from Asia across the Pacific ocean, the original starting point of the most remarkable characteristic being Egypt.

Professor Smith believes, says Science Progress, that the extremely peculiar culture of Egypt was spread eastward by mariners, mainly Phoenicians, for several centuries after B. C. 800. To quote the author's own words, he thinks that "the essential elements of the ancient civilizations of India (the pre-Aryan civilizations), further (the Malay archipelago, Oceania and America were brought in succession to each of these places by mariners, whose oriental migrations began as trading intercourse between the eastern Mediterranean and India some time after 800 B. C., and that the highly complex and artificial culture which they spread abroad was derived largely from Egypt (not earlier than the twenty-first dynasty), but also included many important accretions from other sources, and that after traversing Asia and Oceania and becoming modified on the way, the stream finally "continued for many centuries to play upon the Pacific littoral of America, where it was responsible for planting the germs of the remarkable pre-Columbian civilization."

WAYS OF KEEPING YOUTHFUL

Man Who Is Determined Not to Grow Old Really Has Only to "Make an Effort."

I see it in my changing hair, I see it in my growing hair, My growing hair for early news, It is a fact, I am growing old. And so growing old is just a case of finding what one's looking for, observes the Minneapolis Journal. A man decides that the time has come for him to be old, and so instead of bracing up, ignoring the symptoms and finding some other explanation for the change in the color of his hair, he neglects his dress, walks with a stoop, uses a cane, stops taking exercise, eats too much, indulges in reminiscences, retires from business, and in general acquires the foolish habit of growing old.

He should remember that it is possible to keep a youthful spirit, an active mind, an interest in current events and a purpose to serve his fellows, and that he who does these things will always be young.

The fact that women generally decline to contract the old-age habit and that some men have also resisted the temptation to fall into it would seem to indicate that if those who do yield to it would only take the advice of Dombey to his wife, and "make an effort," they would learn how foolish and how unnecessary it is to grow old.

Henry Clay's Diplomacy.

The following is an instance of Henry Clay's readiness in getting out of a difficult situation. On one occasion a vote he had given in congress offended one of his constituents who unbraided him for it and declared he would never again support him for congress.

Meeting this constituent on the court green Mr. Clay said to him: "I am sorry you will not again support me for congress because of a vote I gave on a certain measure. When your rifle misses fire do you throw it away?" "No," replied the constituent, "I do not throw it away." "What do you do with it?" asked Mr. Clay. "Why, I pick my flint and try it again," replied the constituent. "Well," said Mr. Clay, "are you going to throw me away because I have missed fire once? Won't you let me pick my flint and try again? Won't you treat me as you do your rifle when it misses fire?"

This ready reply satisfied the constituent and completely won him over, and he was ever after one of Clay's most faithful supporters in his candidacy for congress.

Man Has Copied Nature's Work.

Marble, in nature, owes its crystalline structure to volcanic heat. But ingenious man uses heat to counterfeited the volcanic rocks. By such means, with suitable materials, he makes bricks and crockery, which are artificial stones. The processes employed in the manufacture of chinaware are merely workshop imitations of those used in the laboratory of nature.

Volcanic rock—granite, trap or what not—is the very symbol of imperishability; but the artificial stones (such as brick and chinaware) produced by the fusion of particles under the action of heat are among the most enduring of known substances.

For Those Fond of Parrots.

The voyage by steamship is very hard on parrots, which are stored in the hold, commonly in close proximity to the engine room. Consequently they are apt to reach their final destination in a sickly condition. One should be careful to make sure in buying an African parrot that it is a healthy bird. There are hundreds of species of parrots and the most beautiful of them all are the cockatoos, native exclusively to Australia. The plants of the tribe are the American macaws. Neither the macaw nor the cockatoo is ordinarily much of a talker, but occasionally specimens are very clever at conversation.

ANNIE LAURIE REAL PERSON

American Girl of Same "Ilik" Gives Facts of Origin of the Popular Scotch Song.

More than once has the question as to whether Annie Laurie, the subject of the ever-popular and ever-living song bearing her name as title, was a real person or mere fiction.

A letter has come to hand that was written by Miss M. E. Riddle, daughter of the late Judge Riddle, for many years a circuit court justice in this section, says a writer in the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times. The Riddles were of Laurie ilk, as Scotch folk say, and they had gone to some considerable pains to get the story of the song straight, as there had been considerable contention about it. Here it is:

"Jean Riddell (the name later spelled Riddle) was married to Sir Robert Laurie, the first baronet of Maxwellton. One of their daughters was Annie Laurie, celebrated in Scotch song.

"Annie Laurie was famed for her beauty and cleverness, and was a social favorite in all the country round about, so it was not at all surprising that she captivated a Mr. Douglas of England, a man of culture and of letters, who composed the song bearing her name.

"But seeing that the course of true love does not run smoothly, she married a Mr. Gurgesson, leaving Mr. Douglas to his hunting and his verses. "To this day many pilgrims go to Maxwellton, drawn thither by the much-loved song, 'Annie Laurie.' Many also visit Craigdoonoch, where she spent her married life in comfort."

WARY OLD BIRD IS TRUTH

Fact Worth Remembering When One Is Tempted to Criticize Errors Seen in Newspapers.

"Where do you get the absurd facts you print?" is a favorite query put to newspaper men. In the view of these cynics, newspapers spend most of their time misspelling names, imagining incidents that never happened, and generally manhandling life as it is led.

There is just one answer to be made to the query above, and that is: "Newspapers get such of their facts as are absurd from the absurd human beings who for one reason or a thousand refuse to relate facts accurately." Newspapers, truth-telling newspapers, spend a very large part of their time correcting these misstatements, running them to their source, and getting at the truth. A certain proportion of error gets by—not as great a proportion as can be heard in any village neighborhood gossip, for it is the concern of newspapers—of honest ones, that is—to allow for errors and correct them, whereas it is the concern of those other purveyors of news, gossips, to create errors whenever they are more interesting than the truth.

The next time you find an error in your favorite newspaper, try an experiment. Try to capture one small fact yourself. In your own home town. You will quickly discover just how wary a bird the truth is and how very unpopular.—New York Tribune.

Japanese Arts and Letters.

The Yamato association has been formed by distinguished Japanese citizens for the purpose of making Japan's achievements in arts and letters better known to the western world. Its promoters believe that Japanese civilization is not correctly understood by the vast majority of Occidental people. Her naval, military and scientific advancement is recognized, but the West has yet to comprehend the significance of her achievements in the humanities. The Japan Magazine, commenting upon the new organization, says: "Many foreigners are disposed to look upon Japan as merely a military nation, whereas her most important side is the genius of her unique civilization and character. If people could get a glimpse of the soul of Japan, they would have quite a different opinion of her. This can best be had from Japanese art and literature, which in many ways are equal to those of the West. Even those Occidentals who try to appreciate Japanese art prefer the least representative art of the nation. And as for Japanese literature, it is practically unknown among western people."

The association will publish works on Japanese history, literature and art and make translations into European languages of the best works of Japanese writers, ancient and modern; in addition its endeavor will be to promote the improvement of the national music and drama.

Glass Industry in America.

Glass was first manufactured in America by the people of Jamestown, Va., during the year 1615. Commenting on this fact, John Smith lamented that "the labor of the colony has been misdirected in the manufacture of ashes, soap, glass and tar, in which they could by no means compete with Sweden or Russia." The inhabitants of Jamestown did not agree with this view, however, and soon afterward commenced the erection of a glass works, the completion of which was interrupted by the Indian massacre of 1622. The first glass factory in North America to attempt the industry on an ambitious scale was built in 1780, at Temple, N. H., by Robert Heves of Boston. The workmen, 32 in number, were German deserters from the British army. The carelessness of a workman caused the destruction of the plant by fire in 1781. In 1803 a glass factory was established in Boston, and since that time the industry has flourished.

first one way and then another was attempted. The report was finally received, the order substituted for the adverse report and passed by a vote of 13 to 8, the City Clerk causing a smile by stating that the vote was 13 in favor "8 absent."

A long recess was taken during the evening, during which committee meetings were held and a substantial lunch was served.

The board adjourned at 1.15 A. M. until Sept. 9th.

The special committee on bathing facilities at Crystal Lake and other parts of Newton submitted a voluminous report, which was ordered multi-graphed for use of the aldermen. The report, in brief, opposes the use of Crystal Lake for bathing purposes, although a minority report by Alderman Angier favors a small, attractive bath-house there for use of the neighborhood.

THE SUGAR SITUATION

viction, as punishable by fine or imprisonment. While in law the same rule might be applied to householders, the Food Administration proposes to rest upon the honor and co-operation of householders not to hold more than a thirty day supply upon the basis of three pounds per person in the household.

In addition to giving the quantities on hand, the statements which will be required from dealers and manufacturers in the above groups will give the following further information upon honor. In the case of Group A—that is, candy makers, soft drinks, et cetera, must show the amount of sugar used during the months of July, August and September, 1917, and certificates will, if the statements are correct, be based upon 50 per cent. of such average use. Ice cream makers will be entitled to 75 per cent. A certificate will be issued separately for each month's purchases.

Group B—that is, commercial canners, et cetera, will be given certificates for their necessary requirements.

Group C—that is, public eating-places, will be issued certificates upon the basis of three pounds for each ninety meals served. This includes all public-eating-places users of sugar. Group D—that is, bakers—will receive certificates for 70 per cent. of the average amount used during July, August and September, 1917, or alternately 75 per cent. of that used in the month of June, 1918.

Group E—that is, retail stores, will receive for July purchases certificates based upon the average of sugar sold during the combined three months, April, May and June, 1918. Retailers must not sell sugar to any of the other groups, that is, to no one except householders, without taking up the certificates of such persons. They must not sell more than two pounds at any one time to any town customer or more than 5 pounds at any one time to any country customer. The latter may, however, be varied by the local Administration to persons remote from town. The retailer will do his best not to sell more than three pounds per person per month to householders, whose co-operation with the retailer is earnestly sought.

Retailers may, as at present, sell 25 pounds of sugar to any one householder for home canning upon the householder's certifying that he has not bought elsewhere and agreeing to return any balance unused for this purpose. The householder can obtain more than 25 pounds upon approval of local Administration, if supplies are available.

It will be seen by this that there is no direct rationing of the householder. It would cost the government $5,000,000 to put the householder on a ration card, and will take the services of 100,000 people to carry it out. We cannot afford the labor or money, and if householders will co-operate it can be avoided.

No wholesaler or refiner can sell any sugar whatsoever unless he receives the certificate above mentioned. Any person in the above five groups who does not file his statement will receive no sugar during the war, and action will at once be taken against any sugar whatsoever unless he receives of thirty days' supply, and he will be charged with hoarding. We ask the co-operation of all trades in our purpose, that is simply to secure justice in distribution.

STEWART-GREENWOOD

The wedding of Miss Ethel Greenwood, the daughter of Mrs. A. L. Greenwood of Newton and Mr. William F. Stewart of Boston took place Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. Frederick C. Perry, an uncle of the bride, of Walnut street, Newtonville. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock under an arch of asparagus fern and white roses with altar rails of the same, the wedding party passing from the stairway to the altar in an aisle formed by ribbons held by Helen Stewart, Ruth Buffum, Louise Stewart, Barbara Buffum, and Elizabeth Boutelle. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Walter F. Greenwood and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. John F. Brant.

The bride was gowned in white chintilly lace over white satin and carried a shower bouquet of rose buds and sweet peas and was accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter F. Greenwood of Newton, as matron of honor, wearing peach colored satin with spray of roses to match. Marie Greenwood was the flower girl and Marjorie Greenwood acted as ring bearer.

Mr. George Cummings of Taunton was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Louis Emmes, Paul Goddard, and Dr. C. A. Boutelle of Newton Centre, James C. Buffum of Newton, and Dr. J. P. Cohen of Boston.

A reception followed the ceremony until ten o'clock. One of the beautiful features of the wedding was the mass of roses used in decorating the house from Mr. Perry's own rose gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside at 117 Townsend street, Roxbury.

What She Wanted.

Ashamed of It.

California's Weeping Trees.

California has but two species of native trees that are normally weeping habit. One is Quercus lobata the valley oak, having its most southerly range near Burbank. The other is Picea Breweriana, the weeping spruce, which is found in a few isolated mountainous sections in the northwest corner of the state.
